ETHIOPIANS STRIKE AT MAKALE

ITALIAN LINES DRIVEN BACK AIR RAIDERS LOSE TWO PLANES

ADDIS ABABA DENIES MURDER OF AIRMAN

Addis Ababa, Jan. 2.
The Italian outposts are reported to have been withdrawn from the south-east, south and south-west of Makale, in face of the threatening advance of Ras Moulou Gheba.

Ras Moulou Gheba has been steadily pressing towards Makale from the south-east, at the head of an army of picked men, including part of the Imperial Guard, the finest troops in Ethiopia.

It is understood Ras Moulou Gheba will be re-inforced by another 12,000 warriors, commanded by Firturari Germa, the cousin of the Emperor Haile Selassie and an able strategist, trained in a more modern school than the majority of the Ethiopian commanders.

Further mobilisation is occurring in Addis Ababa, and every able-bodied man not under arms is required to show cause for this neglect of duty.—Reuter.

CONTINUED BOMBINGS

Addis Ababa, Jan. 2.
The recent activity of the Italian air arm at the front is regarded as an indication that the invading forces are about to launch a new offensive on the southern Ethiopian lines.

Daghabur was again heavily bombed to-day by four machines, but it is stated that there were no casualties.—Reuter Bulletin Service.

TWO PLANES DOWNED

Dessale, Jan. 2.
Two Italian aeroplanes were shot down yesterday and to-day, according to official despatches.

In the first case Ethiopian marksmen, using only their rifles, brought down a machine near Makale. Both occupants of the aircraft were killed in the crash. The pilot was reported to have been killed by one of the plane's machine-guns.

The other Ethiopian success was achieved at the village of Keltia, where two planes, flying low, machine-gunned the population. Troops and house-holders returned the fire and one of the planes crashed. Its two occupants were killed.—Reuter.

"AN ODDIOUS LIE"

Addis Ababa, Jan. 2.
"An odious lie, designed to cover an act of veritable piracy," is the Ethiopian Government's description of the Italian allegation, made yesterday, that Ethiopian soldiers had decapitated two captured Italian airmen.

Meanwhile the International Red Cross has requested the Italian military authorities to order Italian planes not to attack two Ethiopian machines which are leaving for Ras Dadda's headquarters to-morrow to bring in two wounded Swedish doctors.—Reuter.

LOSS CONFIRMED

Dessale, Jan. 3.
It is now officially confirmed that an Italian war plane crashed near Wolkebi and that the four occupants were burned to death.
A second plane has been shot down near Makale, while it was machine-gunning the inhabitants of the village of Keltia.—United Press.

Roads' Toll Reduced

BELISHA BEACONS BRING RELIEF

London, Jan. 2.
Belisha Beacons brought one-way streets, the thirty-mile-an-hour speed limit in built-up areas, and other road traffic regulations, born fruit in a reduced casualty toll in 1935.

Altogether, 6,521 were killed and 219,000 injured last year, compared with 7,343 and 232,000 respectively in 1934.

The number of killed is the lowest since 1923, but the number of injured is 50,000 up. London figures show that 332 fewer were killed in 1935 than in 1934.—Reuter Special.

REPRISALS AGAINST ITALY?

SWEDISH CLAMOUR FOR ACTION

NEW RED CROSS UNITS URGED

Rome, Jan. 2.
Italian newspapers to-day expressed indignation at the bombing of the Swedish Red Cross unit in Ethiopia.

They say that this will provide an unprecedented opportunity to the enemies of Italy who will redouble their anti-Italian propaganda.

The papers claim that the Swedish officers wounded were not ambulance men or doctors, but belonged to the Swedish military mission which is actually actively engaged in aiding the Ethiopian fighting forces.—Reuter.

REPRISAL THREAT

Stockholm, Jan. 2.
The anger aroused by the bombing of the Swedish Red Cross Society being urged not to replace the unit destroyed, but also to despatch hundreds of doctors and nurses to Ethiopia as a reprisal.

Young Sweden in all parts of the country have offered their services and it is regarded as certain that the unit will be replaced at the earliest possible moment.

A Red Cross communique states that information shows that the result of the bombings were less serious than at first reported, although it does not lessen the responsibility of the perpetrators.—Reuter Bulletin Service.

ANOTHER THREAT

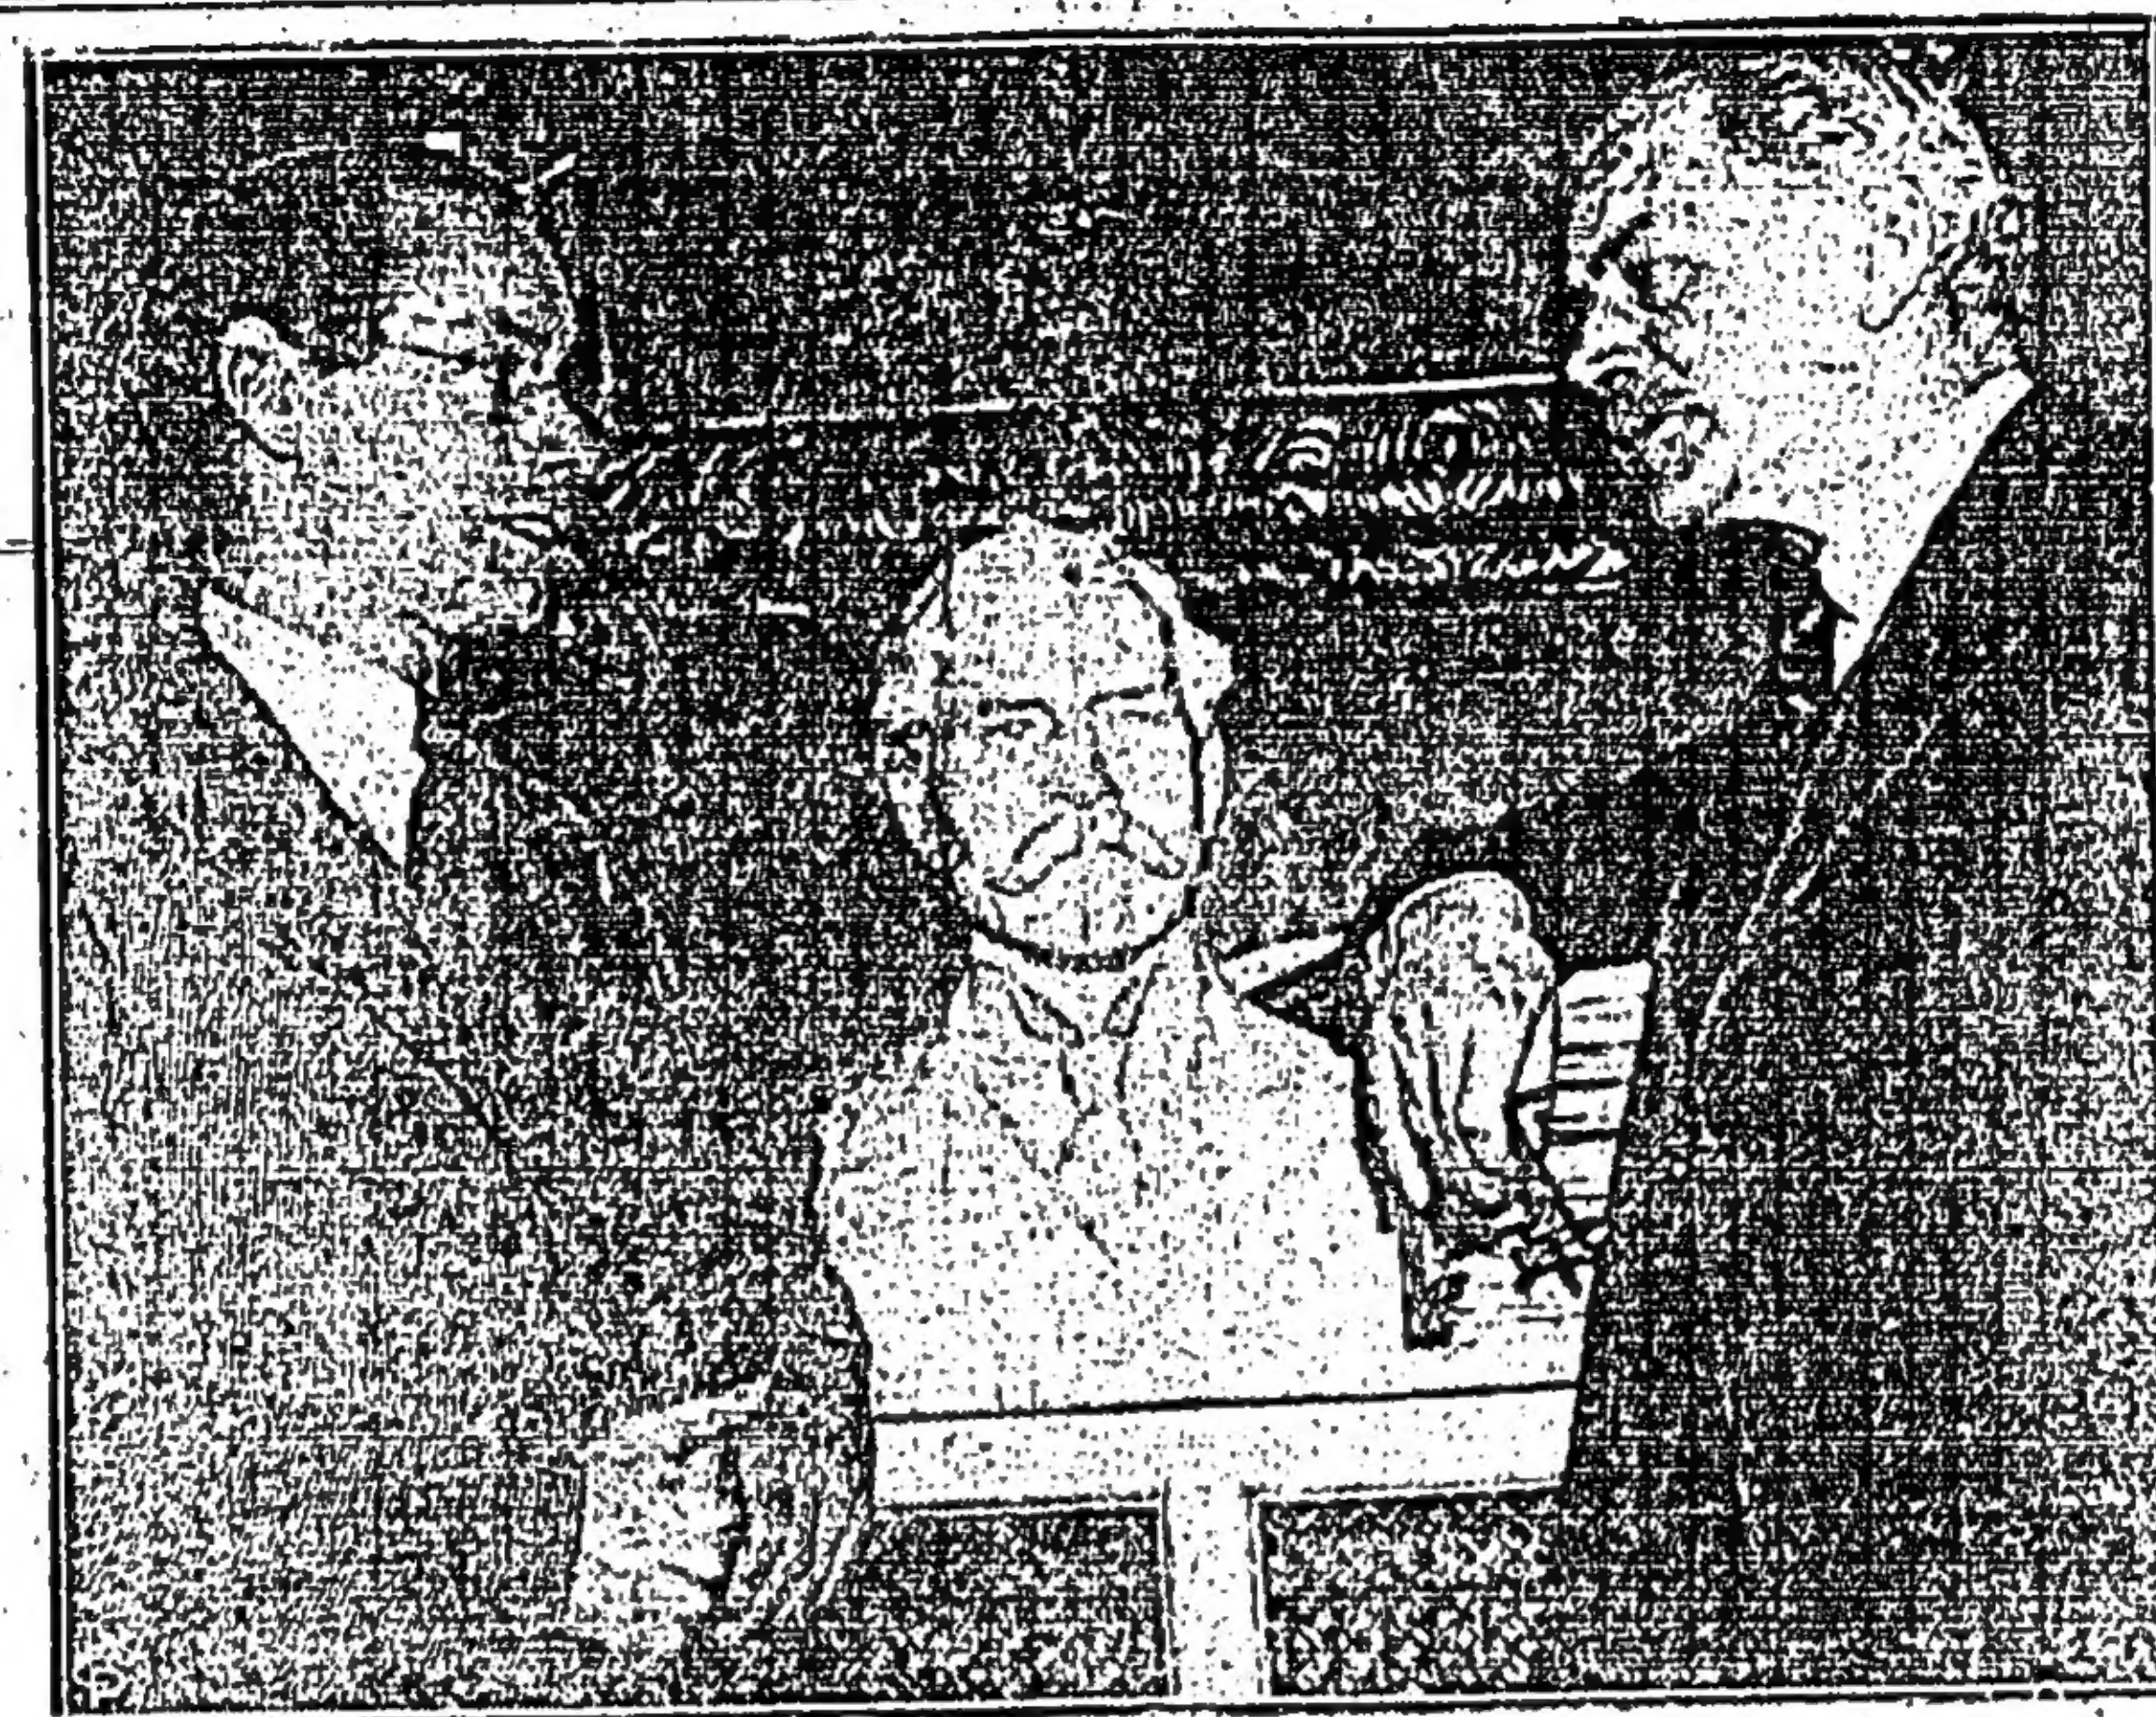

Geneva, Jan. 2.
The Ethiopian Government, in a note to the League of Nations, has threatened as a reprisal against the Italian bombing of the Swedish Red Cross unit, the seizure of private property of Italian nationals in Ethiopia. The seizure will be made if the alleged acts of violation of international law by Italy continue, it is stated.—Reuter Bulletin Service.

DENY GAS USED

Rome, Jan. 2.
The report that the Italian troops have used poison gas in East Africa have been denied by official sources here.—Reuter Bulletin Service.

OFFICIAL LOSSES

Addis Ababa, Jan. 2.
It is officially announced that the bombing by Italian war planes of the Swedish Red Cross mission in Ethiopia resulted in the death of thirty Ethiopian patients, orderlies and male nurses and the wounding of fifty; wounding of the unit's commander,

Mr. Ramsay MacDonald and his son, Malcolm, are shown talking over their defeat in the General Election at their home in Hampstead. The former is now standing for the Scottish Universities, and his son for Ross and Cromarty, where the Conservative Association has refused to support his candidature.

SERIOUS FRENCH FLOODS

FIVE KILLED IN LANDSLIDE

VILLAGES ISOLATED

(By Telegraph Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1891. Received, January 2, 8 a.m.)

Paris, Jan. 2.
Five persons have been killed, buried alive, in a big landslide near Paris.

The fall of land was caused by the heavy rains of the past few days, which have caused serious floods in many parts of France, as well as in England.

Several villages are reported to have been isolated by the floods, following the rise of rivers. Many roads are impassable.

Grave anxiety is felt at the steady rise of the Seine, which has overflowed the road at Melun.

While the rise of the river has been exceptional at Paris, experts believe that the situation is under control.—Reuter Special.

DARK OUTLOOK

London, Jan. 2.
The forecast of continued heavy rain for the next 48 hours, gives cause for fears that the present extensive flooding in many districts of the Southern half of England may become even more serious. An increasing number of roads are impassable and hundreds of square miles of land are inundated.

Total rainfall for the last 10 days is 2.63 inches, while the standard average for the whole month of January is only 2.21.

The increase of rate of flow of the Thames yesterday was 1,300 million gallons, bringing the rate for 24 hours to 8,800 million gallons. From Maidenhead down to Teddington there was a general rise of about six inches in the river level and the flooding of river-side towns has forced many residents to abandon their homes, while others have to approach and leave by boat.

The bridge over the Great Western main line in Wiltshire, which was declared dangerous yesterday, is still steadily subsiding and its collapse is now imminent. Both road and rail traffic are affected.—British Wireless.

Dr. Fried Hyman and another unnamed Swedish national, the aviators repeatedly returned and machine-gunned the unit.—United Press.

PRECAUTIONS TAKEN

Stockholm, Jan. 2.
Twenty-five policemen are patrolling the Italian Legation.

A crowd angrily greeted the Italian Minister, Marchese Salame Dimarchi, with cries of "Down with Mussolini!"

Kling-Gustav has telegraphed Prince Charles regarding the bombing, saying: "I am deeply shocked."—United Press.

NO TRACE OF LOST STEAMER

PLANES FAIL TO FIND PARINGA

LOST WITH ALL HANDS

London, Jan. 2.

Lloyds' agents at Melbourne state that a search by air and sea has failed to find any trace of the s.s. Paringa, which disappeared in a storm whilst towing the tanker, Vincas, from Adelaide to Japan on December 28.

The Paringa apparently foundered with all hands.

H.K. GOVERNMENT MAKES DENIAL

Rumours in circulation yesterday to the effect that Sir Frederick Leith-Ross had cabled Mr. N. E. Young stating that China was unable to keep its dollar down to a low level unless Hongkong took steps to bring the Hongkong dollar nearer to the Shanghai rate, are emphatically denied by the Hongkong Government.

It is officially stated that there is no truth whatever in the reports.

but finally came to anchor. It is now reported that the Vincas is lying in an exposed position about a mile from the shore, and it is feared that she will be driven ashore and become a total wreck. The crew has been landed.—Reuter.

Aboard the Paringa at the time of her disappearance were three officers well-known in Hongkong. They were the master, Captain A. McInnes, Mr. S. C. Southern, Chief Officer, and Mr. J. M. G. Yule, Chief Engineer. They left Hongkong in November to join the ship at Adelaide. Captain McInnes was formerly in command of the tug Henry Keswick. Mr. Southern was for some years with the Indo-China Steam Navigation Co., Ltd., while Mr. Yule had been in Hongkong for some three years.

The Paringa also carried a crew of twenty-six Chinese.

U.K. SHIPPING

London, Jan. 2.
The net tonnage of vessels engaged in foreign trade which departed from United Kingdom ports with cargo during November, 1935, was 8.6 per cent more than in November, 1934.

The net tonnage of vessels arriving with cargo was 0.7 per cent less.—British Wireless.

SPANISH CRISIS AT-HAND

RIGHT FEARS COUP D'ETAT

Madrid, Jan. 2.

Owing to the serious political developments which have arisen during the past few days, an attempt is being made to force the President to re-open the Cortes, which has been suspended until January 31 and to impeach the Prime Minister, together with his ministers.

This agitation has grown up on the ground that the Prime Minister's action in not reopening the Cortes amounts to a coup d'etat. The Opposition fears a dictatorship.

If the move to reopen the Cortes proves successful, the President, Senor Nicolo y Torras, may also face a charge of violating the Constitution.

The extreme Right parties are attempting to obtain sufficient signatures of deputies to petition for convocation of the Cortes, but the manoeuvre seems unlikely to succeed at present since the Prime Minister is prepared, if the required amount of signatures are obtained, to issue immediately a decree dissolving the Cortes. Thus he would stave off the blow, at least temporarily.—Reuter.

Plane Crash Mystery

AIR LINER'S LOSS NOT EXPLAINED

Alexandria, Jan. 2.
The cause of the wreck of the City of Khartoum has not yet been established, and cannot be until the wreckage of the machine has been examined.

The journey from Omdurman to Alexandria, on which the big flying boat was bound at the time of her loss, is of 360 miles and in the ordinary way occupies four hours.

The machine was one hour and forty minutes late when the Alexandria flying field received her wireless report just before the accident.

It is now two years since the Imperial Airways suffered such a serious accident. The last bad crash was in Belgium, when ten people lost their lives. On that occasion the plane was flying through a severe storm.—Reuter Bulletin Service.

BILLION DOLLAR BONUS PLAN

VETERANS UNITED IN DEMANDS

POLITICAL FIREWORKS IN WASHINGTON

Washington, Jan. 2.
The year's first display of political fireworks greeted Congressmen pouring into Washington for the opening of Congress to-morrow, in which the Bonus Bill and neutrality legislation will shortly come into prominence.

Republican leaders are complaining that President Roosevelt's coup in making his annual message to Congress will serve as a fireside chat for the American people, through the broadcast arrangements. They are demanding that the broadcast companies allot them equal time, free of expense.

Senator Robinson predicts that the Bonus Bill will pass and that the President will sign it.

Three leading Veteran organisations are united in support of a measure providing for an immediate cash payment, but offer ex-Servicemen not wishing immediate payment the option of holding certificates drawing interest on their maturity value. The Veterans estimate that the immediate cost of the measure will be $1,000,000,000.—Reuter.

IN AGREEMENT

Washington, Jan. 2.
The commanders of American war veterans' organisations, Mr. Ray Murphy, of the American Legion, Mr. James Vanzant, of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, and Mr. M. A. Harlan, of the Disabled Veterans, have agreed to a five point bonus proposal which is said to involve the immediate expenditure of only $1,000,000,000.

The points of the plan are:

1. Immediate full cash payment of bonus;
2. A refund of interest paid on certificates and loans;
3. Cancellation of unpaid accrued interest on loans;
4. Veterans not wishing for an immediate payment of principal to be enabled to draw interest on the maturity of their certificates from a date to be specified;
5. The issuance of special Government obligations, up to $500,000,000, for loans on certificates.—United Press.

Eden Returns To Work

WILL RECEIVE MANY DIPLOMATS

London, Jan. 2.
The Foreign Secretary, Mr. Anthony Eden, who has been spending a few days in the North of England, returned to the Foreign Office to-day. During the course of next week he will receive the customary formal visits from Ambassadors and Ministers upon his appointment as Foreign Secretary.

On taking up the duties of his new office, with undivided responsibility for the work of his department, many of the major issues with which he has been associated for some time past as Minister for League Affairs.

Among the most important of these, which he has already had under consideration, and which will now be the subject of closer study, is the request of the Egyptian party leaders forming the "United Front" for a resumption of discussions with a view to placing Anglo-Egyptian relations on a more definite basis. This request was conveyed a few weeks ago by the British High Commissioner, Sir Miles Lampson, who, it is reported, has seen the Egyptian Prime Minister and other political leaders in the last few days, and it is understood, given them an assurance from Mr. Eden that the request is receiving immediate attention. It is assumed, therefore, that the resumption of the British Government to the approach of the Egyptian party leaders will be made as soon as the complicated nature of the questions involved and the pressure of affairs on the new Foreign Secretary, taking office in the midst of a difficult international crisis, allow.

According to present arrangements, the Foreign Secretary will attend the next meeting of the Council of the League of Nations at Geneva on January 20. The agenda includes the dispute between Italy and Ethiopia, questions concerning the free city of Danzig, and, among the usual crowd of technical questions, the report of non-Governmental experts on the treatment of refugees.—British Wireless.

GERMAN REPLY TO CHARGES

"PERSECUTION" OF GERMANY

Berlin, Jan. 2.

An official German reply to the memorandum by Mr. J. G. MacDonald, resigning his post as League High Commissioner for refugees from Germany because of intensified persecution of the Jews, has been issued by a German news agency.

The reply states that because Germany is at last endeavouring to straighten out abuse and domination by foreign elements, people in many parts of the world thought they were authorised to utter derogatory criticism of Germany and give Germany advice while the same world remained mute to all persecutions of Germans, beginning with the Versailles Treaty and extending to the recent expulsion and expropriation of the inhabitants of Eupen and Malmedy from their home country.

The opinion exists in Germany, says the reply, that the League of Nations has every reason to concern itself firstly with the treatment of minorities, concessions within the League States before it claims authority to concern itself with how Germany is carrying out the inner reconstruction of the nation following material and moral experiences of its collapse.—Reuter.

STABLE REGIME

Berlin, Jan. 2.
A message from Chancellor Adolf Hitler to the people of Germany was read over the radio to-day by Dr. Goebbels, Reich Minister of Propaganda.

The Chancellor stated that Germany appreciated the present stable regime in contrast to the disturbances and unrest elsewhere in the world.

Germany, he added, was the bulwark of European discipline, and culture against a menacing tide of Bolshevism.—Reuter.

DOLLAR AGAIN DECLINES

The Hongkong dollar again declined this morning, the Bank's official rate being 1s. 34d, which is a drop of a farthing on yesterday's rate.

The inter-bank rates were 1s. 34d, sellers and 1s. 37/10d, buyers. The market is very quiet, but stood up somewhat after being easy on opening.

A British Correspondent Returned To Tell The AMAZING TRUTH ABOUT THE WAR

TEST AIR SERVICE ACROSS ATLANTIC

Montreal, Dec. 20. Survey flights for a North Atlantic air mail service will be made next year. An experimental service will start soon afterwards, leading to the establishment of regular Transatlantic flights with a minimum of two flights each way weekly.

This was announced to-day, when delegates to a conference on Transatlantic Airways which ended here last night left for Washington to open discussions with United States officials to-morrow "with a view to securing the fullest measure of understanding and co-operation with the United States in the development of Transatlantic flying."

LONGER ROUTE
The Washington discussions recall a tentative agreement between Imperial Airways and Pan American Airways for a service between Great Britain, the Azores, Bermuda, and New York, with British aeroplanes flying as far as Bermuda and American machines completing the journey to New York.

This is a considerably longer route between Britain and Canada than the "Great Circle" route between North Sydney, Nova Scotia, and Ireland, favoured by the Canadians, part of which was flown by Sir Arthur Whitten Brown and the late Sir John Alcock when they crossed the Atlantic in 1919 and won the Daily Mail prize of £10,000.

Sir Donald Banks, Director-General of the G.P.O., to-day predicted a service eventually carrying letters between Britain and Canada for three cents. (1½d.) an ounce.

LIFE CONVICT IS A MUSICAL GENIUS

Sydney Dec. 31. A man who is serving a life sentence in prison at Sydney for murder of his wife has proved to be a musical genius.

After weeks of study in his cell, Alister Jenner Clarke has passed a first grade examination of the recent number of points for Australia. He gained 99 out of a possible 100.

"He is a born musician, a genius," said the Conservatorium examiner, Dr. Alex. Hymans. "His paper on counterpoint is brilliant."

The examiner explained that Clarke has been teaching himself the theory of music from books supplied by his friends.—Reuter.

MYSTERIOUS STALEMATE: WHY IT OCCURRED

How 60 Hungry Reporters "Captured" Makale: Muddle Of Wrong Maps

FOR THE FIRST TIME THE TRUTH—THE INCREDIBLE TRUTH ABOUT THE WAR BETWEEN ITALY AND ABYSSINIA HAS BEEN TOLD. THE MYSTERIOUS STALEMATE ON THE WAR FRONT, THE HOLD-UP OF GENERAL DE BONO AND HIS SUPERSESSION BY GENERAL BADOGLIO, HAVE GIVEN RISE TO WIDESPREAD SPECULATION AS TO THE REAL FACTS ABOUT THE CAMPAIGN.

The correspondents, however, have been unable to tell the story because of the strict Italian censorship.

To break through this barrier of silence Ladislav Farago, the famous London Sunday Chronicle war correspondent in Abyssinia, hurried home from the front to set out the true position. He described a remarkable state of affairs which include:

Inefficient Italian staff arrangements; Hopeless preparation for the offensive, in which staff maps were inaccurate and men were sent to positions which did not exist; Roads washed away, leaving Italian troops and transport marooned.

Mr. Farago also told the story of the Italian advance on Makale—a story which would be farcical were it not tinged with tragedy.

Actually sixty Press correspondents were ahead of the Italian advance and reached Makale before the Italian troops.

By Ladislav Farago

Let me lift the veil of mystery that has descended on the whole Italy-Abyssinian conflict.

The world has read of spectacular Italian victories, of road building feats by Italian engineers and labour corps, and of clever staff work by the Italian General Staff.

The true state of affairs is far otherwise and is a terrific anticlimax to the day-dreaming and bravado spirit with which the campaign opened.

One of the most revealing features has been the inaccuracy of some of the Italian maps.

Before the campaign began the Italians sent a number of agents under the guise of Greek merchants into Abyssinia in order to prepare reports and details of the country to be incorporated into the General Staff's maps.

Many of these men forwarded completely inaccurate details of the country they were supposed to have surveyed. The result was that when the campaign began it was discovered that in several instances the maps were not even in accordance with the actual landscape. Soldiers were ordered to march to places which did not exist.

In other instances the agents had marked the positions of various springs where good drinking water could be obtained. But when the thirsty Italian troops arrived at the promised sites they found that there were no springs at all.

Landmarks and other details on which the troops could have been relied on for mistakes were frequently found to be fictitious.

These inaccuracies were responsible in part for delaying the early stages of the Italian advance, for the areas had to be mapped out anew by air.

FARFARICAL "VICTORY"

Let me now deal with the reports of big Italian victories. Actually there have been no real battles fought in Northern Abyssinia, where the bulk of the Italian Army is situated.

When the Italians marched into Adowa photographs were published all over the world showing the tanks which were said to be in action in the taking of the town.

But actually the tanks did not arrive until seven days after the Italian occupation! They waited until the roads were built before they moved up.

Then when Makale was taken on November 8 Rome celebrated it as a "Great Day of Victory."

The truth is, the attack was a farce from start to finish. I was an eye-witness of this so-called great victory.

To all intents and purposes Makale was captured by 60 reporters who arrived there before the Italian troops.

This is what really happened. The reconnaissance planes having reported no enemy in sight, General Santini ordered the advance to Makale on November 5.

The troops moved up, but on the following day something happened which was unknown in the history of Abyssinia, for the rain suddenly began again. It rained all the day and also the next day.

Roads in front and behind the troops dissolved into a quagmire under the drizzling downpour. Men, animals and guns floundered in the morass.

The advance was checked. Then the weather cleared, and the Italians marched on, headed by Ras Gugsa, the deserter. But there was no re-

Swiss Girl Spy Leaves Her Prison

Paris, Dec. 29. ELABORATE precautions were taken to-night to smuggle through France Lydia Oswald, the pretty Swiss blonde, sentenced on September 10 to nine months' imprisonment for naval espionage and released from Brest Gaol to-day for expulsion to Switzerland.

No diplomatist on a wartime mission will have been so carefully hidden away as the fascinating Lydia from the time she left prison in the dark hours of the morning until she arrives at Geneva to-morrow.

She was not allowed to say good-bye to the man she loved, Lieut. Count Jean de Forceville, who, with another naval officer, was acquitted of being concerned in her espionage.

It was known at Brest that she was due to be released shortly, as the term spent by her in prison awaiting trial counted as part of her sentence, but she left prison with only 4s. 6d. in her handbag, the rest of her money having been taken from her.

Every police official in Paris, and at every other station on her route denied all knowledge of Lydia. But a correspondent ran her to ground late to-night just as she was being secretly led to a second-class compartment of the 11.20 express for Geneva, in which a seat had been reserved for her.

She had arrived in Paris like an ordinary passenger, accompanied by two discreet detectives of the French-Belgian service, both of whom spoke English admirably, but who professed that they knew nothing whatever about Lydia Oswald.

They carefully hid her away "somewhere in Paris," as only the secret police know how, and only half an hour before the Geneva Express left the Gare de Lyon did they turn up unobtrusively with their charge.

Her baggage had been sent to the station in advance—it consisted of three suit-cases and one black-velvet leather hat-box bearing labels of hotels in the United States and Canada, as well as Switzerland and Italy.

Lydia had not dined, and she took a snack at the station restaurant, complaining that she felt hungry and cold.

She was dressed in the same clothes as those she wore when she appeared before the naval court martial at Brest—a brown toque, and brown-checked cloak—and as soon as she and her escort perceived that they were recognised, they left the restaurant hurriedly and mingled with the crowd walking to the train.

Lydia looked pale and tired, and when she reached her compartment the blinds were closely drawn and she was locked in.

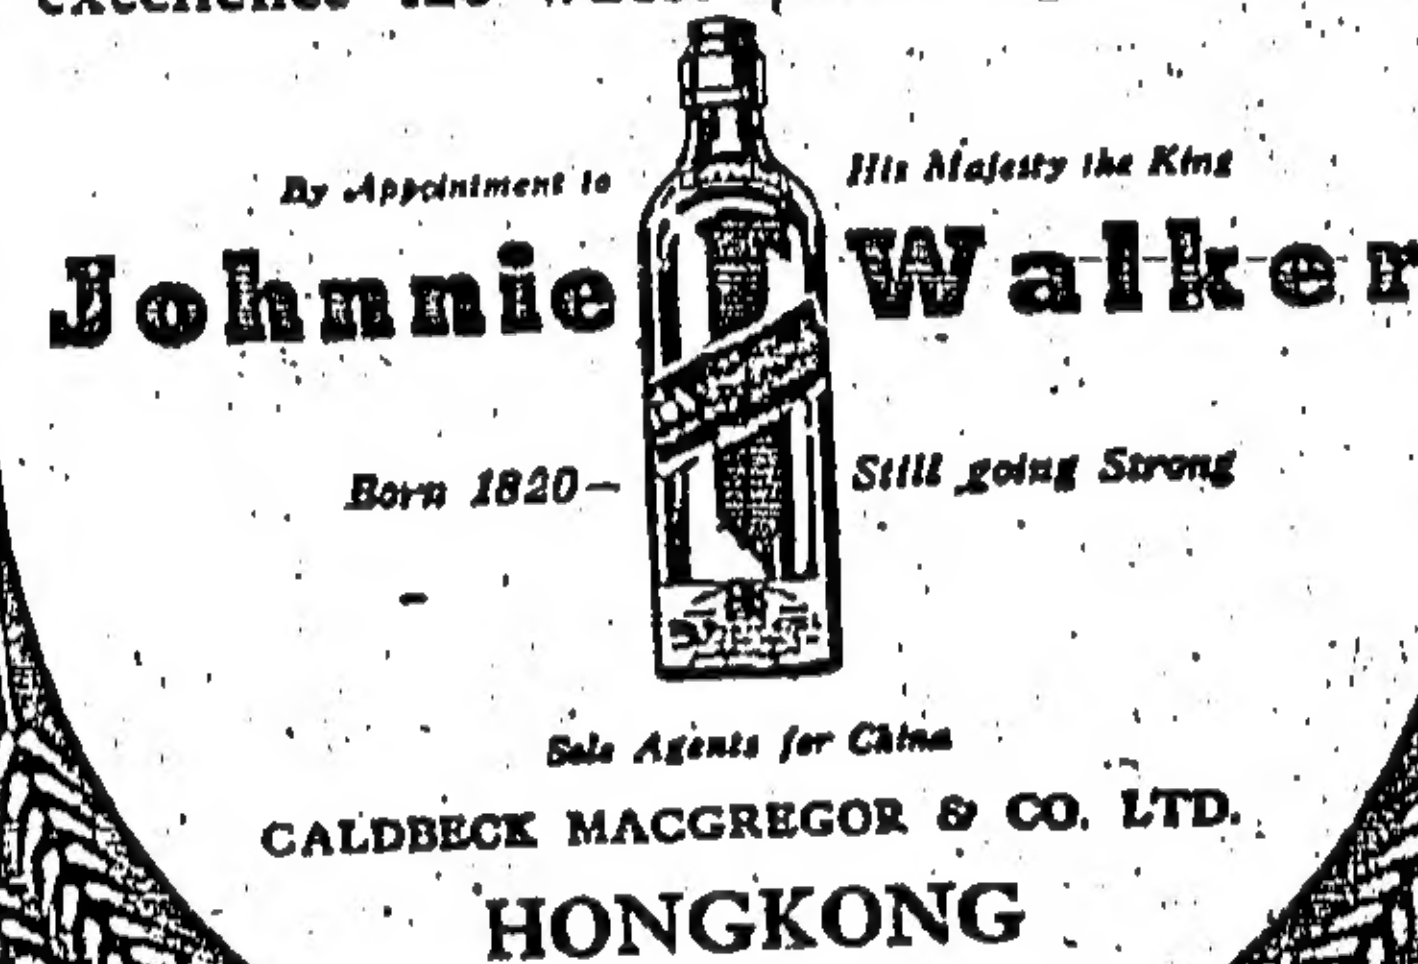

Two other detectives were waiting in an adjoining compartment to escort her as far as Geneva and no one was allowed to approach her.

The strictest orders had been given in this respect, for, although technically she was free from the moment she signed her release at the naval prison at Brest, she was still the object of an expulsion order until she passed the Swiss frontier.

About Your Dog

HERE IS SOMETHING YOU DIDN'T KNOW

Dogs have a colour complex. This is the view of a prominent member of the staff of the Royal Veterinary College, London.

"Where you get a case of a dog suddenly turning on its owner or suddenly attacking a child it has protected for a considerable time, there is more behind it than mere hysteria."

"In many cases it is due to some form of illness, some queer brain twist which turns a faithful servant into a ferocious assailant."

"Colour, form and environment certainly affect the behaviour of dogs."

"If one took the trouble to find out and trace the origin, it would be found in nearly every case that a puppy had willingly or unwittingly been ill-treated."

"Then some malady affects it, and all the training is forgotten in the natural instinct to protect itself when circumstances appear to it to be repeated."

"That is to say, a child playing with a puppy while dressed in red may have unwittingly injured it."

"A dog may have been accidentally trodden on while young by its owner. At the time the incident passes, because the dog is immediately petted and consoled. But the incident remains in the mind."

NERVY

"Circumstances arise in which the dog is nervy just as human beings become on edge. Then an attack is made, and the dog is denounced as a vicious animal, whereas it is merely reacting to its natural instincts."

Another point made by the expert is that domestication of dogs has failed to eradicate certain natural prejudices of many breeds.

For instance, black and tan dogs, particularly those with a sheep dog strain in them, definitely have an antipathy to small white dogs.

Their fur bristles, their teeth become bared at the sight of a white dog. The reason for this is traced back into the history of domestic dogs.

The white breeds, the terriers, the bulldogs and bull terriers, were always fighters, and the resentment of the coloured dog is traceable to an ancestral distrust of the white fighting dog.

But there are other types with peculiar characteristics familiar to dog breeders.

The greyhound, for instance, cannot resist the impulse to chase small dogs and cats. They have been known to worry goats, especially white goats.

Another myth exploded by this expert is that bloodhounds do not, as generally believed, enjoy a man hunt.

It is on record that when in the bad old days bloodhounds were imported to the West Indies, they proved a failure because they would not savage their victims when they had caught them.

A cross bloodhound and lurcher had to be employed for the purpose. And even these had to be goaded to carry out their inhuman task.

260 m. p. h. 'PLANE FIRES 4,800 SHOTS A MINUTE

Britain's newest fighting airplane is a single-seater capable of travelling at 260 miles an hour while the pilot fires a stream of 4,800 machine-gun bullets a minute.

Just above the engine is mounted a small gun, capable of firing 5-ounce shells at the rate of 300 a minute.

This airplane is one of a number designed by Britain in the race with France and America for the airplane market.

Official trials are now beginning. Two of the four machine-guns of the British single-seater are synchronised to fire through the propeller.

LEOPOLD OF BELGIUM

ATTEMPT TO ACT ROLE OF MEDIATOR

Paris, Jan. 1.
The United Press learns that King Leopold of Belgium will attempt the hazardous role of peacemaker in the Italo-Ethiopian dispute.
It is also learned that King Leopold visited King George prior to the Hoare-Laval conference in Paris at which the peace proposals were formulated, and carried a personal message from the House of Savoy to English Royalty, which is believed to have stated that the Italian throne is being endangered through possible Italian retaliation to sanctions.
It is believed in some quarters that King Leopold's message influenced Sir Samuel Hoare, then Foreign Secretary, and induced him to collaborate with M. Laval—United

UNRULY INDIAN

PRIVATE WATCHMAN STRIKES
INDIAN CONSTABLE

Narain Singh, a private watchman employed at a matchless in Wanchai Road, was bound over in a personal bond of $50 to be of good behaviour for one year, by Mr. W. Schofield, at the Central Magistracy yesterday morning, on a charge of assaulting an Indian constable, P. C. B083, Mohamed Singh.

Detective Sergeant D. Fitches said that defendant had been given a month's notice by his master on November 30 and was told his service would not be required after December 1. On Wednesday he was told to go away, but refused. He had been drinking. His master made a report at the station, and the complainant was sent to take the defendant to the station. Defendant refused to leave, and the constable tried to get him to leave by pulling him out of his chair. Defendant then struck the complainant with a stick.
The complainant returned to the station, and a sergeant and two constables were sent out and brought the defendant in.

shipped from Australian and Eastern Ports during the next seven days.
This will not reach the Mediterranean for from three to five weeks, indicating that the underwriters are prepared to accept a lowered risk for that period.

Special rates of 2s. 6d. per cent will be quoted for shipments from the United Kingdom to Mediterranean ports, north and to the eastward of Marseilles.

LOSS TO HONGKONG

PROFESSOR SHELLSHEAR TO LEAVE NEXT WEEK

Eulogistic references to the work of Professor J. L. Shellshear in connection with the University of Hongkong, and expressions of regret at his impending departure from the Colony were made yesterday morning, when the Medical Faculty gave a farewell party in his honour in the Union Assembly Room.

Professor Shellshear and Mrs. Shellshear will leave the Colony on January 10 and will settle down in Australia. Professor Shellshear will continue his research work in that country.

Professor W. I. Gerrard presided at the function, others present being Dr. M. O. Pflaster, Dr. G. A. C. Herklotz, Professor W. Nixon and a number of past and present students.

Addressing the gathering, Professor Gerrard said they were not to carry out what seemed to him to be a regular function at the University—to bid good-bye to a professor. It was a great pity that this should be so. In this case the person to whom they were bidding goodbye was Professor Shellshear, one of the best and one of the most popular professors the University had ever had. Unfortunately the meeting was held at an awkward hour—in the morning instead of in the afternoon—and did not give those who wished to sing the praises of Professor Shellshear a better opportunity of doing so.

"Professor Shellshear has been connected with this University for something like 13 years," continued Professor Gerrard. "I have personally known him for the last six years. Others who have been working with him will agree with me that it is very sad to think that the University is losing in him a wonderful colleague, a wonderful teacher and a well-known scientific worker."

Work Recognised

As an anatomist, Professor Shellshear was well-known and his work was recognised all over the world, especially in his own special subject—research of the brain. In Hongkong, in addition to his many duties, Professor Shellshear had done a great deal of work of scientific value.

It would be extremely difficult to set people of Professor Shellshear's calibre to come to the Colony and take over his duties.

The University could not carry on without money, nor could research work be done without it. Research at the University was definitely hampered for lack of funds.

Professor Gerrard hoped that Professor Shellshear would not retire "into the wilderness" but continue his research work in Australia.

"Lots of Professor Shellshear's old students will hear with regret that he is leaving us. We will all feel that we have lost a great teacher and one who has always been very helpful to all his students," concluded Professor Gerrard.

On behalf of the Medical Society, Professor Gerrard then presented Professor Shellshear with a Peking rug and wished him and Mrs. Shellshear a wonderful future and the best of luck.

Dr. Herklotz added his expression of sorrow to that of Professor Gerrard. The speaker had known Professor Shellshear for seven years and they had got on very well together inside and outside the University.

Early Man

Professor Shellshear had done a great deal, during his years in Hongkong, in archaeology and pre-history and the Colony was likely to become a very famous place indeed as the result of this work. People in England and Germany were extremely interested in Professor Shellshear's findings in connection with the culture of man and also of early man. It was a pity that Professor Shellshear's work was not as well-known in Hongkong as it should be. Many people in Berlin and London knew more of his work than most people in Hongkong.

Other speakers were Mr. C. T. Young and Dr. Lam Kow-chung, both of whom also spoke highly of Professor Shellshear's services to the University. The latter suggested that Professor Shellshear was leaving the Colony to seek greater fields to conquer, and said that their consolation in his departure was that they had had him for 13 years.

Dr. Lam recalled that, in his first year in the anatomy class, the Anatomy Department at the University consisted of only a bare room. Now, all through the influence of Professor Shellshear, every facility was provided for the students. For this and other things, he was sure that Professor Shellshear would always be remembered by past and present students of the Medical Faculty of the University of Hongkong.

Robert Taylor and June Knight in "Broadway Melody of 1936" showing on Saturday at the King's and Alhambra Theatres.

Prof. Shellshear's Reply

Professor Shellshear in reply thanked Professor Gerrard and the others for what he called their rather flattering statements concerning him and also thanked the Society on behalf of his wife and himself for their kind wishes and magnificent presents.

Professor Shellshear referred to his early work as a medical practitioner in Australia before the War and said that even then he had a dream that he would be able to devote himself to research work. It seemed possible that that dream might now come true.

He could assure Professor Gerrard that he was going to Australia to carry out work on the Australian aborigines and to finish off a large amount of work he still had in hand from Hongkong.

Professor Shellshear spoke in high terms of the University of Hongkong and its possibilities for development. He said he had often been asked the question as to what the University was wanted for in Hongkong. He always replied that he had not placed the University here, but other powers had arranged it. The question, he thought, was one which the students should seriously consider.

Professor Shellshear referred to the central position which Hongkong held in British learning. He could not imagine business-men in Hanoi asking members of the Ecole Française d'Extreme Orient what they wanted the institution for in Hanoi. They would say it was a matter for the University of Paris.

In Java the large universities were closely linked with those of Holland.

Parallel Course

The University of Hongkong must take a parallel position as far as the British Empire was concerned in the Far East. Whether for good or ill this child—the University—had been adopted, and an adopted child could not be thrown back into the gutter. Furthermore an adopted child became more expensive as it grew older. It was true of any University that the older it grew the more it cost. Members of the staff of the university were not responsible for its cost.

Professor Shellshear also referred to the extreme value of the long vacation to any scientific professor who was invited to come here from England or elsewhere, because it left him a period of time which could be used for investigations on so many problems existing in the Far East. The long vacation, considered one of the University's greatest assets, if reduced, would be a very serious matter.

He predicted for the University a very great future as an imperial institution. He felt that much closer relationship with other universities of the Empire was necessary, and hoped that when he was in Australia he might be able to do something to bring this about.

In conclusion, Professor Shellshear said that he would not soon forget the very pleasant times he had had with the students and members of the University generally during his stay in Hongkong (Applause).

FORGED BANKNOTES

ACCUSED MAN TELLS OF HOW HE GOT MONEY

The cross-examination of Pun Shu, the first defendant, master of the Kam Cheong "piece-goods" shop, by his counsel, Mr. Hin-shing Lo, occupied most of the afternoon when committal proceedings against him and two other men, Cheung Kin-pui, aged 35 and Sze To-wai, aged 26, who are charged with the possession of forged banknotes, were continued before Mr. G. A. A. Macfadyen at the Central Magistracy yesterday.

Pun Shu is represented by Mr. Hin-shing Lo, instructed by Mr. J. M. Hall, and Cheung Kin-pui is defended by Mr. J. M. D'Almada Remedios. Mr. F. G. Nigel appeared on behalf of Sze To-wai.

Mr. F. G. Nigel, Assistant Attorney-General, assisted by Detective Inspector K. W. Andrew, conducted the case for the Crown. Li Chong-sing, master of the Kwong Yick Import and export firm, No. 21, Hing Loong Street, was the last Crown witness. He stated he had known Sze To-wai for over seven years. On November 21, Sze To-wai was in his shop where he had been for several days. Witness understood his purpose of staying in the South Seas, and the last occasion Sze To-wai visited him, the latter went out with Sze To-wai. The first defendant was not known to witness; who first made the acquaintance of the third defendant in Hialeh Pagan, which was in Dutch territory.

After the man had concluded his evidence, Mr. Nigel submitted that there was no prima facie case against his client. There was no evidence that he had any knowledge about the three banknotes.

Mr. Remedios submitted on behalf of second defendant that there was not a title of evidence against him. His Worship replied that he would only fail to commit if he thought there was no prima facie case at all. He thought, however, that there was a prima facie case against all three defendants.

Cross-Examination
Mr. Lo then put his client in the witness box. In cross-examination, Pun Shu stated he was master of the Kam Cheong shop in Sul Lam, Chungshan district, Canton. He had this shop for three years. On the morning of November 23, he left the shop for Canton to purchase some goods. After buying them, witness gave them to a travelling trader to take to his shop, whilst he himself took the 3 p.m. train for Hongkong, arriving here at 7 p.m. Witness had on him $50 in Canton money and $20 in Hongkong banknotes, of which $2.10 was spent in Hongkong.

On his arrival, witness went to the On Lok Yuen Cafe where he slept that night. He knew the second defendant and had made his acquaintance in Miri five years ago. Second defendant was employed as a fold in a shop next to one owned by witness which was known as the Kam Wo Yuen. Witness still had a shop in Miri known as the Sun Kwong, managed by his younger brother.

About mid-February this year, witness came to Hongkong to purchase black woollen cloth, but was unsuccessful. He then gave $200 to second defendant with the request that the latter try to purchase the cloth at a later date and to forward it to Canton.

In March, witness came down here again to ask second defendant for the return of the money, but did not receive it as Cheung Kin-pui stated he needed the money as a loan for a business. The next occasion witness came to Hongkong was in July when he unsuccessfully sought to obtain payment of his money. On November 12, witness again came to the Colony.

Return of Money

At 4.30 p.m., on November 23, witness went to look for second defendant at the On Lok Yuen Cafe. He was not in and witness went out for a meal, but on his return found Cheung Kin-pui, who repaid the $200 when requested. The sum was in two $50 notes and ten $10 notes. When witness refused at 11.30 that night, he put the $200 inside an envelope and hid them in his sock, which he kept on while sleeping, fearing that someone might steal the money.

Next morning, witness went to a pawnshop to redeem a watch. He handed a $50 note to the accountant of the pawnshop. Witness did not examine the note before handing it over. The accountant looked at the note and then passed it to a clerk, saying he thought it was no good. Witness asked why and how it was not good, and handed over another $50 note. The first $50 note witness put back into his upper jacket pocket. A man then came from behind the counter, and revealed himself as a policeman, and asked that witness should submit to a search. The detective found the other $50 note and asked witness if he had any more. Witness understood the detective to mean if he had any more $50 notes and replied that he had none. On being further searched the other money ($100) was found in witness's sock. He was then taken to the Central Police Station.

After further questioning, the hearing was adjourned until 2.15 this afternoon.

COAL MINE DISPUTE
PROSPECTS OF SETTLEMENT
NO BRIGHTER

London, Jan. 1. The New Year has arrived with the prospect of a settlement of the coal miners' wage demand dispute no brighter.

The owners' efforts to obtain a voluntary increase in coal prices on forward contracts in order to improve the miners' pay have not met with the anticipated measure of success. The railway companies, which are among the biggest customers of the coal industry, revolted against an advance of a shilling a ton, which is only half of the miners' demand of two shillings, payable in all districts.

The railways have in view the demand of their own employees for the restoration of the balance, in their wages cut. It is problematical to what extent the big electricity and gas undertakings, which buy 28,000,000 tons annually, will respond to the owners' appeal.

I.C.I. Support
On the other hand the Imperial Chemical Industries are agreeable to pay an extra shilling per ton in respect of the requirements of all their controlled companies in the United Kingdom without advancing the prices of their own products. The I.C.I. Chemical Industries observe that the miners' demand has met with widespread public sympathy and recognise that under the present arrangement the coal industry advance is only secure by an increase in the price to customers.

There are also indications that an increase in the price of domestic coal will not be opposed. The total additional cost of meeting the owners' demand is estimated at £18,500,000 a year, which is equivalent to 22d. per ton, but the owners are not likely to offer more than a shilling a day in any case. Meanwhile, they are straining to give the miners an answer by January 8.

WORLD NAVIES GROWING

The extent to which naval armament is proceeding at the present time is indicated in the latest edition of "Jane's Fighting Ships," which shows that most foreign nations have laid down numbers of new ships during the current year and that others are projected. Details are disclosed of the immense United States programme now in hand, which comprises 12 cruisers of 10,000 tons, three big aircraft-carriers, 54 flotilla leaders and destroyers, 12 submarines and nine heavy sloops. All these ships are now building or authorised. The Japanese Navy is shown as being up to full Treaty strength. Its latest ships are six 8,500-ton cruisers, mounting the abnormal armament of 15 6.1 in and eight 5.1 in guns. Photographs of new Japanese cruisers and torpedo craft suggest a dangerous overloading with guns and topmasts, an impression strengthened by the capsizing of the torpedo-boat Tomozuru last year. In the French section are illustrated for the first time the new 7,600-ton cruisers and the huge flotilla leaders of the Fantasque class, one of which is credited with a speed of 45½ knots—over 52 m.p.h. The French submarine flotilla, by far the largest in the world, now includes 91 boats. Italy also is shown to be concentrating on submarines, of which she already has 83 built and building, including 12 begun this year. Further, she is building cruisers with a speed of 36½ knots and a number of super-destroyers. Italy's entire modern navy now burns oil exclusively, and several of the older ships are changing over from coal to oil. Many pages in the book are devoted to the new German Navy, and several new ships whose existence was not generally known are illustrated. Two years ago the total personnel was 16,000, but it has since risen to 32,956. Vessels under construction include two 26,000-ton battleships, armed with nine 11 in guns; two 10,000-ton cruisers with 8 in guns, 16 super-destroyers and many submarines, including eight of ocean-going size. So far as Britain is concerned, the most interesting disclosure relates to the new aircraft-carrier, Ark Royal, laid down in September this year. She proves to be a ship of 22,600 tons, and is thus the largest vessel in the world to be built

I HOPE this article will not bore my readers. Vital statistics have been a favourite hobby of mine all my life.

We all know that people live much longer than they did a hundred or even fifty years ago. In the year of my birth, 1860, the standardised death-rate in England and Wales was about 20.5 per thousand; in 1933 it was 9.8. This is not, as is often supposed, because people live to greater ages; it is because a far larger proportion live to be sixty. The greatest saving has been in the first year of life.

I have before me the figures of the 1930 census in the United States, which tell the same tale. In forty years the expectation of life has increased 40 per cent., although there has actually been a slight retrogression for males over fifty. Does this mean that many Americans wear themselves out by overwork?

By the Very Rev. W. R. INGE, D. D.

Heart disease now heads the list in both countries, with cancer, unhappily, second. Diabetes has doubled in America, and increased very much in England. Road accidents, which were not thought worth counting in America in 1906, are now tenth on the list.

I have three points for the doctors, many of whom do not seem to study statistics as eagerly as I should have expected.

1.—Why will they not allow us to die of old age? Senility, which in 1900 was ninth on the American list, has now dropped out altogether, and of a bleeder. I said that the disease was rare among women. Sir William Osler, who was present, corrected me and said that women never had it. I did not dare to bandy words with the great man, but in the Registrar General's figures over three hundred female deaths are put down to this cause in the last ten years.

The French harbour the delusion that the English are subject to a malady called the spleen, which causes them to commit suicide. The approaches to the Thames, we are gravely assured, are carefully watched, but nothing can prevent the melancholy Londoners from throwing themselves off the bridges in large numbers.

In actual fact, our suicide rate is rather low, but it is increasing. The natives of "God's own country" are more addicted to "bumping off" themselves as well as each other; but they have a low birth-rate before the other countries began to limit their numbers.

The exhortations of Continental militarists to produce more cannon-fodder have not had any appreciable result. The denunciations of Roman Catholic priests have had a slight effect, but not nearly so much as might have been expected.

High birth-rates are almost everywhere accompanied by high death-rates, but this is not enough to equalise the rate of increase everywhere; the countries with high birth-rates gain slowly on the others.

National discouragement has been a pathetically potent cause of shortage of births. In Germany the rate in 1901-4 was 34.7; in 1931 it was 16.0. In Austria, a Catholic country, the fall has been even more startling.

There is not much reason to think that this decline has a natural limit, determined by the attainment of what is called an optimum number. Half-empty countries like Australia and New Zealand show a sharp decline. At the same time, I think we have about touched bottom with a birth-rate of 14.

An actual decline in numbers will probably be registered in about five years from now. I should not regret this if we were confined to our own island, for a population of 750 to a square mile is certainly congested. But I can see no reason why we should not colonise the vast empty spaces in our Dominions.

We had an unexampled piece of good luck in being allowed to annex North America and the whole of Australasia. There are no other empty countries on anything like the same scale.

We are throwing away this unique opportunity. We (as a race) did not lose North America in the reign of George III; we have more than half lost it now. The United States is no longer British, except in language, but a medley of every nation under heaven. As for Australia, its inhabitants are keeping it empty. For whom? It is a thousand pities that we are so short-sighted. It is certain that we shall never have another chance.

ENEMIES

access to firearms and we have not.

The decline in the birth-rate is even more interesting and important. I will not worry my readers with any more figures, except to state that whereas the birth-rate in England and Wales touched 36 in the late 'seventies, it is now between 14 and 15.

The decline began almost everywhere about 1880, and has gone on very steadily. The chief exceptions, countries in which the rate is stationary, are Japan, Egypt, and Palestine. Probably we should add Soviet Russia, but I have some reason to think that their figures are cooked. The fall has been especially great in England and Sweden, and only slight in France, which had

NOTES OF THE DAY

MINISTERIAL SALARIES

There is a movement among members of Parliament to induce the Government to set up an inquiry into the anomalies of Ministerial salaries, it is learned. Some members have undertaken to make the matter the subject of a debate. The movement gains point by the resignation from the Government of Sir George Bowyer, Comptroller of the King's Household, in order to devote more time to his private affairs. The salary of the Comptroller of the Household is £700. The Household appointments are usually held by the three senior Government whips, who on appointment have their salaries as Lords of the Treasury of £1,000 reduced to £700, while junior whips become Lords of the Treasury at £1,000. While the Socialist Government was in office, a partial adjustment was made by the appointment of one fewer of the Lords in Waiting, the having effected was used to augment the salaries of the three Household officers in the Commons.

THEIR HOUSES IN ORDER

Two political parties are preparing to set their houses in order in Britain. Negotiations are proceeding between Lord Stonehaven, the head of the Conservative Central Office, and Sir Kingsley Wood, head of the National Publicity Bureau, for a redistribution of functions or for amalgamation. The Samuelite Liberals have set up a commission to decide whether the present organisation of their party is the best in present circumstances. The Conservative Bureau may be absorbed in the Central Office, but it is unlikely that there will be a combined Central Office for Conservative, Simonite Liberal and National Labour supporters of the Government. The Samuelite Inquiry concerns not only the Parliamentary headquarters in Abingdon Street, but the National Liberal Federation, and the local organisations throughout the country. The Samuelites have had an inquest on their failure at the General Election. The result will be an attempt to revive the corpse instead of burying it. The commission of inquiry was at work before Christmas. It is expected to produce a plan to remodel the machine in London.

expressly for the carriage of aircraft, although larger ships have been adapted to that purpose. In anti-aircraft defence, the British Navy appears to be lagging behind all other first-class fleets, foreign men of war carrying from twice to three times as many anti-aircraft guns as our ships.

SIDE GLANCES By George Clark

"I'm just a wreck. This is the third party I've been to this week."

DOMESTIC RELATIONS

SPEAKING from our refuge in the bathroom, we want to issue a very solemn warning. For the nonce we are "Public Warner Number One. No connection with the people of the same name who make talkies, we having discovered them (the talkies) long before Al Jolson was married.

Our warning. Ah, Yes. Divorce, and domestic relations and all that sort of thing.

We don't like to think of all the unhappy homes that will be broken up this year as a result of the New Year resolutions that have been made, so we have decided to constitute ourselves into a Court of Domestic Relations, something like them that operates in the United States. Thereby you can settle all your little differences with the Mrs. instead of going to the Divorce Court, or leaving last year's boots and shoes at each other.

We, having had a ball and chain for some years, have had some experience in this sort of thing.

We remember the last time we were President of a Court of Domestic Relations. We would have still been President, only our wife caught us courting the maid servant.

Anyway, people in our home town were so happy that there used to be queues outside our office every morning.

One of our first successes was the case of Mr. and Mrs. Whaletooth. "Well," we said kindly, when they entered the room, "what the devil have you fools been up to now?"

"Well, it's this way," said the husband.

"It's a horrid lie!" said the wife.

"Now, wait a minute, wait a minute!" we said.

"You leave the poor girl alone," said our wife.

"Who are you calling a poor girl," said Mrs. Whaletooth, indignantly.

"But—"

"Shut up," said our wife.

"This is a fine way of conducting a court," said Mrs. Whaletooth.

C.O.D. COMPLIMENTS

(Dedicated to Doctors W. B. A. Moore and R. M. Gibson.)

May I congratulate you upon your O.D.E.

An honour that I feel has long been overdue

And while upon the subject, I write a pardon me—

rd feel honoured if you would accept my I.O.U.

"It takes me so long to get things quicker if we hadn't come here."

"You're at liberty to leave whenever you please," snapped the wife, coldly.

"Although I'm not a woman to talk, I could tell you a few things about yourself, which would make even a woman like you blush."

"Don't you talk to me like that."

We got down off the bench and went across to Whaletooth. "Come on," we said.

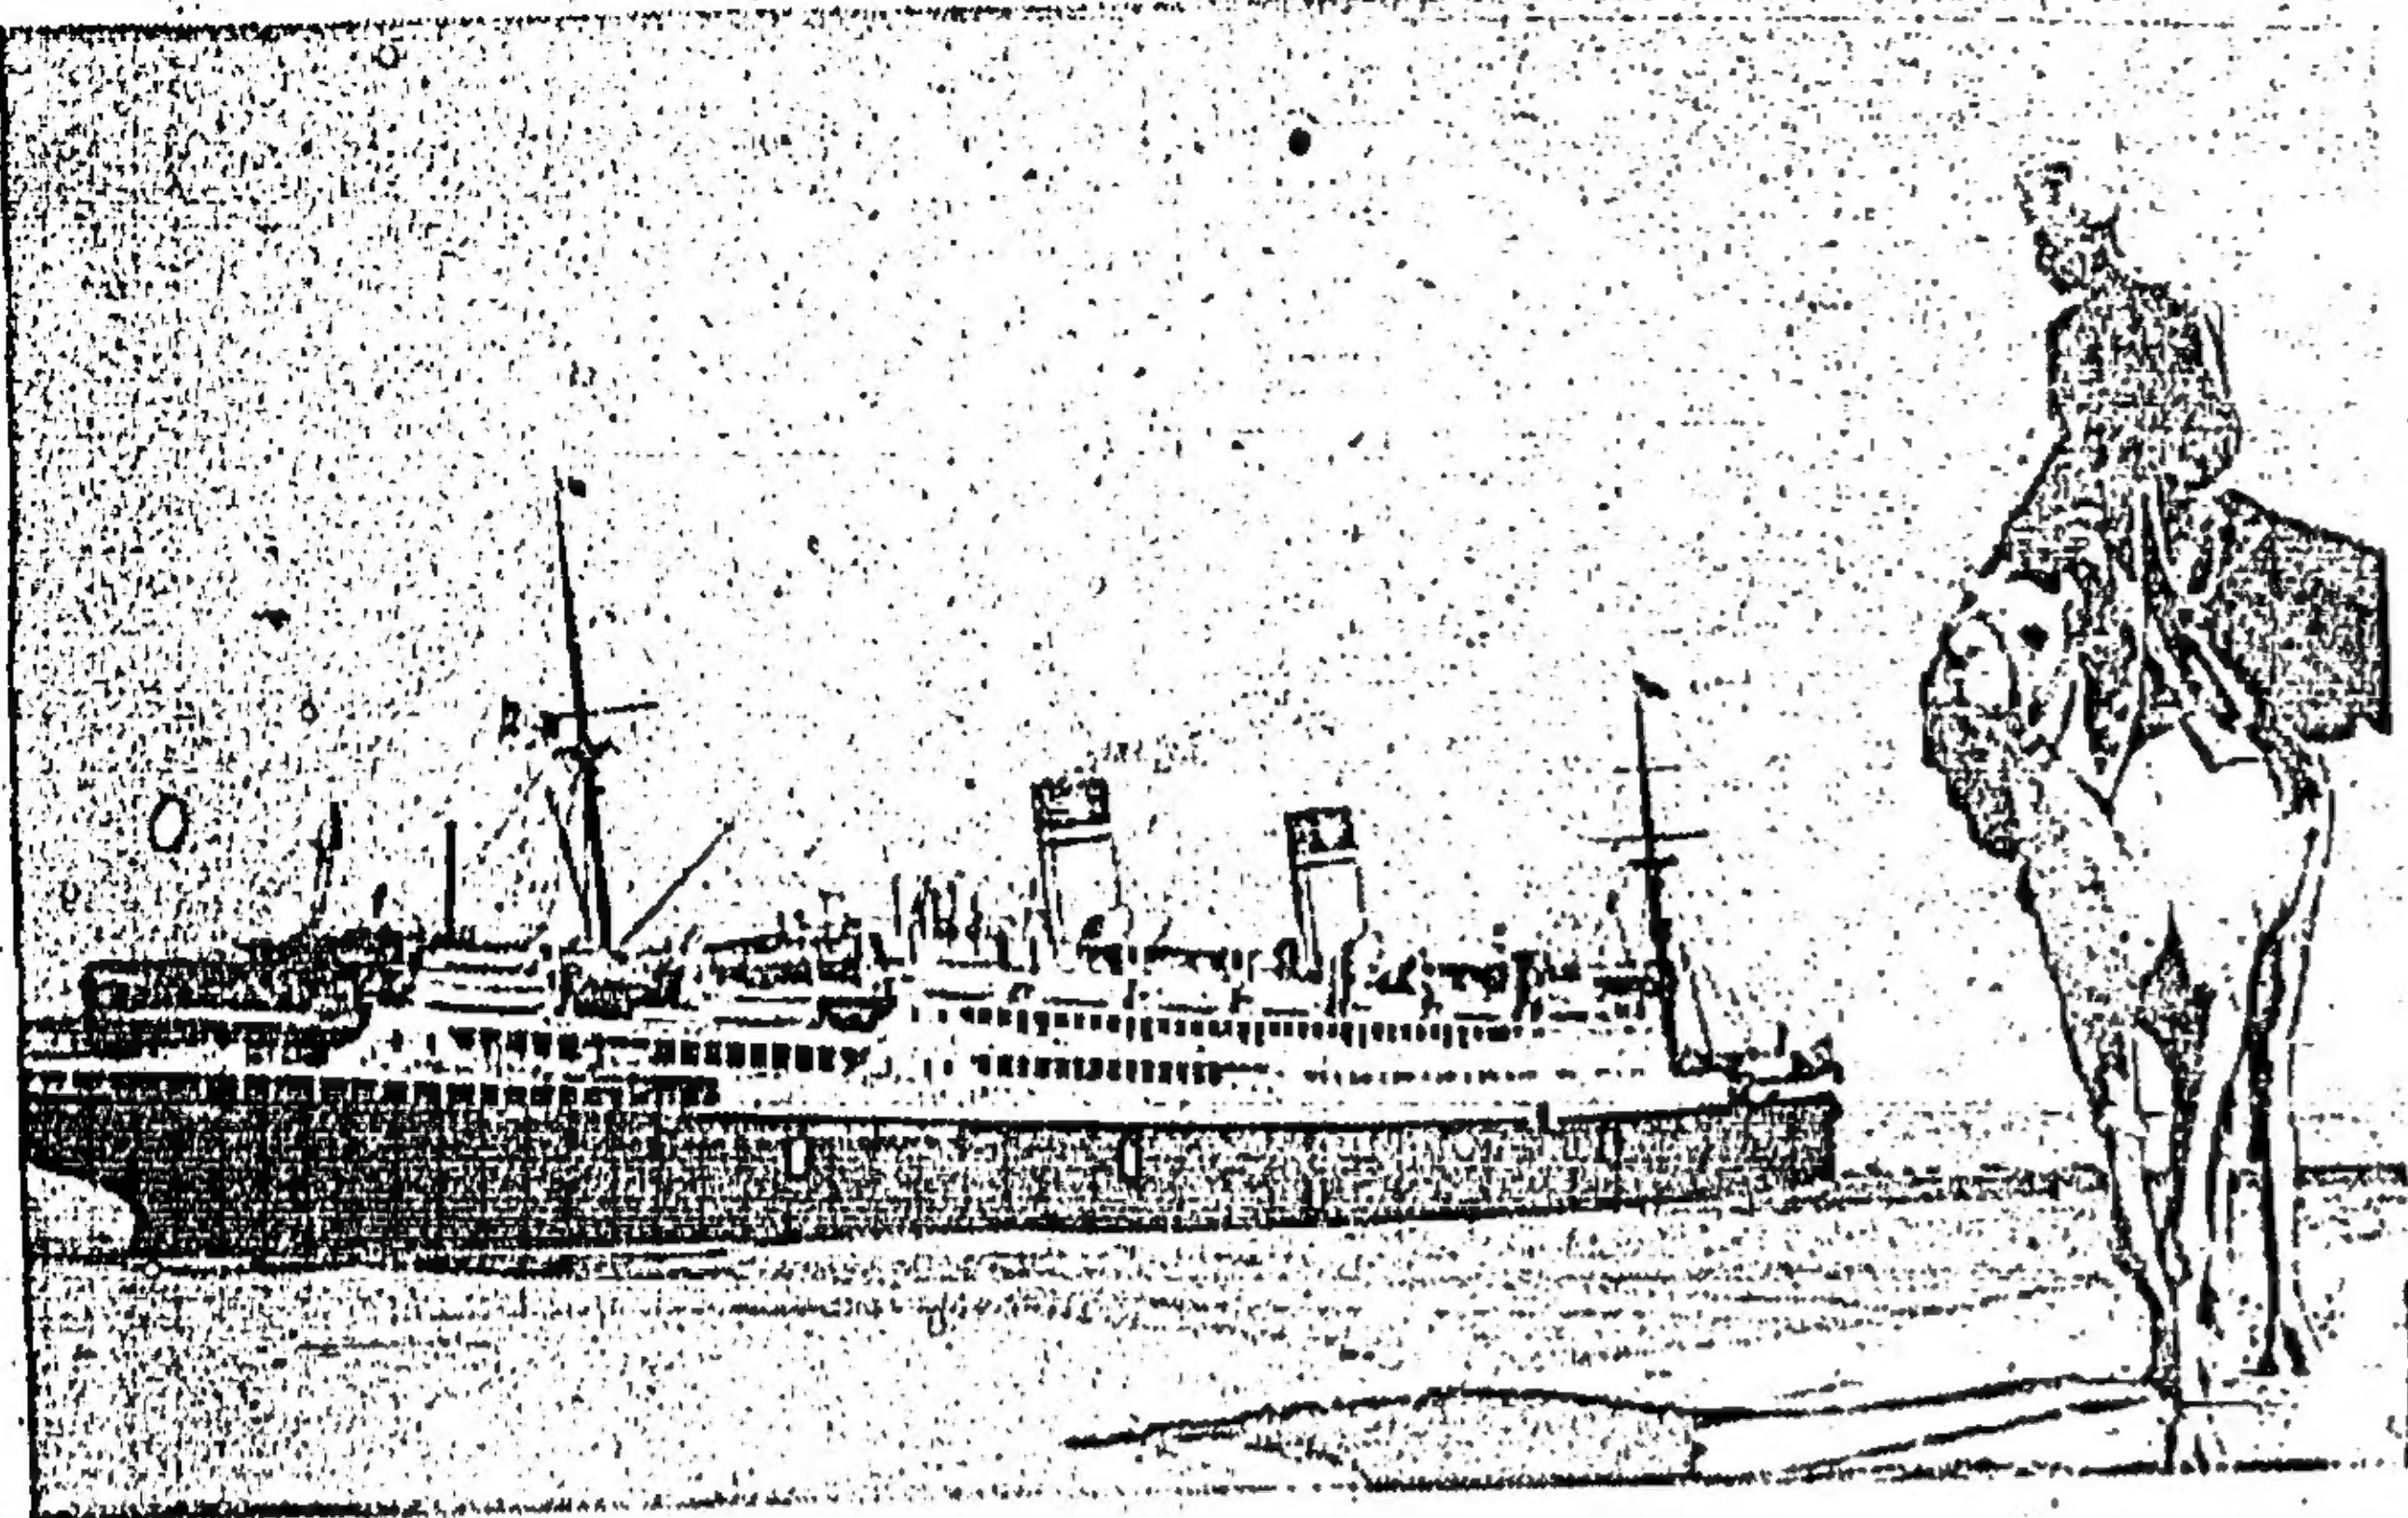

We got as far as the door when they both yelled at once, "Where are you going?"

"Out," we replied together.

And that was the end of the Court of Domestic Relations.

And the warning? Ah, yes! We'd forgotten it. Don't marry whatever you do, and then there'll be nothing to settle—relations, domestic, bills, or anything else.

The Court is adjourned sine die, whatever that means.

THE EXAMINATION QUESTION

NEED OF REFORM STRESSED

London, Jan. 2. Speaking at the 24th annual conference of Educational Associations, which has opened in London, Sir Michael Sadler, who is Chairman of the Committee of Educationalists which is conducting an enquiry into the examination system, said the evidence so far collected shook confidence in the reliability of the customary tests and indicated that chance played too large a part in the award of marks.

The examination system should be mended, not ended, since examinations at many stages were indispensable as a means of selection. The examining authorities must submit their own methods to exacting searching and impartial test.—British Wireless.

"SLIMMING" DRUGS

PRESCRIPTIONS TO BE REQUIRED

London, Jan. 2. Demands for additional precautions against the abuse of drugs, and stricter control of their distribution, which have been made during recent years in many quarters, are met in new regulations issued by the Home Office, amending the poisons list.

The order, which will come into operation on May 1, provides for com-

MUTINEERS KILL YOUNG OFFICER

Escape From Italian Vengeance

Rome, Jan. 2. Six natives, belonging to the Camel Corps stationed on the Tripoli-Tunisia border, attacked and killed an Italian officer, Lieutenant Biondi.

Although an earlier message said the Italian command had taken prompt measures against them, it was now disclosed that the mutineers escaped across the frontier to Tunisia.

Lieut. Biondi commanded a force of about 50 camelmen.—Reuter.

pulsoy production of a physician's prescription in the purchase of venereal and other drugs of the habit-forming group, as well as certain other drugs, some of which have been used for "slimming."

The sale of strychnine as a vermicide will also be prohibited. Strychnine and thyroid preparations must be sold with a cautionary label advising their use only under medical supervision.—British Wireless.

GIANT PROPELLOR

London, Jan. 2. The spare propeller of the Queen Mary has arrived at Southampton from London, weighs 35 tons and is 20 feet wide. It was transported on a six-wheel lorry which crawled along at about five miles an hour and was forced to avoid several bridges en route because of their inability to bear the weight of such a load, without risk.—Reuter Bulletin Service.

SURVIVORS RETURN

London, Jan. 2. A number of the survivors of the wreck of the Silver Hazel, which was lost off the Philippine Islands coast recently, arrived in England today aboard the liner Corfu.—Reuter Bulletin Service.

should like it, as he should find it easier to get up, while the difference in length between him and the better players would be less marked.

L. G. Crawley—There is no pleasure in hitting the ball. I do not consider it good on the green.

Harry Hartley—I like the ball.

If the big tournaments were played in the early spring and late autumn there would be no need to alter the present ball.

Business Storey, Sir H. Gillies, A. A. Duncan, and J. S. L. Lyon, the University captains, were all strongly in favour of the ball.

Mr. T. Simpson (the golf architect) is an opponent to the ball, as I consider that the modern course calls for a long ball. The Duke de Gramont, the distinguished French scientist, has studied the question, and as the outcome of exhaustive tests, has come to the conclusion that the most suitable ball for the pleasure of the greatest number would be one of 1.75in. and 1.62oz.

Mr. H. de Montmorency (President of the English Golf Union)—I do not consider that any change is necessary.

LAI WAH CUP PROSPECTS

The constitution of the attack causes no real surprise. Pile is a sound, straight-forward winner who can handle the ball accurately and regularly. Ward is too well known to need detailed comment, except to add that he is sure to prove an asset. Elliott is performing so very well at a centre-forward right now that he was an obvious choice and he has studied the selectors have been wise in keeping the Club left wing intact.

CHINESE UNCERTAIN

Unfortunately the Chinese team has not been finally picked. I do know, however, that the defence is almost certain to be that which did service in the Governor's Cup, i.e., Pau Ka-ping; Li Tin-sung and Tam Kong-puk, together with the same half backs, Leung Wing-chai, Wong Mei-shun, and Lee Kwok-wai.

But the composition of the forward line remains a bit of a problem to the selectors. They are not quite certain whether to risk Lee Wing-tong, with his damaged leg, I rather doubt whether they will, because I do not think Lee is keen on taking risks.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

MARKET IRREGULAR YESTERDAY

New York, Jan. 2.

Dow Jones' summary of yesterday's markets received by Messrs. Swan, Culbertson and Fritz: The markets to-day were irregularly higher. Steel, oil and railroad securities gained strength on investment buying, but utilities were held to small gains. Rubber shares reached new high levels on production record. Motor issues, however, reacted on traders taking their profits. Numerous traders adopted a cautious attitude, pending President Roosevelt's Message to Congress to-morrow night. The market for bonds was active and higher, notably rails. Stocks on the Curb Exchange were irregular and moderately active.

S. C. & F. New York office cables: The stock markets continue to rule firm, with specialties in particular demand.

The Glidden Company earned $3.23 per share for the year ended October 31st, against $1.68 per share during the previous year.

In cotton, there is now less apprehension regarding the effect of Supreme Court decisions in connection with the Bankhead Act and Process.

Amongst many interesting groups will be those taken at the S.P.C. Christmas party in Kowloon, the Christmas party at the St. Andrew's Church Hall to poor Chinese, the staff of St. Joseph's College, and pupils of the Tung Kwei-fong Institute of Physical Culture.

ing Taxes. Both the Trade and short interests were buyers to-day. It is estimated that domestic consumption during December amounted to 490,000 bales, the largest since 1923.

The wheat market advanced on an improved demand for cash wheat. Canadian exports are reported to total 5,000,000 bushels. Millers were buyers to-day and the world markets are strong.

Probably a further advance is necessary in order to induce country offerings of corn.

Dutch exports of rubber during November amounted to 16,455 tons and exports from Malaya totalled 26,531 tons. We expect continued consumption for replacement of factory stocks. Offerings were on the light side and the market is firm.

League football takes a comparative back seat in the Colony during this month. In addition to the Children's Playground match which started off the New Year, we have the Lai Wah Cup semi-finals this week, second round ties in the Senior and Junior Shields next week, and simultaneously Interport trials, while before the month is through our representative team will have been to Shanghai and back.

At the immediate moment however our thoughts are directed to the Lai Wah Cup. The semi-finals are scheduled for Sunday next and they offer two very attractive matches—Army v. Navy and Chinese v. Civilians.

Before getting down to prospects—a wretched job anyway—it may be

Probable Civilians Team

Rodger (Club)
Blackburn (Police) and
C. Pilo (Police)
North (Police)
Baltro (Recreation) and Bliss (Kowloon)
T. Pilo (Police)
Ward (St. Joseph's)
Elliott (Club)
E. Strange (Club) and Bickford (Club)

worth while recalling that the Navy have never won the Lai Wah Cup, that the Army have held it twice (1927 and 1929), the Chinese twice (1931 and 1932) and the Civilians on no less than seven occasions (1925, 1930, 1932, 1934 and 1935).

Which, strictly according to mathematics, makes the Civilians easy winners this year. Maybe. Then again, maybe not.

CAPABLE OF WINNING

Civilians are up against their arch foes, the Chinese, on Sunday and let it be said straight away that they are feeling a jolly fine team; a team fully capable of winning. On paper there isn't a real weakness fore or aft. Of course not everybody will agree that it is the best team. I am rather inclined that way myself.

For example, I am wondering whether Chris Pilo is playing as well as Syd. Strange these days. And again whether Parker isn't a wee bit better than Sonny Bliss. And, although this may appear a little contradictory to what I wrote about him a week or so ago, whether Bernio Gosans is not to be performed to "Tommy Pilo."

But that is a merely personal opinion against the considered judgment of a selection committee, and I dare swear the latter will be vindicated on Sunday.

Happily the selectors have covered themselves well by choosing

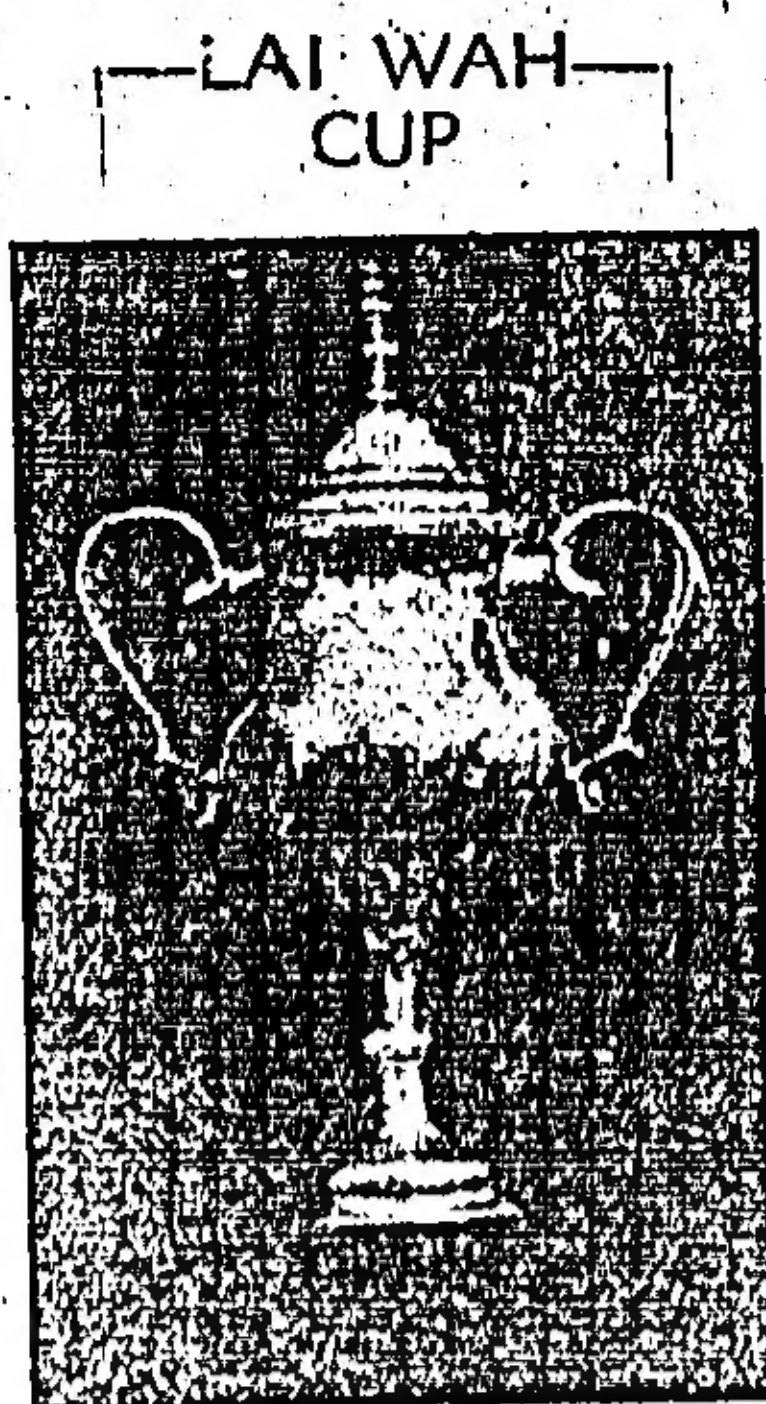

Probable Army Team

Rowlands (Fusiliers)
Swain (E. Lanes) and Steele (E. Lanes)
Wanklyn (Fusiliers)
Morton (R. A.) and Evans (Fusiliers)
Smith (E. Lanes)
Harrison (Fusiliers)
Cockley (Fusiliers)
Talbot (Fusiliers) and Roberts (Fusiliers)

those very players as reserves, so that if fate so rules they may yet be called upon to "do their stuff."

PRETTY TRUSTWORTHY

To repeat an earlier comment, the Civilians have a good team. Although Pilo has been playing a little tardily in the opening stages of recent league games, and frankly was poor in the New Year's Day match he makes a good companion to Blackburn at back, and with Rodger behind the two forwards, the defence appears to be pretty trustworthy. I am glad to see Baltro afforded recognition for he is playing high class football just now as centre-half and in my humble estimation is as good as the next man in the local

SCOTTISH FOOTBALL

London, Jan. 2. There were no big surprises in the results of to-day's Scottish League matches. Dunfermline did very well to visit Aberdeen and hold the league leaders to a draw, but Rangers,

British Racehorses For Russia

Senator J. J. Parkinson, the Irish breeder, has received a commission from the Soviet Government to buy British racehorses.

For a start, he made several purchases of bloodstock at the Newmarket sales this week.

"Russia wants young horses of good breeding, especially stallions," he said.

"There is a limit on prices, but none on the number to be bought." Racing flourished in the days of Imperial Russia, but recent efforts to revive the sport have made it clear that some of the best British stock must be imported.

BOXING

Ulster Rifles' Big Hope

WHEELAN FOR OLYMPICS?

(By "Veritas")

Jack Hare, who when not feeding hungry troops on the Neutral, Dorsetshire, Somersetshire or whatever troopship to which he is at the time attached, teaches The Boys how to use their fists, and has in his time been Bantamweight Champion of South Africa, has a hunch.

Jack, as I told you in the Telegraph on Monday last is in Hongkong now and he popped round to the office yesterday full of his idea. He wants to see L/Cpl. Wheelan (his picture on this page) sent to Berlin to take part in the Olympics as a featherweight boxer.

GOOD CREDENTIAL

At the moment Wheelan is featherweight champion of Egypt and Palestine, a title good enough to use as a credential to most boxing circles. Jack Hare thinks a lot of Wheelan, who is now stationed in Hongkong with the Royal Ulster Rifles. He is confident the Lance-Corporal would do himself, his regiment and his country proud if he went to Berlin, and Jack has gone so far as to offer this considered opinion to Higher Authorities.

It is no good pretending to guess whether anything will transpire, but it can be said that Jack's judgment in regard to boxing talent is sound enough to merit attention by anybody.

In his "Day," Jack got through 340 scraps himself in different parts of the world, and as he cheerfully proclaims, he is known from Archangel to the Great Wall—and that's quite a distance.

H.K.B.A.'S OPPORTUNITY

Anybody interested in boxing will remember names such as Johnny Summers, Young Nipper, of Bournemouth, Tony Fox of U.S.A. who nearly scrapped Georges Carpentier in 1910, only they started a bigger war instead; Patsy Cokely when he beat Dixie Kid at The Ring, Jack D'Arcy, Irish champion and Harry Reeve, Lord Lansdowne's right heavy-weight title holder. Well, Jack Hare had a hand in the training of all these fellows, which is sufficient testimonial without me going off the deep-end about the "Globe-Trotter's" achievements and ability.

Jack departs from Hongkong with the Neutralia to-morrow, leaving behind him two boxers whom he promises will become Colony title holders if given the opportunity.

Now what about it, Hongkong Boxing Association?

LEADING PLAYERS TEST NEW GOLF BALL

VARIED OPINIONS: SAID NOW TO FALL TOO SHORT

(By "Veritas")

London, Dec. 10. In fine weather with a light breeze, a new golf ball was given a test over the Old and New Courses, Addington, yesterday.

A representative side including Miss Joyce Wethered, Miss Molly Gourlay, Abe Mitchell, Fred Robson, Rex and Lester Hartley, and other distinguished amateurs met a team picked from the present Oxford and Cambridge side.

The measurement and weight of the ball were 1.64in. and 1.27oz. as opposed to 1.62in. and 1.62oz. It was fast off the club over the first 30 yards or so, and then came steeply down.

"Down the breeze" it was about 40 yards shorter off the tee than the present ball, while against the breeze the difference was considerably more marked.

The players for the most part were appreciative of its qualities for the short game, and Miss Wethered gave a brilliant display of approaching and putting.

The swingers were far more successful with the ball than the hitters to whose power it was unresponsive. As an experiment the trial was full of interest and most of the players have rarely, if ever, played so many wooden seconds in one round in their lives.

Some idea of the differences in the playing of the holes enforced by the ball can be gauged from the fact that the first hole on the Old Course (160 yards) called for a brash shot against what little breeze there was; the 6th (440 yards) and the 8th (440 yards) were beyond the compass of

A FEW MOMENTS WITH OUR CRICKET TEAMS

CLUB CANNOT AFFORD TO MAKE MISTAKE AT CRAIGENGOWER

NOTICEABLE REVIVAL OF CIVIL SERVICE FORTUNES

(By R. Abbt)

A week-end of excellent weather enabled cricketers to get on with things, and the Indians managed to win a league match pretty easily. The Civil Service did not do so badly to get 82 against three interport bowlers (two regular ones) and if they ever manage to get Griffiths and McLellan back into the fold, together with Wallington, who has been and still is, I fear, crooked, they may arrive at the beginning of better things—a consummation devoutly to be wished.

Hawkins, their skipper, managed to collect twenty-nine before he was bowled by Pereira, who is I think faster than suits his slight build. Colledge got 18 and Perry 12 but no one else did much. It was stated that the win was by five wickets but I think it must have been by six as the two not out had 27 between them and there was one extra making 28, and 28 from their total of 120 is 92, even if all those runs occurred after the fall of the fifth wicket! Therefore 82 must have been beaten for either three or four wickets! Q.E.D. Not, of course, that it matters very much. There seems to have been some jumble up over the other senior League game and I find it was not played.

JUNIOR LEAGUE

The result of these games went to a certain extent according to my predictions. The I.R.C. was alright but the C.S.C. did themselves proud with a score of 132, of which the veteran Ling contributed a useful number. (I believe F. J. is my old fellow bowler and not H. D. who I think is his son). Anyway the Ling side had 53 between them. Curran alone saved the Indians. It is quite cheering to see signs of recovery in the Civil Service cricket. Recreation too came off and they actually managed to win their match, thanks to W. A. Reed who seems to have come back to form, and got 64 as well as taking three wickets. The R.A.M.C. were one man short and had not Major Bonnaville, though normally he would have been playing for the Army anyway.

It was a pity that the game between the Police and C.C.C. could not be finished. It was anyone's game as the Police only wanted 21 runs for victory and had their last three wickets to go.

I may say I regard this duck story with grave suspicion. It seems to breathe suspicion on the fair fame of our doughty custodians of the peace, seeing ducks on a cricket field! However, perhaps it was some form of dog. Duck or no duck I expect someone knocked the stuffing out of it.

NON-LEAGUE GAMES

As regards ordinary games there was, I believe, a very pleasant game between K.C.C. at home and the C.C.C. first eleven. W. Hong Sling (or is it Hon Sling?) seems to have returned to the game and got 43. Does my memory betray me or did he not originally play for the Chinese Recreation Club about the same time as Harry Ching? Anyway Craigengower will be glad of another run-getter. Smith and Lee took the wickets—four apiece—but the scoring was very slow and the C.C.C. declared with only 124 for. The Kowloon got them for eight thanks largely to Arthur Lay and E. C. Fincher. I see Omar had five for 60.

At the Diocesan Boys' School there was a draw, but the School did well to make 162 for six. I find that Broadbridge again came off with a 67 not out. K.C.C. Second, their opponents, had 117 for 4 at the close of play.

TO MORROW'S GAMES

There is only one League game down for to-morrow and that is between the Police and the Indians. (Continued on Page 8.)

Australia indulged in some hearty hitting at the expense of the South African bowlers when the third Test Match started here to-day before 10,000 spectators and in windy and overcast conditions. At the close Australia had scored 282 for the loss of eight wickets. Two centuries were scored while Brown and Fingleton put on 233 for

BRADMAN SCORES FREELY IN SHEFFIELD SHIELD

Melbourne, Jan. 2. During the Sheffield Shield cricket match between South Australia and Victoria, Don Bradman made 357 runs in seven hours. He hit 40 fours out of a total of 550 runs made by the side. —Reuter.

This is the fourth highest Sheffield Shield score. Bradman, with his 452 against Queensland, holds the world's record individual score while other Sheffield Shield totals better than Bradman's latest are W. H. Ponsford's 437 and C. Hill's 365.

Fingleton helped himself to 121 and scored much faster making the runs in 101 minutes. He also had seven boundaries in the innings. —Reuter.

The Girl Who May Become A Man

Prague, Dec. 8. Miss Zenka Koubova, of Prague, woman champion of the world over 800 yards, has to-day given me a very interesting interview ever given by a woman, writes a correspondent of a Sunday Express.

For she has discussed the prospect that in a few days she may be a man. In a few days she is to undergo an operation which may result in the change of her sex.

"She knows that the transformation would mean the sacrifice of her beloved girlhood."

"I feel as if suddenly the world has caught me in the nude," she said. "If the operation does not succeed—out of the question—I shall simply remain a woman and hope to better my athletic accomplishments."

"If the operation succeeds then I shall try out my athletic abilities in competition with men."

"I think my chances of winning top prizes among men in the athletic world would be rather slim."

"As a male athlete, I would be too far down the ladder and the time is too short to train."

Ponies Tuning Up For Annual Race Meeting

New Australian Talent

BUT NONE AS GOOD AS ABLE AMAZON

(By "Captain Foster")

We have a little over a month and a half to get our new dumb friends fit for the Annual Race Meeting to be held in February under the auspices of the Hongkong Jockey Club and the training of all classes of Griffins is now in full swing. However, the value of slow exercise has been indulged during the last two months but, from now onwards, a great deal of fast work will be necessary.

It is obvious that the condition of an animal plays an important part, and the success of a pony depends entirely upon his energy and speed. Without prejudice, it is not unusual to hear some owners grumbling that their No. 1 Boys are no good etc., and in fairness to the trainers, it must be remembered that they cannot manufacture speed. It may be added that some animals require a great deal of exercise more than others, and under the circumstances I would strongly advise owners to leave the trainers alone and not to worry them too much. I presume it is known that a pony begins to get his winter coat about the end of September and sheds it for his summer one in the spring, the precise time being influenced by the weather or the reverse of the weather. I am not an authority on training, but I do know that the worst period to train a pony is undoubtedly during the winter months, and I can cite that there were, in the past, many ponies very late in coming to their form. As an instance, Mistake Bay, Vixen Tor, and Wadebridge were a few. Owing to the trade depression, there are less China Ponies, Subscriptions, and Derby Griffins, this season than the previous years and as he two or three races less for Griffins. The draft programme is now under the consideration of the Stewards and will be out very soon.

The amount of subscribers for Australian Ponies last year was 38 and we have this season 43 Subs.—an increase of five. There are some excellently well-bred ponies in this batch and we shall certainly see some excellent racing in February. However I consider them as a fair average lot and I am prepared to accept a small wager that none of them will lower Able Amazon's colours. All the ponies have been named and the following is a list—

BEST OF BUNCH

EARLY TO FORM CONCLUSIONS

FOURTEEN SHOW PROMISE

(By "Captain Foster")

The Hon. Mr. C. G. Alabaster, the Attorney General, is a new owner and races on joint account with Mr. M. T. Johnson, the chairman of the Club. Commander Newhill is also a new owner and he has a share in the stable "Rojan". Mr. Wadson joined Mr. C. B. Brown on 50-50 share and they have made luck with their draw. Mrs. Seth, who was quite recently wedded to Mr. H. Seth, is a new lady owner.

The following ponies, No. 13 drawn by Mr. Dunbar, No. 22 owned by Messrs. Brown and Wadson, and No. 36 of Mr. V. M. Grayburn have been discarded as "no good" and I hear that they are now in Canton riding schools. Owing to accidents while returning from the course, Jubilee Eve owned by Sir Victor Sassoon and Marie Alice of Mrs. Dunbar had to be destroyed. Better luck next time.

It is too early yet to say who has the best flower of the flock as there are too many ladies in this year's batch. There are no fewer than 22 mares and it is certainly a record as compared with previous years. However, the manner in which a horse moves his legs is described as action, and his movements must naturally depend upon his conformation. From what I have seen during the early mornings at the Valley, I fancy the following:

Electron, Holiday Eve, Gold Dragon, A Grand Time, Brenta, Honey, Zodiac, Violet Queen, Double Finesse, Perfect Day, Film Star, Able Warrior, Lancashire Lad, The Dunlin. I think they have very good chances of winning races at the coming Meeting.

We have no offspring in this batch by King's Treasure, who was the sire of Able Amazon, and nothing from Jack Marsh, whose son Got That and daughter Goldsmith presented their cards several times to the Judges last year. Moving Picture, but won both the races in recent times, was sired by Carvelin and it is with much regret that there is no representative of the latter in this year's batch.

ONE SOLITARY SON

Out of the 43 Sub-Griffins, we have a solitary son of Bobnak and he has been named Able Warrior. It may interest one to know that the late Governor H. E. Sir William Peel's Nell Gwyn, Bobnak, and Snowy River, who finished the last season with two wins to her credit, is the daughter. There is no space here to reproduce the performances of Derby Day, the daughter of Double Court, and it is hoped that both Centre Court and Double Finesse will live up to the reputation of their sister, Dunnotar, the sire of Rose-Ann who won a couple of races last year, is represented this season by another daughter who has been named Honey. Silvis, whose progeny has never raced here, is represented this year by The Dunlin, a brown gelding drawn by Messrs. Hall and Shenton. "Early Bird" the racing correspondent of the South China Morning Post gave a detailed account of the pedigree on August 31, form which the following is an excerpt—Sylvandale, one of the greatest gallopers in Australia to-day, was sired by Silvis which is owned by Sir Sidney Kidman, Australia's cattle king. Winner of the Flemington St. Leger Stakes and the Australian Cup, this pony's subsequent showing against Peter Pan, the winner of two Melbourne Cups when they contested the Rarvon Stakes together, was headlined in all the Australian papers as the finest performance of the season.

SOME GOOD SPRINTS

ABLE WARRIOR IS IMPRESSIVE

EASY WORK DONE ON TRACK

(By "Captain Foster")

Some good steady sprints were given during the Xmas week and the performance of Hercules and Lancashire Lad over a mile on December 25 in 2:04.2/5 was a creditable one. The latter finished gamely—hard held. This Bay gelding (Lancashire Lad) was sired by Toyana and none of his progeny has ever raced here. However, I like the animal very much and he has certainly some good points in him. He is gifted with good action and has powerful hind-quarters. Mr. Donald Black has put his legs over the animal and I would like to know whether he is in accord with my opinion? Able Warrior and his stable companion Film Star galloped together over 1 1/4 miles on Xmas morning and the manner in which they finished was very impressive. There was nothing to write home about the times returned by A Grand Time and Merry Time over a mile, namely, 2:17 flat, but the home run of two furlongs was covered in 27.4/5 seconds and the last half-mile was done in 58.1/4 seconds. At this time of the year, it was grand but be careful! The Dunlin and the stable lad companion Shed-O Fox cantered the mile in "dead slow" time of 2:41 and the last quarter was 34.4/5 seconds. Apparently, Mr. Leo Frost does not believe in times.

What was to be done? Golfers argued, and it was agreed that the crow was "an outside agency." So Hughes was allowed to drop another ball where the first one fell without penalty.

tween H.K.C.C. and Craigongower, on the latter's ground. The Club cannot afford to do anything but win the match unless they are going to let the Indians get a big bulge on them in the race for the Shield. On the H.K.C.C. ground I should have little doubt of the result but Craigongower are dangerous on their own pitch and may draw.

I do not yet know if Bock is still in the Colony and can play. He will make a big difference. I am unaware if Growder is able to turn out as I have an idea I was told he was only a visitor. In the non-League games the K.C.C. and Indians game at Kowloon should be worth watching while at the Valley the Civil Service will probably find the Army too strong for them. The other two teams are I believe resting. By the way I should very much like a University card if this should meet their Secretary's eye or anyone else interested.

JUNIOR LEAGUE

There is more activity in the Junior League as four matches at least are down for decision. H.K.C.C., R.E., University, and Navy II respectively play R.A.S.C., Craigongower, Police, and R.A.M.C., the latter teams being the visitors. The Club should win and possibly the Police, who seem to be in great form, but the University second are rather an unknown quantity.

As regards the other two games I confess I have no idea. Navy might pull it off as they have not to be depleted by filling up the first eleven. At Sookunpo the I.R.C. Juniors will have to be more convincing than they were last Saturday to beat K.C.C. but the game is not a League fixture. It was pleasant to see what a fine recovery South Africa made and a draw was a fair result. A. D. Nourie seems to have come off splendidly and seems to be even a greater cricketer than his father. I cannot for the moment think of any other similar instance.

The following will represent the Hongkong Cricket Club seconds in a friendly match against the Navy Juniors at 1.45 p.m. on the Club Ground to-morrow—

A. K. Mackenzie (Capt.), H. J. Armstrong, J. N. Potter, D. Carey.

ETHIOPIANS STRIKE AT MAKALE

ADDIS ABABA DENIES MURDER OF AIRMAN

Addis Ababa, Jan. 2.
The Italian outposts are reported to have been withdrawn from the south-east, south and south-west of Makale, in face of the threatening advance of Ras Moulou Gheba.

Ras Moulou Gheba has been steadily pressing towards Makale from the south-east, at the head of an army of picked men, including part of the Imperial Guard, the finest troops in Ethiopia.

It is understood Ras Moulou Gheba will be re-inforced by another 12,000 warriors, commanded by Firturari Germa, the cousin of the Emperor Haile Selassie and an able strategist, trained in a more modern school than the majority of the Ethiopian commanders.

Further mobilisation is occurring in Addis Ababa, and every able-bodied man not under arms is required to show cause for his neglect of duty.—Reuter.

CONTINUED BOMBINGS

Addis Ababa, Jan. 2.
The recent activity of the Italian air arm as the front in regard to an indication that the invading forces are about to launch a new offensive on the southern Ethiopian lines.

Degehabur was again heavily bombed to-day by four machines, but it is stated that there were no casualties.—Reuter Bulletin Service.

TWO PLANES DOWNED

Degehabur, Jan. 2.
Two Italian aeroplanes were shot down yesterday and to-day, according to official despatches.

In the first case Ethiopian marksmen, using only their rifles, brought down a machine near Makale. Both occupants of the aircraft were killed in the crash. The pilot was rewarded with the gift of one of the plane's machine-guns.

The other Ethiopian success was achieved at the village of Kabilia, where two planes, flying low, machine-gunned the population. Troops and house-holders returned the fire and one of the planes crashed. Its two occupants were killed.—Reuter.

"AN ODDIOUS LIE"

Addis Ababa, Jan. 2.
"An odious lie, designed to cover an act of veritable piracy," is the Ethiopian Government's description of the Italian allegation, made yesterday, that Ethiopian soldiers had decapitated two captured Italian air-men.

Meanwhile the International Red Cross has requested the Italian military authorities to order Italian planes not to attack areas, and the Ethiopian Government is leaving for Ras Dosta's headquarters to-morrow to bring in two wounded Swedish doctors.—Reuter.

LOSS CONFIRMED

Degehabur, Jan. 2.
It is now officially confirmed that an Italian war plane crashed near Wolkait and that the four occupants were burned to death.

A second plane has been shot down near Makale, while it was machine-gunning the inhabitants of the village of Kabilia.—United Press.

Roads' Toll Reduced

BELISHA BEACONS BRING RELIEF

London, Jan. 2.
Belisha Beacons round about one-way streets, the thirty-mile-an-hour speed limit in built-up areas, and other road traffic regulations have been put in a reduced casualty toll in 1935.

Altogether, 5,521 were killed and 219,000 injured last year, compared with 7,343 and 232,000 respectively in 1934.

REPRISALS AGAINST ITALY?

SWEDISH CLAMOUR FOR ACTION

NEW RED CROSS UNITS URGED

Rome, Jan. 2.
Italian newspapers to-day expressed anticipation of "outside indignation" at the bombing of the Swedish Red Cross unit in Ethiopia.

They say that this will provide an unprecedented opportunity to the enemies of Italy who will redouble their anti-Italian propaganda.

The papers claim that the Swedish officers wounded were not ambulance men or doctors, but belonged to the Swedish military mission which is actually actively engaged in aiding the Ethiopian fighting forces.—Reuter.

REPRISAL THREAT

Stockholm, Jan. 2.
The anger aroused by the bombing of the Swedish ambulance unit has led to the Swedish Red Cross Society being urged not only to replace the unit destroyed, but also to despatch hundreds of doctors and nurses to Ethiopia as a reprisal.

Young Swedes in all parts of the country have offered their services and it is regarded as certain that the unit will be replaced at the earliest possible moment.

A Red Cross communique states that information shows that the result of the bombings were less serious than at first reported, although it does not lessen the responsibility of the perpetrators.—Reuter Bulletin Service.

ANOTHER THREAT

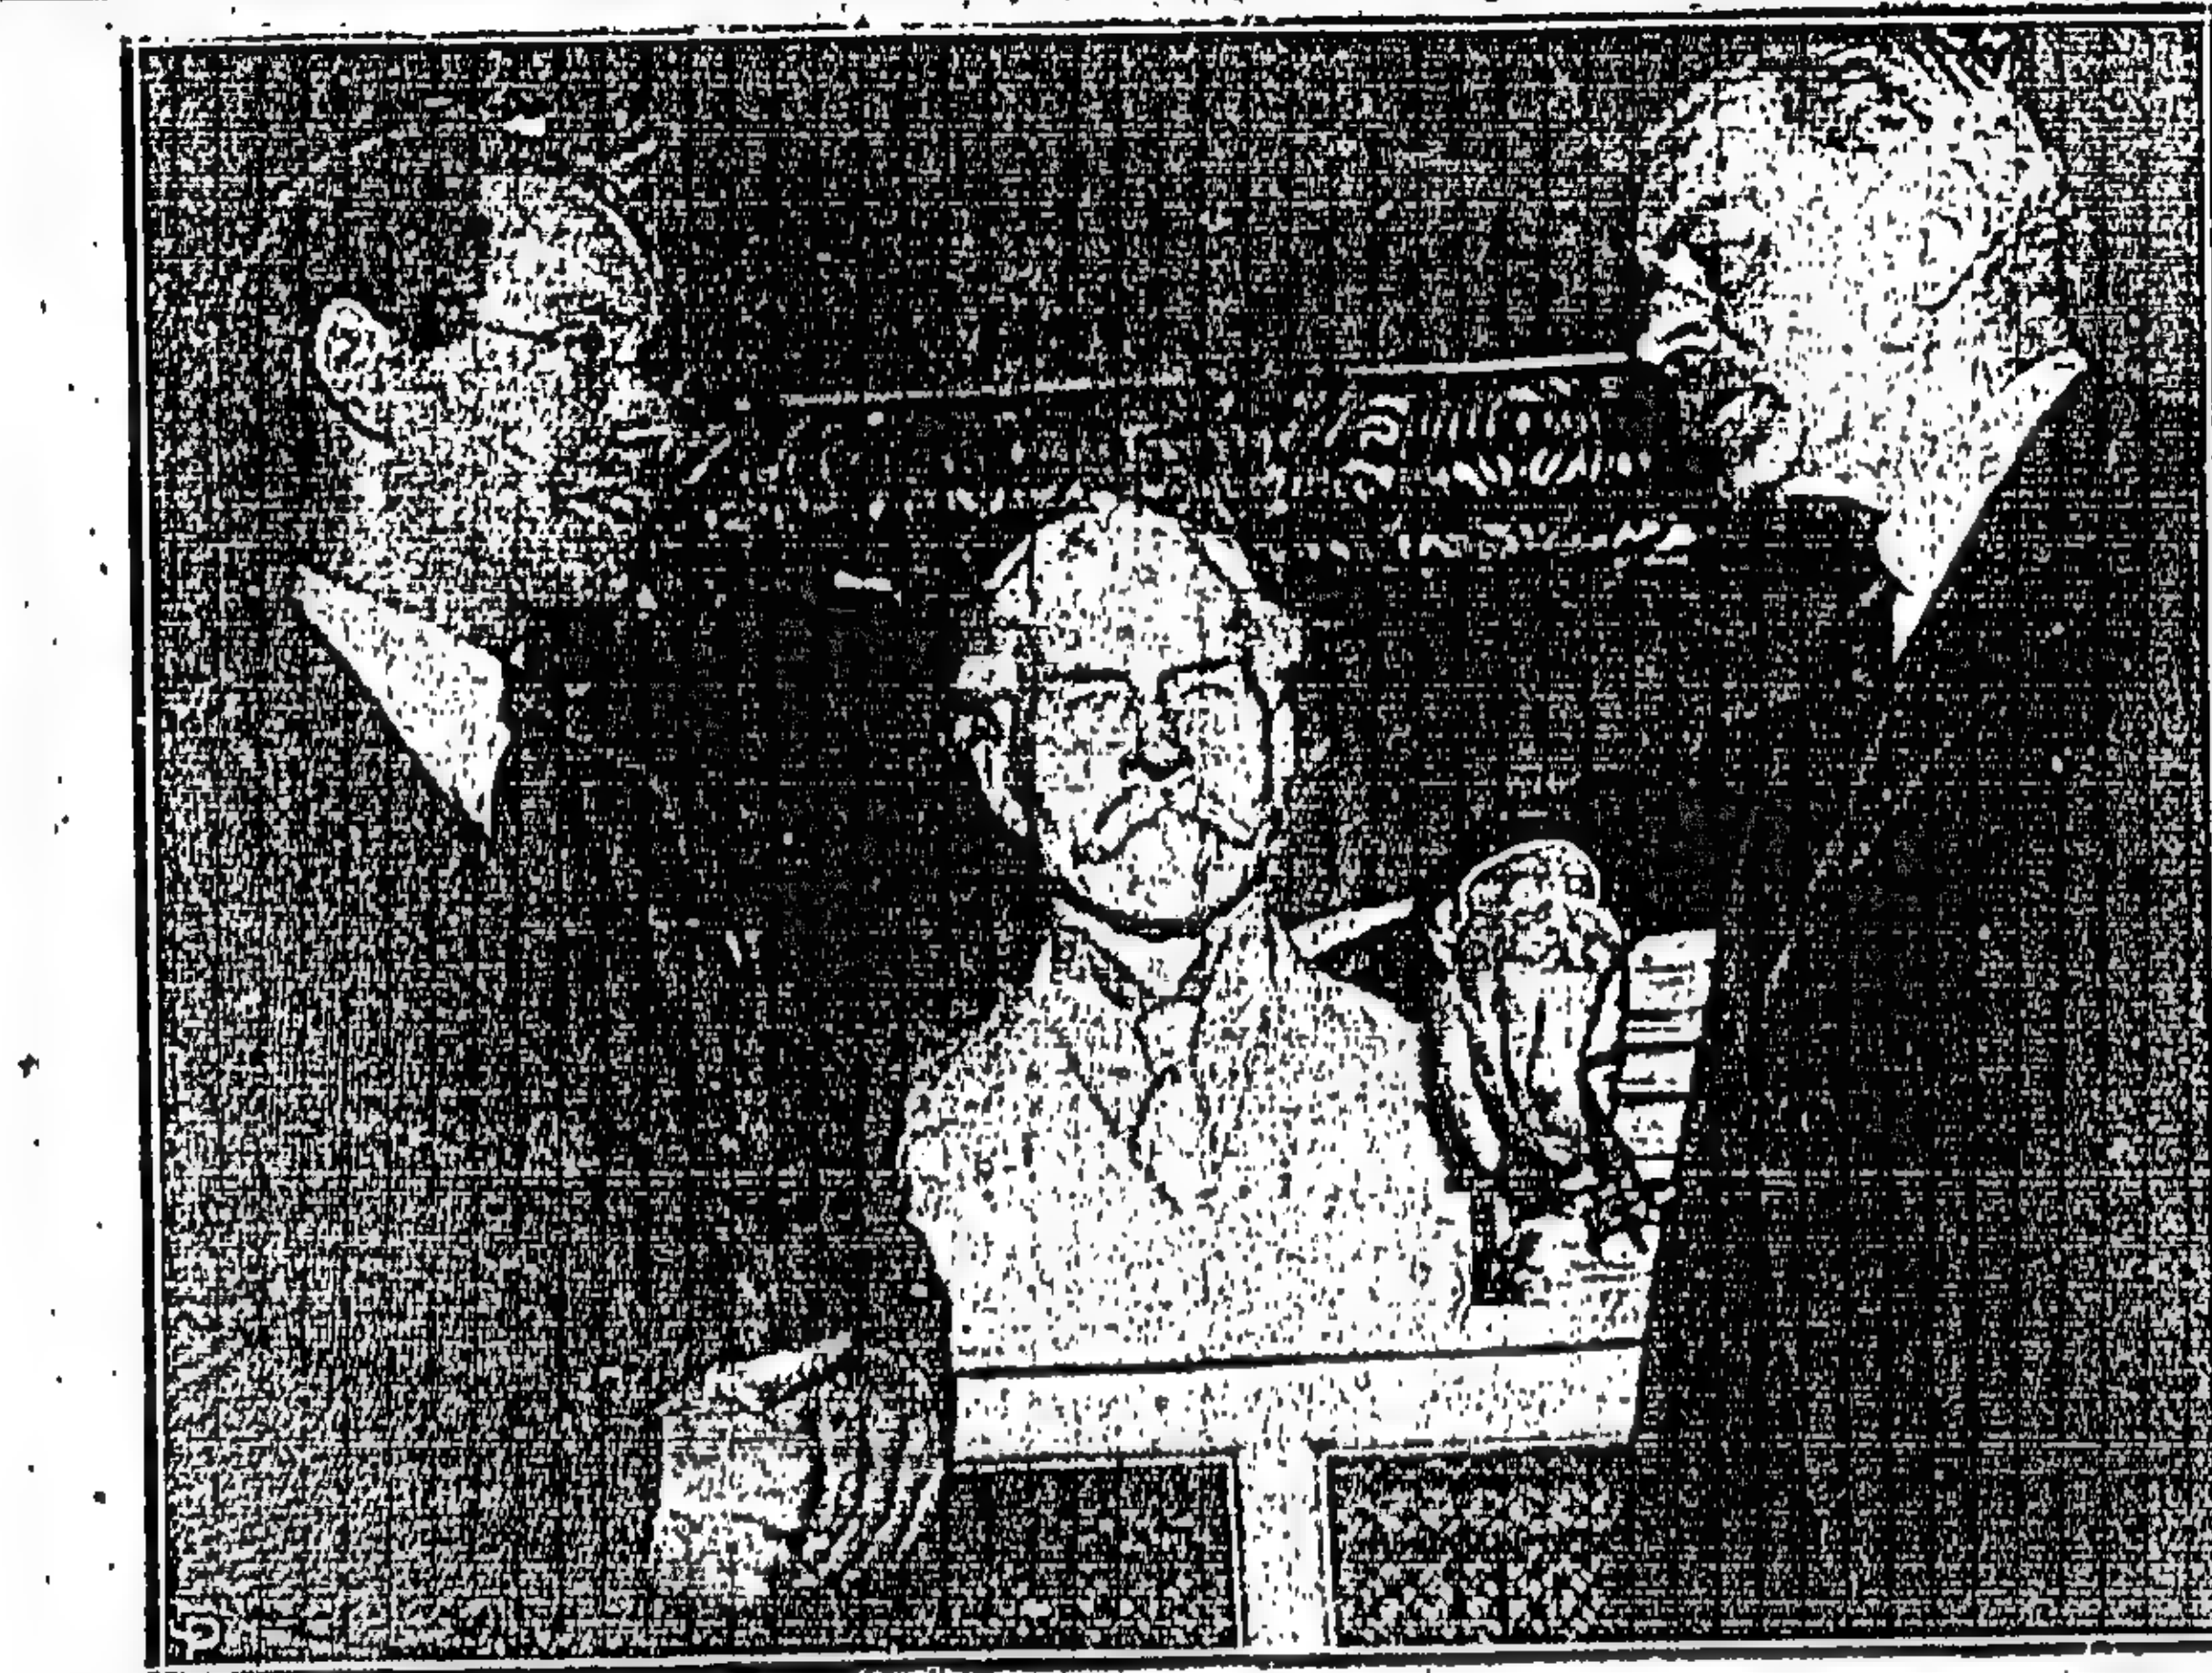

Geneva, Jan. 2.
The Ethiopian Government, in a note to the League of Nations, has threatened a reprisal against the Italian bombing of the Swedish Red Cross unit, the seizure of private property of Italian nationals in Ethiopia. The seizure will be made if the alleged acts of violation of international law by Italy continue, it is stated.—Reuter Bulletin Service.

DENY GAS USED

Rome, Jan. 2.
The report that the Italian troops have used poison gas in East Africa have been denied by official sources here.—Reuter Bulletin Service.

OFFICIAL LOSSES

Addis Ababa, Jan. 2.
It is officially announced that the bombing by Italian war planes of the Swedish Red Cross mission in Ethiopia resulted in the death of thirty Ethiopian patients, over fifty male nurses and the wounding of fifty; the wounding of the unit's commander, Dr. Fred Hylander and another un-

Mr. Ramsay MacDonald and his son, Malcolm, are shown talking over their defeat in the General Election at their home in Hampstead. The former is now standing for the Scottish Unionist and his son for Ross and Cromarty, where the Conservative Association has refused to support his candidature.

SERIOUS FRENCH FLOODS

FIVE KILLED IN LANDSLIDE

VILLAGES ISOLATED

(By Telegraph Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1914. Received, January 2, 4 a.m.)

Paris, Jan. 2.
Five persons have been killed, buried alive, in a big landslide near Paris.

The fall of land was caused by the heavy rains of the past few days, which have caused serious floods in many parts of France, as well as in England.

Several villages are reported to have been isolated by the floods, following the rise of rivers. Many roads are impassable.

Grave anxiety is felt at the steady rise of the Seine, which has overflowed the road at Melun.

While the rise of the river has been exceptional at Paris, experts believe that the situation is under control.—Reuter Special.

DARK OUTLOOK

London, Jan. 2.
The forecast of continued heavy rain in the next 48 hours, gives cause for fear that the present extensive flooding in many districts of the Southern half of England may become even more serious. An increasing number of roads are impassable and hundreds of square miles of land are inundated.

Total rainfall for the last 10 days is 2.03 inches, while the standard average for the whole month of January is only 2.21.

The increase of rate of flow of the Thames yesterday was 1,500 million gallons, bringing the rate for 24 hours to 8,800 million gallons. From Maidenhead down to Teddington, there was a general rise of about six inches in the river level and the flooding of riverside towns has forced many residents to abandon their homes, while others have to approach and leave by boat.

The bridge over the Great Western main line in Wiltshire, which was declared dangerous yesterday, is still steadily subsiding and its collapse is now imminent. Both road and rail traffic are affected.—British Wireless.

NO TRACE OF LOST STEAMER

PLANES FAIL TO FIND PARINGA

LOST WITH ALL HANDS

London, Jan. 2.
Lloyds' agents at Melbourne state that a search by air and sea has failed to find any trace of the s.s. Paringa, which disappeared in a storm whilst towing the tanker, Vincas, from Adelaide to Japan on December 28.

The Paringa apparently foundered with all hands.

The two ships parted in a fierce storm, the Vincas drifting disabled, but finally came to anchor. It is now reported that the Vincas is lying in the Gulf of Carpentaria.

H.K. GOVERNMENT MAKES DENIAL

Rumours in circulation yesterday to the effect that Sir Frederick Leith-Ross had cabled Mr. N. E. Young stating that China was unable to keep its dollar down to a low level unless Hong-kong took steps to bring the Hongkong dollar nearer to the Shanghai rate, are emphatically denied by the Hongkong Government. It is officially stated that there is no truth whatever in the reports.

In an exposed position about a mile from the shore, and it is feared that she will be driven ashore and become a total wreck. The crew has been landed.—Reuter.

PREDICTED TROUBLE

Some hint of the trouble to come, and a prediction that the long tow would prove a difficult one, is contained in a letter from Mr. Stephen Chester Southern dated October 23 to Mr. W. E. Kirby, Secretary of the China Coast Office, Guild.

Mr. Southern, who was Chief Officer on the last Paringa, states in his letter that he has been particularly well cared for by the agents in Australia, but the tow, he predicted, would prove a difficult one.

The Vincas, according to the letter, was badly covered with shell and wood and, having been a petrol store for three years, was gas-filled. Only Mr. Southern had any previous experience with tankers.

The Vincas was overhauled and cleaned before she left Western Port, state the Far East Shipping Company, however.

Aboard the Paringa were three British Officers and 25 Chinese, while on the Vincas, the 4,800-ton tanker (Continued on Page 7.)

SPANISH CRISIS AT HAND

RIGHT FEARS COUP D'ETAT

Madrid, Jan. 2.
Owing to the serious political developments which have arisen during the past few days, an attempt is being made to force the President to re-open the Cortes, which has been suspended until January 31 and to impeach the Prime Minister, together with his ministers.

This agitation has grown up on the ground that the Prime Minister's action in not reopening the Cortes amounts to a coup d'etat. The Opposition fears a dictatorship.

If the move to reopen the Cortes proves successful, the President, Senor Nicolo y Torres, may also face a charge of violating the Constitution. The extreme right parties are attempting to obtain sufficient signatures of deputies to petition for convocation of the Cortes, but the manoeuvre seems unlikely to succeed at present since the Prime Minister is prepared, if the required amount of signatures are obtained, to issue immediately a decree dissolving the Cortes. Thus he would save off the blow, at least temporarily.—Reuter.

Plane Crash Mystery

AIR LINER'S LOSS NOT EXPLAINED

Alexandria, Jan. 2.
The cause of the wreck of the City of Khartoum has not yet been established, and cannot be until the wreckage of the machine has been examined.

The journey from Cairo to Alexandria, on which the big flying boat was bound at the time of her loss, is of 360 miles and in the ordinary way occupies four hours.

The machine was one hour and forty minutes late when the Alexandria flying field received her wireless report just before the accident.

It is now two years since the Imperial Airways suffered such a serious accident. The last bad crash was in Belgium, when ten people lost their lives. On that occasion the plane was flying through a severe storm.—Reuter Bulletin Service.

WORLD SILVER PARLEY?

PRICE AGREEMENT MAY BE REACHED

REPORTED SALES BY CHINA CAUSE RUMOUR

Washington, January 2.
On the eve of the re-convening of Congress, the silver question has again come to the fore.

Two of the leading proponents of an increasing usage of silver in world currencies to-day expressed the belief that a world silver conference is in the making, but the silver champions disagreed as to the manner in which the American Treasury had carried out the Silver Purchasing Act.

Senator King declared that the Secretary of the Treasury, Mr. Henry Morgenthau had carried out the programme in good faith and, at the same time, he approved the idea of a silver parley between the silver-producing countries.

Senator Thomas, on the other hand, questions the Treasury's enthusiasm in acquiring silver and expressed the opinion that the conversation with the Mexican Treasury possibly foreshadow a world meeting. He added: "We should line up Mexico, Canada, the South American silver countries and later the Far East with a view to combatting the 'managed' currency bloc."

ABANDONS HOPE FOR REPRIEVE

HAUPTMANN'S WIFE TO LEAVE U.S.

NEW EVIDENCE AVAILABLE?

New York, Jan. 2.
Following the flight of Colonel and Mrs. Charles Lindbergh to Europe, Mrs. Bruno Hauptmann, wife of the man condemned to die in the electric chair for the murder of the Lindbergh baby, has reserved a steamer passage for herself and three-year-old child on a ship bound for Germany, according to a sensational story published by the Daily News to-day.

The passages are said to have been booked in fictitious names and names of the vessel and its sailing date have not been revealed. But a cash deposit on the tickets has already been paid, the paper asserts.

The paper adds that Mrs. Hauptmann has apparently given up all hope for her husband and intends to sail after the execution, probably taking her husband's body with her.

The Daily Mirror states that invitations to a privileged few to witness Hauptmann's execution have already been distributed and bear the date of January 14.

The New Jersey Court of Pardons meets early next week to decide Hauptmann's fate.

Meanwhile, the defence lawyers intimate that they are producing at this session an actual photograph of "the real murderer." But Hauptmann's only hope appears to be for commutation of his sentence to one of life imprisonment in exchange for "a full and frank confession naming his accomplices," which has been virtually promised him by Governor Hoffman of New Jersey.—Reuter.

MORGENTHAU CAUTIOUS

Washington, Jan. 2.
Mr. Henry Morgenthau, the Secretary of the Treasury, to-day expressed the belief that the current conference with Mexican officials would be beneficial to countries using a silver currency.

"It is to the interest of silver producing countries to work together closely in this matter," he said.

He went on to explain that the present conference, established by President Roosevelt at the time of the passage of the Silver Purchase Act, he recalled that the President then said that the U.S. Government had taken the initiative in inaugurating talks with neighbouring states on monetary policies. Mexico was the first to be called in for discussion.

Mr. Morgenthau indicated that the Mexican conference might be followed by similar discussions with other countries.

Asked specifically whether Peru and Canada would be invited to confer at a later date, Mr. Morgenthau answered: "One at a time. I cannot say more now."—Reuter.

FREEDOM FOR MME. STAVISKY

LONG TRIAL NEAR ITS END

(Special to "Telegraph")
Paris, Jan. 2.
The protracted Stavisky trial is coming to a close.

To-day, the Public Prosecutor asked the Court to pass sentence of twelve to fifteen months' preventive detention in the case of Madame Stavisky. The sentence would be purely nominal, as she has already undergone this term, pending trial.

Madame Stavisky hid her face in her hand as the Prosecutor said she should understand that, having married the biggest crook in modern times, she should lapse into Alliance and oblivion. She was a good mother and necessary to her two children, and therefore should not return to prison.—Reuter Special.

Boy Of Four With Voice Of A Man

BARITONE THAT AMAZES
DOCTORS

BRIAN STANFORTH, aged four,
of Ringing-low-road,
Sheffield, has a deep baritone voice.

He weighs four and a half stones, stands four feet in height and takes one in shoes.

But his most embarrassing characteristic is that deep baritone voice.

"When he talks outside," said
Mrs. Stanforth to a press representative, "people just stand and stare."

"It is like a miniature sergeant-major speaking,"
"He invariably causes a sensation, and people actually follow us just to listen to him talking."

"It is terribly embarrassing at times."

DOCTOR AMAZED
Brian's father, Mr. W. S. Stan-forth, who is the proprietor of a Sheffield firm of cutlery and fishing tackle suppliers, said:

"Six months ago Brian fell out of my car at Buxton and was taken to hospital there."

"He started to cry. For a few moments the doctor who was attending him listened in amazement, and then said, 'There is something wrong with him—something wrong with his voice.'"

"It was some time before I could assure the doctor that the 'something' had not been caused by the accident, and that Brian was always like that."

Mr. Stanforth has decided that as soon as Brian is old enough to go to school, he will have singing lessons.

The child has had a deep voice ever since he was able to speak.
Doctors cannot explain it, but they have assured Brian's parents that it is nothing to worry about.

Brian has an older brother whose voice and size are normal.

NEW SURVEY OF BRITAIN BY AIR

Britain is to be surveyed from the air.
As a preliminary test, aerial photographs are to be taken of about 250,000 acres, or roughly 408 square miles, around Birmingham.

The photographs will then be reduced in size and used in the revision of the old Survey Maps.

In this way will be effected the revision of some 280 Ordnance Survey Sheets.

Air Search For Lost Jungle City

The Government of India has ordered an air survey of all the dead, forgotten cities hidden in the jungles of India.

They are to be photographed and charted, so that, after centuries of desolation, they can be restored.

They are especially required today by airmen, to whom India's dense, unpenetrated jungles present dangers more cruel than the desert or the ocean.

Plague, pestilence, famine, the foreign invader and the native religious fanatic drove men away from these cities.

Where the jungle has now come in there were arable fields, villages plentifully supplied with wells, and all such amenities of life as an agrarian people need.

Two famous examples of these ancient cities are the marble ruins of Amber and Fatehpur Sikri.

Cost Of Living

WIFE ASKS £160 A WEEK "TO LIVE ON": BOY £110

How The Money Goes

PROBLEM No. 1. Is £8,360 a year (£160 a week) a "reasonable" income for a woman to demand, by way of alimony, for herself and her twenty-year-old daughter to live on?

PROBLEM No. 2. Is $4,560 a year (roughly £48 a week) a sufficient income for a boy of eighteen?

The American courts have still to give their solution of Problem No. 1. The Canadian courts have decided that the solution of Problem No. 2 is "Yes, £84 is sufficient," and have declined to grant an increase to £110 a week.

The woman who sets Problem
No. 1 is Mrs. Blanche Lemelson Marquis, who lives in a suite at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, New York.

In her suit for £8,360 a year alimony she gave this list of things as "necessary annual expenditure":—

Rent, £1,920.
Food, £980.
Daughter's education, £288.
Tips, £120.
Daughter's entertainment, £180.
Daughter's companion, £240.
Chauffeur, £480.
Extra food, summer, £300.
Clothes, £1,000.
Winter trip to Florida, £900.
Summer home, £700.
Doctors and dentists, £400.
Miscellaneous, £240.

Mrs. Marquis alleges that her husband, Leonard J. Marquis, a New York broker, left her after twenty-eight years of marriage for Elvira Trabert, a German actress now appearing in New York.

She says that she and her husband and daughter have for years lived at the rate of £12,480 a year, and she asks for approximately two-thirds of that sum so that she and her daughter can continue to live as they have been accustomed.

Her application is adjourned for the court to do some thinking.
Problem No. 2 is raised by Mr.
Edwin T. Ward, guardian of eighteen-year-old Welland de Vaux Woodruff, of St. Catharines, Ontario.

He applied for an increase of £1,200 a year on Woodruff's present allowance of $4,560 so that he may be "brought up in a manner suitable to the position in life he will have on attaining his majority."

The court decided that Mr.
Woodruff will have to continue to rub along somehow or other on his present $4,560 a year.

BOY DISCOVERS £7,000 DIAMOND

The most perfect white diamond found in Brazil in the last thirty years has been discovered at the Boa Vista

It was noticed by a boy who was cleaning a separator

The stone, which weighs 50 carats, is estimated to be worth £7,000.

Disguised Professor In Pupil's Examination

Calcutta, Dec. 15.

A University professor in disguise took the place of one of his pupils at an examination. Wearing dark glasses and a false moustache, he attempted to sit at the examination for the B.A. degree of Calcutta University.

He is Professor A. K. Gupta, of Ripon College, Calcutta, and today he was sentenced to six months' rigorous imprisonment on each of two charges—of cheating by impersonation, and of forgery of answer papers for the purpose of cheating.

Samareesh Chandra Mookerjee, his pupil, who was charged with aiding and abetting, was acquitted.

Both pleaded Not Guilty to the charges.

IN WRONG SEAT

The professor first aroused the suspicion of those in charge of the examination by occupying a wrong seat in the examination hall. This was reported to the controller of examinations.

Suspensions were intensified by the professor's dark glasses.

But it was an electric fan whirling above the professor's head which was to prove his final undoing. Before the astonished gaze of the officials the false moustache slowly succumbed to the breeze from the fan.

Bit by bit it detached itself from the professor's lip until one side of it had completely disappeared.

Before the process of disintegration could go further the professor bolted.

He was chased down the street and caught. By this time he had his moustache at all.

A few days later Samareesh Chandra Mookerjee was arrested on his arrival in Calcutta from Puri, Bihar, where he had been staying.—Reuter.

A British Correspondent Returned To Tell The AMAZING TRUTH ABOUT THE WAR

TEST AIR SERVICE ACROSS ATLANTIC

Montreal, Dec. 20.—Survey flights for a North Atlantic air mail service will be made next year. An experimental service will start soon afterwards, leading to the establishment of regular Transatlantic flights with a minimum of two flights each way weekly.

This was announced to-day, when delegates to a conference on Transatlantic Airways which ended here last night left for Washington to open discussions with United States officials to-morrow "with a view to securing the fullest measure of understanding and co-operation with the United States in the development of Transatlantic flying."

LONGER ROUTE
The Washington discussions recall a tentative agreement between Imperial Airways and Pan American Airways for a service between Great Britain, the Azores, Bermuda, and New York, with British aeroplanes flying as far as Bermuda and American machines completing the journey to New York.

This is a considerably longer route between Britain and Canada than the "Great Circle" route between North Sydney, Nova Scotia, and Ireland—favoured by the Canadians—part of which was flown by Sir Arthur Whitten Brown and the late Sir John Alcock when they crossed the Atlantic in 1919 and won the Daily Mail prize of £10,000.

Sir Donald Banks, Director-General of the G.P.O., to-day predicted a service, eventually carrying letters between Britain and Canada for three cents. (1934) an ounce.

LIFE CONVICT IS A MUSICAL GENIUS

Sydney Dec. 31.

A man who is serving a life sentence in prison at Sydney for murder of his wife has proved to be a musical genius.

After weeks of study in his cell, Alfred Lester Clarke has passed a first grade examination of the record number of points for Australia. He gained 99 out of a possible 100.

"He is a born musician, a genius," said the Conservatorium examiner, Dr. Alex. Burnard. "His paper on counterpoint is brilliant."

HERE IS SOMETHING YOU DIDN'T KNOW

Dogs have a colour complex. This is the view of a prominent member of the staff of the Royal Veterinary College, London.

"Where you get a case of a dog suddenly turning on its owner or suddenly attacking a child it has protected for a considerable time, there is more behind it than mere hysteria.

"In many cases it is due to some form of illness, some queer brain twist which turns a faithful servant into a ferocious assailant. Colour, form and environment certainly affect the behaviour of dogs.

"If one took the trouble to find out and trace the origin, it would be found in nearly every case that a puppy had unwittingly or unwittingly been ill-treated.

"Then some malady affects it, and all the training is forgotten in the natural instinct to protect itself when circumstances appear to it to be repeated.

"That is to say, a child playing with a puppy while dressed in red may have unwittingly injured it.

"A dog may have been accidentally trodden on while young by its owner. At the time the incident passes, because the dog is immediately petted and consoled. But the incident remains in the mind.

NERVY

"Circumstances arise in which the dog is nervy just as human beings become on edge. Then an attack is made, and the dog, in defence, is a vicious animal, whereas it is merely reacting to its natural instincts."

Another point made by the expert is that domestication of dogs has failed to eradicate certain natural prejudices of many breeds.

For instance, black and tan dogs, particularly those with a sheep dog strain in them, definitely have an antipathy to small white dogs.

Their fur bristles, their teeth become bared at the sight of a white dog.

The reason for this is traced back into the history of domestic dogs.

The white breeds, the terriers, the bulldogs and bull terriers, were always fighters, and the resentment of the coloured dog is traceable to an ancestral distrust of the white fighting dog.

But there are other types with peculiar characteristics familiar to dog breeders.

The greyhound, for instance, cannot resist the impulse to chase, small dogs and cats.

They have been known to worry goats, especially white goats.

Another myth exploded by this expert is that bloodhounds do not, as generally believed, enjoy a man hunt.

It is on record that when in the bad old days bloodhounds were imported to the West Indies to hunt down escaping slaves, they would not savage their victims when they had caught them.

A cross bloodhound and lurcher had to be employed for the purpose. And even these had to be goaded to carry out their inhuman task.

FOR THE FIRST TIME THE TRUTH—THE INCREDIBLE TRUTH—ABOUT THE WAR BETWEEN ITALY AND ABYSSINIA HAS BEEN TOLD.

THE MYSTERIOUS STALEMATE ON THE WAR FRONT, THE HOLD-UP OF THE ITALIAN ADVANCE, THE SUDDEN RECALLING OF GENERAL DE BONO AND HIS SUPERSESSION BY GENERAL BADOGLIO, HAVE GIVEN RISE TO WIDESPREAD SPECULATION AS TO THE REAL FACTS ABOUT THE CAMPAIGN.

The correspondents, however, have been unable to tell the story because of the strict Italian censorship.

To break through this barrier of silence Ladislav Farago, the famous London Sunday Chronicle war correspondent in Abyssinia, hurried home from the front to set out the true position. He described a remarkable state of affairs which include:

Inefficient Italian staff arrangements; Hopeless preparation for the offensive, in which staff maps were inaccurate and men were sent to positions which did not exist;

Roads washed away, leaving Italian troops and transport marooned.

Mr. Farago also told the story of the Italian advance on Makale—a story which would be farcical were it not tinged with tragedy.

Actually sixty Press correspondents were ahead of the Italian advance and reached Makale before the Italian troops.

By Ladislav Farago

Let me lift the veil of mystery that has descended on the whole Italo-Abyssinian conflict.

The world has read of spectacular Italian victories, of road-building feats by Italian engineers and labour corps, and of clever staff work by the Italian General Staff.

The true state of affairs is far other than this. It is a terrible anticlimax to the flag-waving and bravado spirit with which the campaign opened.

One of the most revealing features has been the inaccuracy of some of the Italian maps. Before the campaign began the Italians sent a number of agents under the guise of Greek merchants into Abyssinia in order to prepare reports and details of the country to be incorporated into the General Staff's maps.

Many of these men forwarded completely inaccurate details of the country they were supposed to have surveyed. The result was that when the campaign began it was discovered that in several instances the maps were not even in accordance with the actual landscape. Soldiers were ordered to march to places which did not exist.

In other instances the agents had marked the positions of various springs where good drinking water could be obtained. But when the thirsty Italian troops arrived at the promised sites they found that there were no springs at all.

Landmarks and other details on which there should have been no grounds for mistake were frequently found to be fictitious.

FARFARICAL "VICTORY"

Let me now deal with the reports of big Italian victories. Actually there have been no real battles fought in Northern Abyssinia, where the bulk of the Italian Army is situated.

When the Italians marched into Adowa photographs were published all over the world showing the tanks which were said to be in action in the taking of the town.

But actually the tanks did not arrive until seven days after the Italian occupation. They waited until the roads were built before they moved up.

After when Makale was taken on November 8 Rome celebrated it as a "Great Day of Victory."

The truth is, the attack was a farce from start to finish. It was an eye-witness of this so-called "great victory" that the Italian troops were captured by 60 reporters who arrived there before the Italian troops.

This is what really happened. The reconnaissance planes having reported no enemy in sight, General Santini ordered the advance to Makale on November 6.

The troops moved up, but on the following day something happened which was unknown in the history of Abyssinia, for the rain suddenly began again. It rained all the day and also the next day.

Roads in front and behind the troops dissolved into a quagmire under the drenching downpour. Transport became blocked. Men, animals and guns floundered in the morass.

The advance was checked. Then the weather cleared and the Italians marched on, headed by Ras Gugsa, the deserter. But there was no advance and the 60 reporters, feeling hungry, pushed on and arrived at Makale ahead of the troops.

When the Pressmen sent back a messenger to General Santini asking for permission to enter the town to buy some chickens, he turned down the request. "First the troops; then the reporters," was his reply.

So while Press representatives frantically over the world waited patiently but hungrily at the walls of the town up marched Ras Gugsa with his soldiers, clad in a picturesque mixture of Abyssinian and Italian uniforms.

They made good subjects for the photographers whose cameras began to click. Then the troops entered the town, and the Italian Army could report "Makale Fallen."

Eventually, the hungry reporters could buy their chickens too!

BRIBES GO WRONG

Another instance of the erroneous information on which the Italian General Staff based their early plan of campaign is the fact that they were assured by their own secret agents that the moment the war started practically all the chiefs of Northern Abyssinia would desert to the Italian flag.

For months before the war started the Italians had been paying their chiefs big monthly sums to secure the allegiance.

What they did not know was that the chiefs were simply taking the money with one hand and handing it over to the Emperor with the other to buy arms.

Further inefficiency in respect to the equipment and arrangements for the troops is revealed by the fact that they are badly equipped for colonial warfare.

Despite the fact that the temperature during the day time may reach 120 degrees Fahrenheit, and at night may drop to 60 to 65 degrees, soldiers have only the one set of clothing.

They are not equipped with extra blankets and extra clothing to guard against the chill. Consequently they are going down in thousands from pneumonia.

Between October 20 and November 10 I was told that approximately 2,000 were reported sick from this fever alone. Pneumonia and chills, in fact, account for the greater proportion of sickness among the Italian forces. There is practically no malaria at all.

TROUBLES WITH NATIVE TROOPS

In all their so-called victories the Italians have followed their habit of making the fullest possible use of native troops to go on ahead of the white soldiers. Usually, the Askaris, their own native soldiers, lead the advance, and the report which it was impossible to confirm stated that they had turned on their own officers and shot them.

But the greatest failure of all—and the greatest threat to the Italian side—is their failure to bring the Abyssinians to battle of a big scale.

For several weeks the Italian troops have actually been in the north of the country, but the Askaris have not been taken into the matter of raising the men.

My own opinion, from what I have seen is that when they do meet the Abyssinians in battle the Italians will get a severe shock.

Swiss Girl Spy Leaves Her Prison

Paris, Dec. 29.—ELABORATE precautions were taken to-night to smuggle through France Lydia Oswald, the pretty Swiss blonde, sentenced on September 10 to nine months' imprisonment for naval espionage and released from Brest Gaol to-day for expulsion to Switzerland.

No diplomatist on a wartime mission will have been so carefully hidden away as the fascinating Lydia from the time she left prison in the dark hours of the morning until she arrives at Geneva to-morrow.

She was not allowed to say good-bye to the man she loved, Lieut. Count Jean de Forceville, who, with another naval officer, was acquitted of being concerned in her espionage.

It was known at Brest that she was due to be released shortly, as the term spent by her in prison awaiting trial counted as part of her sentence, but she left prison with only 4s. 6d. in her handbag, the rest of her money having been taken from her.

Every police official in Paris, and at every other station on her route denied all knowledge of Lydia. But a correspondent ran her to ground late to-night just as she was being secretly led to a second-class compartment of the 11:20 express for Geneva, in which a seat had been reserved for her.

She had arrived in Paris like an ordinary passenger, accompanied by two discreet detectives of the French-Belgian service, both of whom spoke English admirably, and who professed that they knew nothing whatever about Lydia Oswald.

They carefully hid her away "somewhere in Paris," as only the secret police know how, and only half an hour before the Geneva Express left the Gare de Lyon did they turn up unobtrusively with their charge.

Her baggage had been sent to the station in advance. It consisted of three suit-cases and one black varnished leather hat-box bearing labels of hotels in the United States and Canada, as well as Switzerland and Italy.

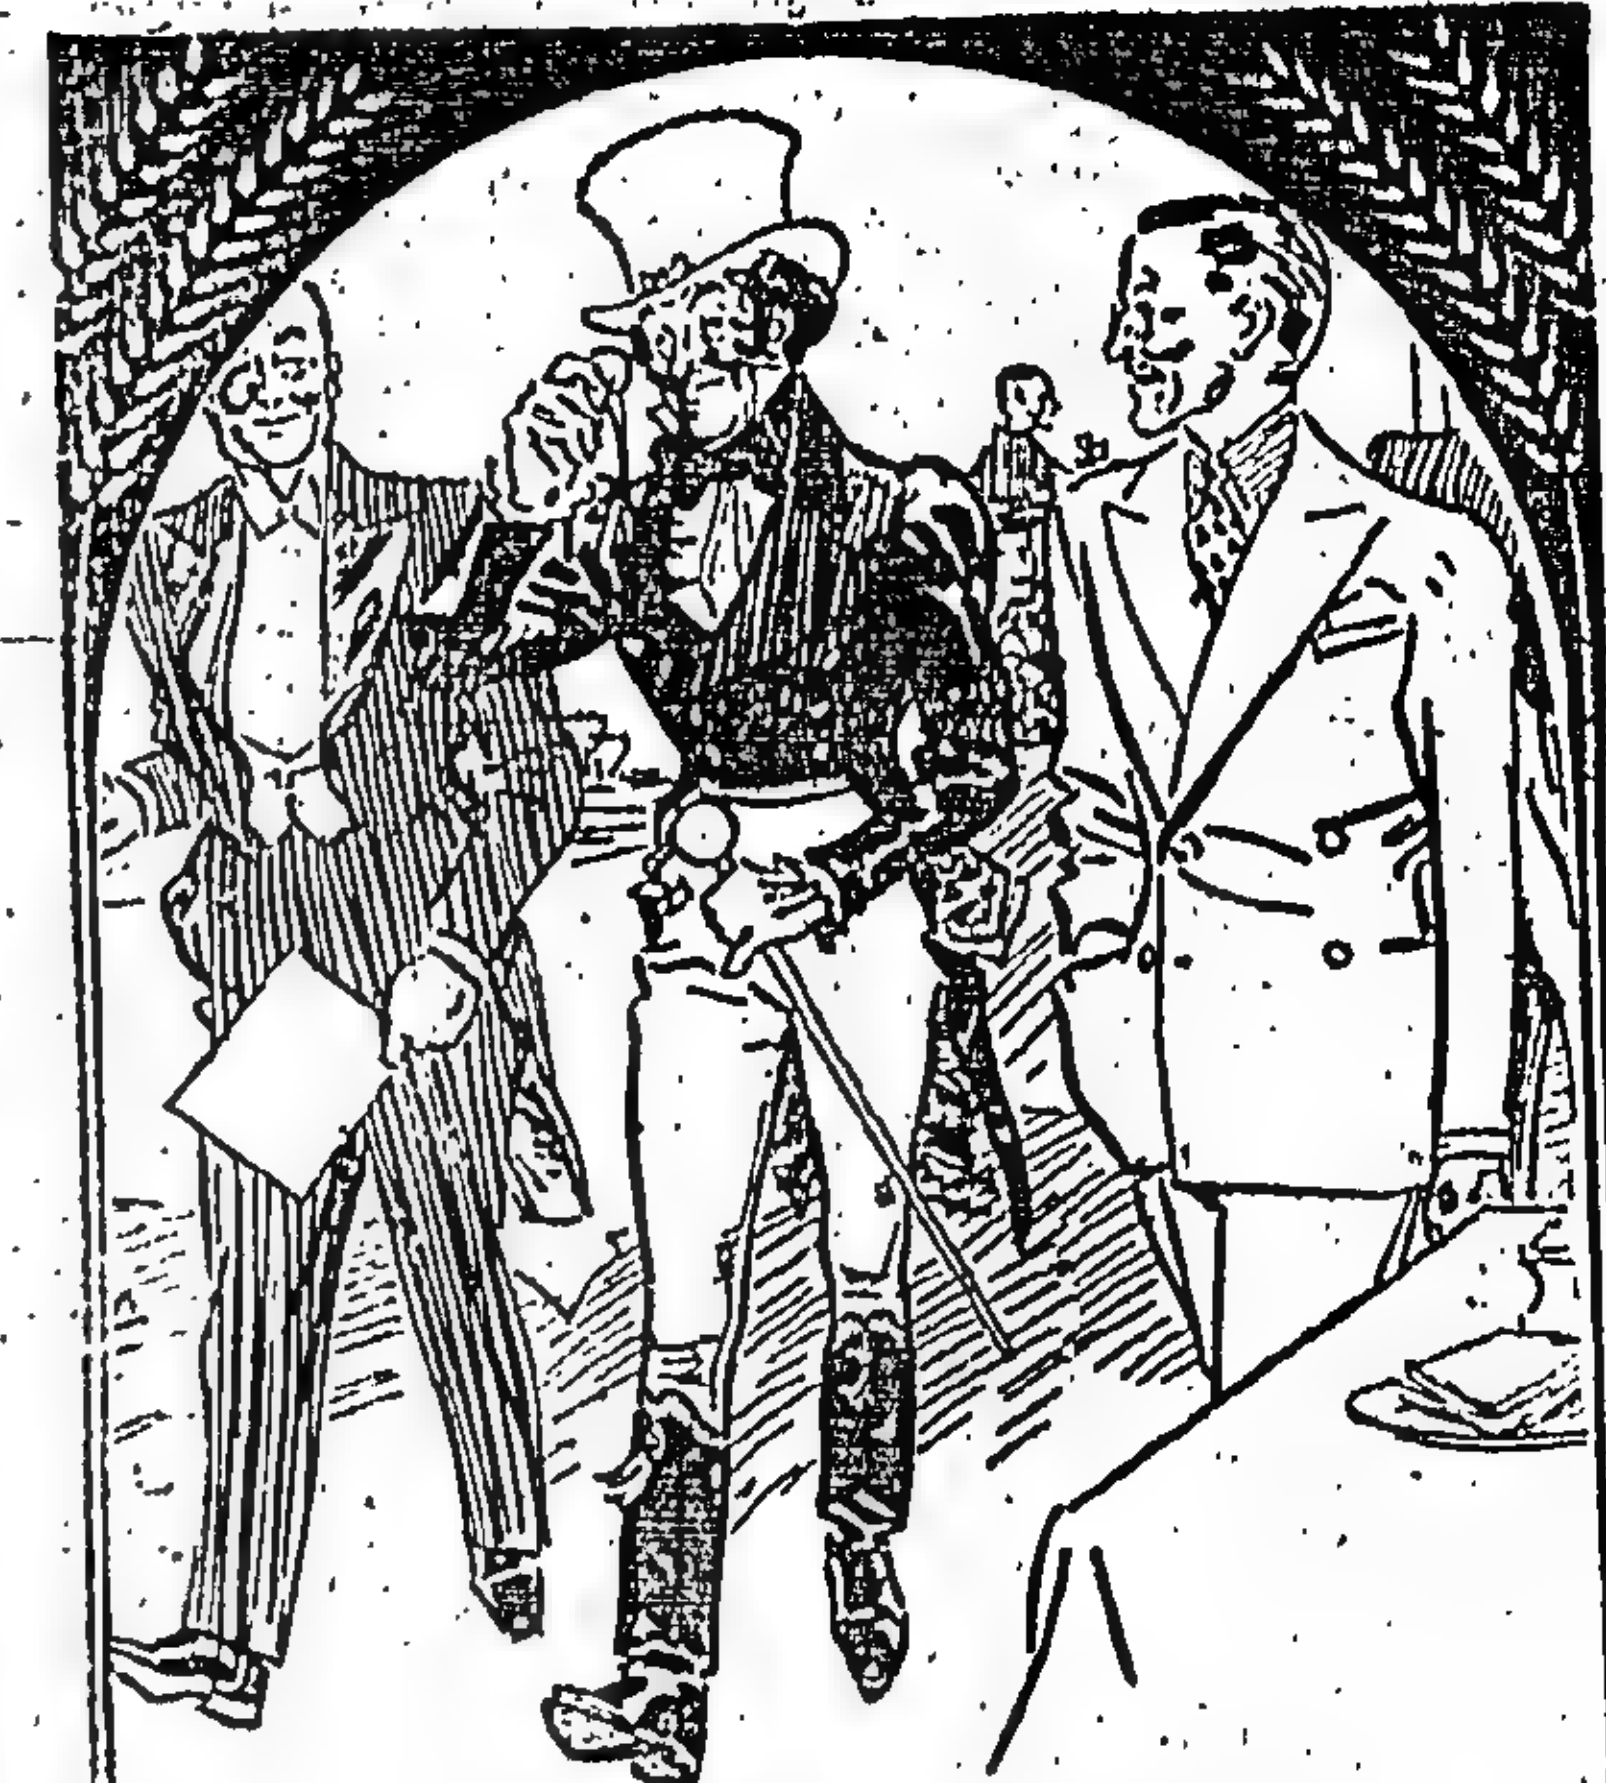

Lydia had not dined, and she took a snack at the station restaurant, complaining that she felt hungry and cold.

She was dressed in the same clothes as those she wore when she appeared before the naval court martial at Brest—a brown toque, and brown-checked cloak—and as soon as she and her escort perceived that they were recognised, they left the restaurant, hurriedly and mingled with the crowd walking to the train.

Lydia looked pale and tired, and when she reached her compartment the blinds were closely drawn and she was locked in.

Other detectives were waiting in an adjoining compartment to escort her as far as Geneva and no one was allowed to approach her.

The strictest orders had been given in this respect, for, although technically she was free from the moment she signed her release at the naval prison at Brest, she was the object of an expulsion order until she passed the Swiss frontier.

260 m. p. h. PLANE FIRES 4,800 SHOTS A MINUTE

Britain's newest fighting airplane is a single-seater capable of travelling at 260 miles an hour while the pilot fires a stream of 4,800 machine-gun bullets a minute.

Just above the engine is mounted a small gun, capable of firing 5-ounce shells at the rate of 300 a minute.

This airplane is one of a number designed by Britain in the race with France and America for the airplane market.

Official trials are now beginning. Two of the four machine-guns of the British single-seater are synchronised to fire through the propeller.

NEW YORK STOCK
EXCHANGEMARKET IRREGULAR YESTERDAY

New York, Jan. 2.
Dow Jones' summary of yesterday's markets received by Messrs. Swan, Cubertson and Fritz:

The markets to-day were irregularly higher. Steel, oil and railroad securities gained strength on investment buying, but utilities were held to small gains. Rubber shares reached new high levels on production record. Motor issues, however, reacted on traders taking their profits. Numerous traders adopted a cautious attitude, pending President Roosevelt's Message to Congress to-morrow night. The market for bonds was active and higher, notably rails. Stocks on the Curb Exchange were irregular and moderately active.

S. C. & F. New York office cables: The stock markets continue to rule firm, with specialties in particular demand.

The Glidden Company earned $3.23 per share for the year ended October 31st, against $1.68 per share during the previous year.

In cotton, there is now less apprehension regarding the effect of Supreme Court decisions in connection with the Bankhead Act and Processing Taxes. Both the Trade and short interests were buyers to-day. It is estimated that domestic consumption during December amounted to 400,000 bales, the largest since 1928.

The wheat market advanced on an improved demand for cash wheat. Canadian exports are reported to total 5,000,000 bushels. Millers were buyers to-day and the world markets are strong.

Probably a further advance is necessary in order to induce country offerings of corn.
Dutch exports of rubber during November amounted to 16,453 tons and exports from Malaya totalled 26,321 tons. We expect continued consumption for replacement of factory stocks. Offerings were on the light side and the market is firm.

UNRULY INDIAN

INDIAN CONSTABLE

Narain Singh, a private watchman employed at a bungalow in Wanchai Road, was bound over in a personal bond of $50 to be of good behaviour for one year, by Mr. W. Schofield, at the Central Magistracy yesterday morning, on a charge of assaulting an Indian constable, P. C. B683, Mohamed Singh.

Detective Sergeant D. Fitches said that defendant had been given a month's notice by his master on November 30 and was told his services would not be required after December 1. On Wednesday he was told to go away, but refused. He had been drinking. His master made a complaint to the station, and the constable tried to get him to leave by pulling him out of his chair. Defendant then struck the complainant with a stick. The complainant returned to the station, and a sergeant and two constables were sent out and brought the defendant in.

WORLD NAVIES

GROWING

The extent to which naval re-armament is proceeding at the present time is indicated in the latest edition of "Jane's Fighting Ships," which shows that most foreign nations have laid down numbers of new ships during the current year and that others are projected. Details are disclosed of the immense United States programme now in hand, which comprises 12 cruisers of 10,000 tons, three big aircraft-carriers, 54 flotilla leaders and destroyers, 12 submarines and nine heavy sloops. All these ships are now building or authorised. The Japanese Navy is shown as being up to full-Treaty-strength. Its latest ships are six 8,500-ton cruisers, mounting the abnormal armament of 15 6.1in and eight 6in guns. Photographs of new Japanese cruisers and torpedo craft suggest a dangerous overloading with guns and topmampers, an impression strengthened by the capsizing of the torpedo-boat Tomodura last year. In the French section are illustrated for the first time the new 7,600-ton cruisers and the huge flotilla leaders of the Fantasque class, one of which is credited with a speed of 45 1/4 knots—over 52 m.p.h. The French submarine flotilla, by far the largest in the world, now includes 91 boats. Italy also is shown to be concentrating on submarines, of which she already has 83 built and building, including 12 begun this year. Further, she is building cruisers with a speed of 36 1/2 knots and a number of super-destroyers. Italy's entire modern navy now burns oil exclusively, and several of the older ships are changing over from coal to oil. Many pages in the book are devoted to the new German Navy, and several new ships whose existence was not generally known are illustrated. Two years ago the total personnel was 15,000, but it has since risen to 32,956. Vessels under construction include two 26,000-ton battleships, armed with nine 11in guns; two 10,000-ton cruisers with 8in guns, 16 super-destroyers, and many submarines, including eight of ocean-going size. So far as Britain is concerned, the most interesting disclosure relates to the new aircraft-carrier, Ark Royal, laid down in September this year. She proves to be a ship of 22,000 tons, and is thus the largest vessel in the world to be built

I HOPE this article will not bore my readers. Vital statistics have been a favourite hobby of mine all my life.

We all know that people live much longer than they did a hundred or even fifty years ago. In the year of my birth, 1860, the standardised death-rate in England and Wales was about 20.6 per thousand; in 1933 it was 9.8. This is not, as is often supposed, because people live to greater ages; it is because a far larger proportion live to be sixty. The greatest saving has been in the first year of life.

I have before me the figures of the 1930 census in the United States, which tell the same tale. In forty years the expectation of life has increased 40 per cent., although there has actually been a slight retrogression for males over fifty. Does this mean that many Americans wear themselves out by overwork?

By the Very Rev.

W. R. INGE,

D. D.

Heart disease, now heads the list in both countries, with cancer, unhappily, second. Diabetes has doubled in America, and increased very much in England. Road accidents, which were not thought worth counting in America in 1906, are now tenth on the list.

I have three points for the doctors; many of whom do not seem to study statistics so eagerly as I should have expected.

1.—Why will they not allow us to die of old age? Senile decay, which in 1900 was ninth on the American list, has now dropped out altogether, and of a bleeder. I said that the disease was rare among women. Sir William Osler, who was present, corrected me and said that women never had it. I did not dare to bandy words with the great man, but in the Registrar-General's figures over three hundred female deaths are put down to this cause in the last ten years.

The French harbour the delusion that the English are subject to a malady called the spleen, which causes them to commit suicide. The approaches to the Thames, we are gravely assured, are carefully watched, but nothing can prevent the melancholy Londoners from throwing themselves off the bridges in large numbers.

In actual fact, our suicide rate is rather low, but it is increasing. The natives of "God's own country" are more addicted to "bumping off" themselves as well as each other; but they have a low birth-rate before the other countries began to limit their numbers.

The exhortations of Continental militarists to produce more cannon-fodder have not had any appreciable result. The denunciations of Roman Catholic priests have had a slight effect, but not nearly so much as might have been expected.

High birth-rates are almost everywhere accompanied by high death-rates, but this is not enough to equalise the rate of increase everywhere; the countries with high birth-rates gain slowly on the others.

National discouragement has been a pathetically potent cause of shortage of births. In Germany the rate in 1901-4 was 34.7; in 1931 it was 16.0. In Austria, a Catholic country, the fall has been even more startling.

There is not much reason to think that this decline has a natural limit, determined by the attainment of what is called an optimum number. Half-empty countries like Australia and New Zealand show a sharp decline. At the same time, I think we have about touched bottom with a birth-rate of 14.

An actual decline in numbers will probably be registered in about five years from now. I should not regret this if we were confined to our own island, for a population of 760 to a square mile is certainly congested. But I can see no reason why we should not colonise the vast empty spaces in our Dominions.

We had an unexampled piece of good luck in being allowed to annex North America and the whole of Australasia. There are no other empty countries on anything like the same scale.

We are throwing away this unique opportunity. We (as a race) did not lose North America in the reign of George III.; we have more than half lost it now. The United States is no longer British except in language, but a medley of every nation under heaven. As for Australia, its inhabitants are keeping it empty. For whom? It is a thousand pities that we are so short-sighted. It is certain that we shall never have another chance.

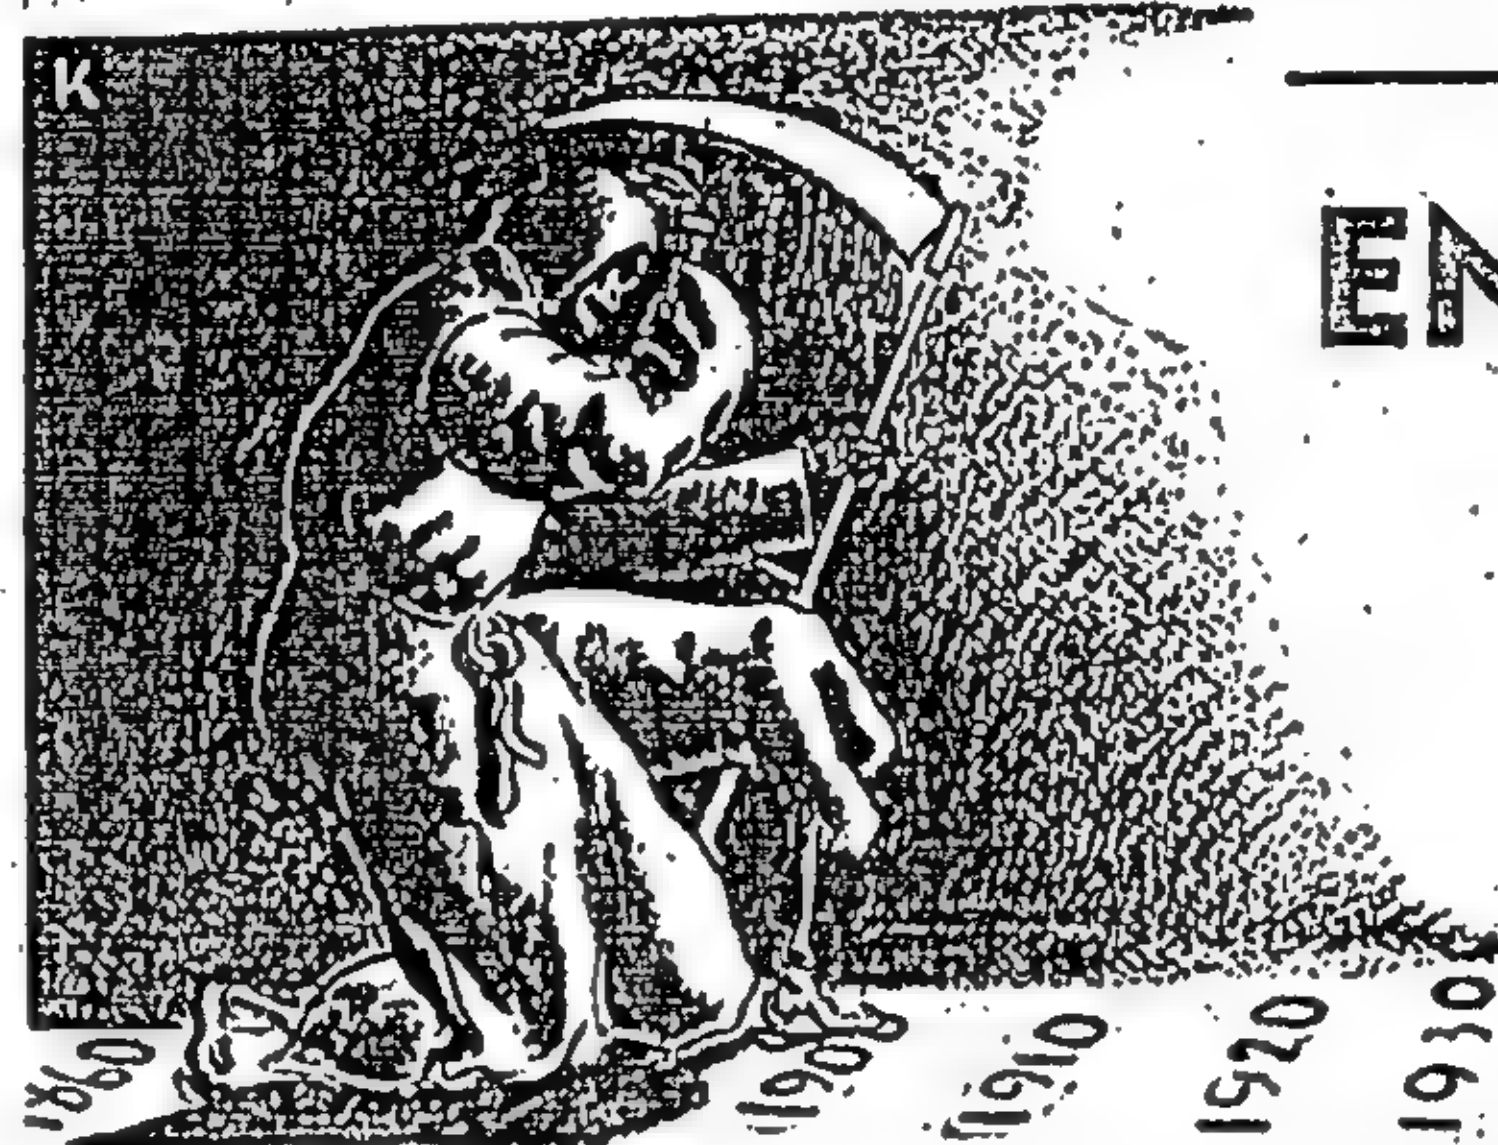

ENEMIES

of LIFE

access to firearms and we have not.

The decline in the birth-rate is even more interesting and important. I will not worry my readers with any more figures, except to state that whereas the birth-rate in England and Wales touched 36 in the late 'seventies, it is now between 14 and 15.

The decline began almost everywhere about 1880, and has gone on very steadily. The chief exceptions, countries in which the rate is stationary, are Japan, Egypt, and Palestine. Probably we should add Soviet Russia, but I have some reason to think that their figures are cooked. The fall has been especially great in England and Sweden, and only slight in France, which had

What are the chief enemies of life, and how have they changed since the beginning of the century? The changes in the last twenty-five years have been very remarkable. In America, nine out of the twenty deadliest diseases have dropped out of the list, and the alterations in the order of the others have been very great.

NOTES OF THE DAY

MINISTERIAL SALARIES

There is a movement among members of Parliament to induce the Government to set up an inquiry into the anomalies of Ministerial salaries, it is learned. Some members have undertaken to make the matter the subject of a debate. The movement gains point by the resignation from the Government of Sir George Bowyer, Comptroller of the King's Household, in order to devote more time to his private affairs. The salary of the Comptroller of the Household is £700. The Household appointments are usually held by the three senior Government whips, who on appointment have their salaries as Lords of the Treasury of £1,000 reduced to £700, while junior whips become Lords of the Treasury at £1,000. While the Socialist Government was in office, a partial adjustment was made by the appointment of one fewer of the Lords in Waiting from the House of Lords, and the saving effected was used to augment the salaries of the three Household officers in the Commons.

THEIR HOUSES IN ORDER

Two political parties are preparing to set their houses in order in Britain. Negotiations are proceeding between Lord Stonehaven, the head of the Conservative Central Office, and Sir Kingsley Wood, head of the National Publicity Bureau, for a redistribution of functions or for amalgamation. The Samuelite Liberals have set up a commission to decide whether the present organisation of their party is the best in present circumstances. The Conservative Bureau may be absorbed in the Central Office, but it is unlikely that there will be a combined Central Office for Conservative, Samuelite Liberal and National Labour supporters of the Government. The Samuelite inquiry concerns not only the Parliamentary headquarters in Abingdon Street, but the National Liberal Federation, and the local organisations throughout the country. The Samuelites have had an inquiry on their failure at the General Election. The result will be an attempt to revive the corpse instead of burying it. The commission of inquiry was at work before Christmas. It is expected to produce a plan to remodel the machine in London.

expressly for the carriage of aircraft, although larger ships have been adapted to that purpose. In anti-aircraft defence, the British Navy appears to be lagging behind all other first-class fleets, foreign men of war carrying from twice to three times as many anti-aircraft guns as our ships.

SIDE GLANCES By George Clark

"I'm just a wreck. This is the third party I've been to this week."

DOMESTIC RELATIONS

SPEAKING from our refuge in the bathroom, we want to issue a very solemn warning. For the nonce we are Public Warner Number One. No connection with the people of the same name who make talkies, we having discovered them (the talkies) long before Al Jolson was married.

Our warning. Ah, yes. Divorce, and domestic relations and all that sort of thing.

We don't like to think of all the unhappy homes that will be broken up this year as a result of the New Year resolutions that have been made, so we have decided to constitute ourself into a Court of Domestic Relations, something like them that operate in the United States. Thereby you can settle all your little differences with the Mrs., instead of going to the Divorce Court, or heaving last year's boots and shoes at each other.

We, having had a ball and chain for some years, have had some experience in this sort of thing.

We remember the last time we were President of a Court of Domestic Relations. We would have still been President, only our wife caught us courting the maid servant.

Anyway, people in our home town were so happy that there used to be queues outside our office every morning.

One of our first successes was the case of Mr. and Mrs. Whaletooth.

"Well," we said kindly, when they entered the room, "what the devil have you fools been up to now?"

"Well, it's this way," said the husband.

"It's a horrid lie!" said the wife.

"Now, wait a minute, wait a minute!" we said.

"You leave the poor girl alone," said our wife.

"Who are you calling a poor girl," said Mrs. Whaletooth, indignantly.

"But—," we commenced.

"Shut up," said our wife.

"This is a fine way of conducting a court," said Mrs. Whaletooth.

(Dedicated to Doctors W. B. A. Moore and R. M. Gibson.)

May I congratulate you upon your O.D.B.
An honour that I feel has long been overdue
And while upon the subject, I pritheo pardon me—
I'd feel honoured if you would accept an I.O.U.

"strikes me we would have settled things quicker" if we hadn't come here.

"You're at liberty to leave whenever you please," snapped the wife, coldly. "Although I'm not a woman to talk, I could tell you a few things about yourself, which would make even a woman like you blush."

"Don't you talk to me like that."

We got down off the bench and went across to Whaletooth. "Come on," we said.

We got as far as the door when they both yelled at once, "Where are you going?"

"Out," we replied together.

And that was the end of the Court of Domestic Relations.

And the warning? Ah, yes. We'd forgotten it. Don't marry whatever you do, and then there'll be nothing to settle—relations, domestics, bills, or anything else.

The Court is adjourned sine die, whatever that means.

PROSPECTS FOR SUNDAY'S LAI WAH CUP GAMES

Civilians Have Good Chance

LEE WAI-TONG NOT LIKELY TO PLAY

Chinese Line-Up Undecided

(By "Veritas")

League football takes a comparative back seat in the Colony during this month. In addition to the Children's Playground match which started off the New Year, we have the Lai Wah Cup semi-finals this week, second round ties in the Senior and Junior Shields next week, and simultaneously Interport trials, while before the month is through our representative team will have been to Shanghai and back.

At the immediate moment however our thoughts are directed to the Lai Wah Cup. The semi-finals are scheduled for Sunday next and they offer two very attractive matches—Army v. Navy and Chinese v. Civilians.

Before getting down to prospects a wretched job anyway—it may be worth while recalling that the Navy have never won the Lai Wah Cup, that the Army have held it twice (1927 and 1929), the Chinese twice (1931 and 1933) and the Civilians on no less than seven occasions (1925, 1926, 1927, 1928, 1929, 1930, 1931, 1932, 1933, 1934 and 1935).

Probable Civilians Team

Rodger (Club); Blackburn (Police) and C. Pile (Police); North (Police); Beltrao (Recreio) and Bliss (Kowloon); T. Pile (Police); Ward (St. Joseph's); Elliott (Club); E. Strange (Club) and Bickford (Club).

Which, strictly according to mathematics, makes the Civilians easy winners this year. Maybe. Then again, maybe not.

CAPABLE OF WINNING

Civilians are up against their arch foe, the Chinese, on Sunday and let it be said straight away that they are fielding a jolly fine team; a team fully capable of winning. On paper there isn't a real weakness fore or aft. Of course not everybody will agree that it is the best team. I am rather inclined that way myself.

For example I am wondering whether Chris Pile is playing as well as Syd. Strong's days. And again whether Parker isn't a wee bit better than Sonny Bliss. And, although this may appear a little contradictory to what I wrote about him a week or so ago, whether Beron Gosans is not to be performed to Tommy Pile.

But, that is a merely personal opinion against the considered judgment of a selection committee, and I dare swear the latter will be vindicated on Sunday.

Happily too the selectors have covered themselves well by choosing

Probable Army Team

those very players as reserves, so that if fate so rules they may yet be called upon to "do their stuff".

PRETTY TRUSTWORTHY

To repeat an earlier comment, the Civilians have a good team. Although Pile has been playing a little tardily in the opening stages of recent league games, and frankly was poor in the New Year's Day match he makes a good companion to Blackburn at back, and with Rodger behind the two policemen, the defence appears to be pretty trustworthy. I am glad to see Beltrao afforded recognition for his playing high class football just now at centre-half and in my humble estimation is as good as the next man in the local

THE ARMY TO WIN

FIELDING VERY GOOD TEAM

NAVY MAY MAKE CHANGES

(By "Veritas")

With Lawton and Sandford indisposed, it cannot be said the Army's chances of beating the Navy in the Lai Wah Cup on Sunday have improved, although Morton will probably make a good substitute centre-half; that is if his game on Wednesday is any criterion.

I do not know who is going to take the place of Sandford at centre-forward, but it will most likely be Conkley of the Fusiliers. His inclusion would mean practically an all-Fusiliers attack as Harrison, Talbot and Roberts are already selected.

Fusiliers in fact are strongly represented, Rowlands being in goal.

Probable Chinese Team

Pau Ka-ping; Li Tin-sang and Tam Kong-pak; Leung Wing-chui; Wong Mee-shun, and Lee Kwok-wai; Tso Kwai-shing; Cheuk Shek-kam; Fung King-cheung; Ip Pak-wa and Tay Qua-liang.

Wanklyn at right half, Evans at left half and the three forwards mentioned above. East Lancashire supply Swain and Steele in defence and Smith, outside right in attack.

It is a capable team and should win despite the clever showing of the Navy last week.

CHANGES POSSIBLE

Navy line-up is always doubtful. It is possible there will be several changes from the team which lost to the Police in a league match a week ago. This match seemed to call for strengthening in defence. I doubt if Stretton will prove fast enough to withstand the nippy Fusiliers, and it is on the cards the Navy will prefer to improve their intermediate line by sending Cannel to the centre-half berth with Bowers at left half.

The Army are sure to start favourites and I for one expect to see them win. But the Navy is a smart outfit and if the defence can hold out, they may easily effect an upset. Much will depend on the composition of the team.

game. He is flanked by North on one side—a thorough-going worker who never gives in—and Bliss on the other. Bliss has been playing centre-half for so long now that he may have forgotten a few things about the technique of wing-half play, but there is no reason to believe he will be a weak link.

ABERDEEN HELD But Rangers Win

London, Jan. 2.

There were no big surprises in the results of today's Scottish League matches. Dunfermline did very well to visit Aberdeen and hold the league leaders to a draw, but Rangers,

British Racehorses For Russia

Senator J. J. Parkinson, the Irish breeder, has received a commission from the Soviet Government to buy British racehorses.

For a start, he made several purchases of bloodstock at the Newmarket sales this week.

"Russia wants young horses of good breeding, especially stallions," he said.

"There is a limit on prices, but none on the number to be bought."

Racing flourished in the days of Imperial Russia, but recent efforts to revive the sport have made it clear that some of the best British stock must be imported.

BOXING

Ulster Rifles' Big Hope

WHEELAN FOR OLYMPICS?

(By "Veritas")

Jack Hare, who when not feeding hungry troops on the Neaurilla, Dorsetshire, Somersetshire or whatever troopship to which he is at the time attached, teaches The Boys how to use their fists, and has in his time been Bantamweight Champion of South Africa, has a hunch.

Jack, as told you in the Telegraph on Monday last is in Hongkong now and he popped round to the office yesterday full of his idea. He wants to see L/Cpl. Wheelan (his picture on this page) sent to Berlin to take part in the Olympics as a featherweight boxer.

GOOD CREDENTIAL

At the moment Wheelan is featherweight champion of Egypt and Palestine, a title good enough to use as a credential to most boxing circles. Jack Hare thinks a lot of Wheelan, who is now stationed in Hongkong with the Royal Ulster Rifles. He is confident the Lance-Corporal would do himself, his regiment and his country proud if he went to Berlin and Jack has gone so far as to offer this considered opinion to Higher Authorities.

It is no good pretending to guess whether anything will transpire, but it can be said that Jack's judgment in regard to boxing talent is sound enough to merit attention by anybody.

In his "Day," Jack got through 340 scraps himself in different parts of the world, and as he cheerfully proclaims, he is known from Archangel to the Great Wall—and that's quite a distance.

H.K.B.A.'s OPPORTUNITY

Anybody interested in boxing will remember names such as Johnny Summers, Young Nipper of Bournemouth, Tony Ross of U.S.A., who nearly scrapped George Carpentier in 1916, only they started a bigger war instead; Patsy Cokely when he beat Dixie Kid at The Ring, Jack D'Arcy, Irish champion and Harry Reeve, Lord Londsdale's light heavyweight title holder. Well Jack Hare had a hand in the training of all these fellows, which is sufficient testimonial without me going off the deep-end about the "Globe-Trotter's" achievements and ability.

Jack departs from Hongkong with the Neaurilla to-morrow, leaving behind him two boxers whom he promises will become Colony title holders if given the opportunity.

Now what about it, Hongkong Boxing Association?

LEADING PLAYERS TEST NEW GOLF BALL

VARIED OPINIONS: SAID NOW TO FALL TOO SHORT

London, Dec. 10.

In fine weather with a light breeze, a new golf ball was given a test over the Old and New Courses, Addington, yesterday.

A representative side including Miss Joyce Wethered, Miss Molly Gourlay, Abe Mitchell, Fred Robson, Rex and Lister Hartley, and other distinguished amateurs met a team picked from the present Oxford and Cambridge side.

The measurement and weight of the ball were: 1.64in. and 1.27oz. as opposed to 1.62in. and 1.62oz. It was fast off the club over the first 80 yards or so, and then came steeply down.

Down the breeze it was about 40 yards shorter off the tee than the present ball, while against the breeze the difference was considerably more marked.

The players for the most part were appreciative of its qualities for the short game, and Miss Wethered gave a brilliant display of approaching and putting.

The swingers were far more successful with the ball than the hitters to whose power it was unresponsive. As an experiment the trial was full of interest and most of the players have rarely, if ever, played so many wooden seconds in one round in their lives.

Some idea of the differences in the playing of the holes enforced by the ball can be gauged from the fact that the first hole on the Old Course (166 yards) called for a brute shot against what little breeze there was; the 5th (440 yards) and the 8th (440 yards) were beyond the compass of

A FEW MOMENTS WITH OUR CRICKET TEAMS

(By R. Abbit)

A week-end of excellent weather enabled cricketers to get on with things, and the Indians managed to win a league match pretty easily. The Civil Service did not do so badly to get 82 against three Interport bowlers (two regular ones) and if they ever manage to get Griffiths and McLellan back into the fold, together with Wallington, who has been and still is, I fear, crocked, they may arrive at the beginning of better things—a consummation devoutly to be wished.

Hawkins, their skipper, managed to collect twenty-nine before he was bowled by Pereira, who is I think faster than suits his slight. Colledge got 18 and Perry 12 but no one else did much. It was stated that the win was by five wickets but I think there was one extra making 28, and that from their total of 120 is 92 even if all those runs occurred after the fall of the fifth wicket! Therefore 82 must have been beaten for either three or four wickets! Q.E.D. Not of course, that it matters very much. There seems to have been some jumble up over the other senior League game and I find it was not played.

JUNIOR LEAGUE

The result of these games went to a certain extent according to my predictions. The I.L.C. won outright but the G.S.C.C. did themselves proud with a score of 132, of which the veteran Ling contributed a useful number. (I believe F. J. is my old fellow bowler and not H. D. who I think is his son). Anyway the Ling family had 63 between them. Current alone saved the Indians. It is quite cheering to see signs of recovery in the Civil Service cricket.

Recreio too came off and they actually managed to win their match, thanks to W. A. Reed who seems to have come back to form, and got 64 as well as taking three wickets. The R.A.M.C. were one man short and not Major Bonavia, though normally he would have been playing for the Army anyway.

It was a pity that the game between the Police and C.C.C. could not be finished. It was anyone's game and the Police only wanted 21 runs for victory and had their last three wickets to go.

I may say I regard this duck story with grave suspicion. It seems to breathe suspicion on the fair fame of our doughty custodians of the peace, seeing ducks on a cricket field! However, perhaps it was some form of duck. Duck or no, duck I expect someone knocked the stuffing out of it.

NON-LEAGUE GAMES

As regards ordinary games there was, I believe, a very pleasant game between K.C.C. at home and the C.C.C. first eleven. W. Hong Sling (or is it Hon Sling?) seems to have returned to the game and got 43. Does my memory betray me or did he not originally play for the Chinese Recreation Club about the same time as Harry Ching? Anyway Craigengower will be glad of another runner. Smith and Lee took the wickets—four apiece—but the scoring was very slow and the C.C.C. declared with only 121 for nine. Kowloon got them for eight thanks largely to Arthur. Lay and E. G. Fincher. I say Omar had five for 69.

At the Diocesan Boys' School there was a draw, but the School did not make 162 for six. I find that Broadbridge again came off with a 57 not out. K.C.C. Second, their opponents, had 117 for 4 at the close of play.

TO-MORROW'S GAMES

There is only one League game down for to-morrow and that is between the Police and the Indians. (Continued on Page 7.)

Australia indulged in some hearty hitting at the expense of the South African bowlers when the third Test Match started here to-day before 10,000 spectators and in windy and overcast conditions.

TRIPLE CENTURY

BRADMAN SCORES FREELY IN SHEFFIELD SHIELD

Melbourne, Jan. 2. During the Sheffield Shield cricket match between South Australia and Victoria, Don Bradman made 357 runs in seven hours. He hit 40 fours out of a total of 660 runs made by the side.—Reuter.

This is the fourth highest Sheffield Shield score. Bradman, with his 462 against Queensland, holds the world's record individual score, while other Sheffield Shield totals better than Bradman's latest are W. H. Ponsford's 437 and C. Hill's 365.

The first wicket. Brown scored 112 in 207 minutes, his best hits being one six and seven fours. Fingleton helped himself to 121 and scored much faster making the runs in 191 minutes. He also had seven boundaries in the innings.—Reuter.

The second team will consist of the following players: Lieut. F. de Costa, Alberto Airosa, J. Goncalves, V. de Rosario, M. Soares, J. Ferreira, A. Santos, Americo and Reinaldo Angelo, and J. Rodrigues.

The Girl Who May Become A Man

Prague, Dec. 8. Miss Zenska Koubkova, of Prague, woman champion of the world over 200 metres, has to-day given me surely the strangest interview ever given by a woman, writes a correspondent of the Sunday Express.

For she has discussed the prospect that in a few days she may be a man. In a few days she is to undergo an operation which may result in the change of her sex.

She knows that the transformation would mean the sacrifice of her beloved girlhood.

"I feel as if suddenly the world has caught me in the nude," she said. "If the operation does not succeed—which the doctors believe it will—then I shall simply remain a woman and hope to better my athletic achievements."

"If the operation succeeds then I shall try out my athletic abilities in competition with men. I think my chances of winning top places among men in the athletic world would be rather slim. As a male athlete I would be too far down the ladder and the time is too short to train."

Ponies Tuning Up For Annual Race Meeting

New Australian Talent

BUT NONE AS GOOD AS ABLE AMAZON

(By "Captain Foster")

We have a little over a month and a half to get our new dumb friends fit for the Annual Race Meeting to be held in February under the auspices of the Hongkong Jockey Club and the training of all classes of Griffins is now in full swing. However, the value of slow exercise has been indulged during the last two months but, from now onwards, a great deal of fast work will be necessary.

It is obvious that the condition of an animal plays an important part, and the success of a race depends entirely upon his energy and speed. Without prejudice, it is not unusual to hear some owners grumbling that their No. 1 Boys are no good etc, and in fairness to the trainers, it must be remembered that they cannot manufacture speed. It may be added that some animals require a great deal of exercise more than others, and under the circumstances I would strongly advise owners to leave the trainers alone and not to worry them too much. I presume it is known that a pony begins to get his winter sheds in the summer one in the spring, the precise time being influenced by the warmth or the reverse of the weather. I am no authority on training, but I do know that the worst period to train a pony is undoubtedly during the winter months, and I can cite that there were, in the past, many ponies very "late" in coming to their form. As an instance, Mistake Bay, Vixen Tor, and Wadebridge were a few. Owing to the trade depression, there are less China Ponies, this season than the previous years and as a result, I understand that there will be two or three races less for Griffins. The draft programme is now under the consideration of the Stewards and will be out very soon.

The amount of subscribers for Australian Ponies last year was 38 and we have this season 43 Subs.—an increase of five. There are some exceedingly well-bred ponies in this batch and we shall certainly see some excellent racing in February. However, I consider them as a fair average lot and I am prepared to accept a small wager that none of them will lower Able Amazon's colours. All the ponies have been named and the following is a list:—

EARLY TO FORM CONCLUSIONS

FOURTEEN SHOW PROMISE

(By "Captain Foster")

The Hon. Mr. C. G. Alabaster, the Attorney General, is a new owner and races on joint account with Mr. M. T. Johnson, the chairman of the Club. Commander Newhill is also a new-comer and he has a share in the stable "Rejo". Mr. Wadson joined Mr. C. B. Brown on 50-50 share and they have no luck with their draw. Mrs. Seth, who was quite recently wedded to Mr. H. Seth, is a new lady owner.

The following ponies, No. 13 drawn by Mr. Dunbar, No. 22 owned by Messrs. Brown and Wadson, and No. 36 of Mr. V. M. Grayburn have been discarded "no good" and I hear that they are now in Canton riding schools. Owing to accidents while returning from the course, Jubilee Eve owned by Sir Victor Sassoon and Marie Alice of Mrs. Dunbar had to be destroyed. Better luck next time. It is too early yet to say who has the best flower of the flock as there are too many ladies in this year's batch. There are no fewer than 22 mares and it is certainly a record as compared with previous years. However, the manner in which a horse moves his legs is described as action, and his movements must naturally depend upon his conformation. From what I have seen during the early mornings at the Valley, I fancy the following:

Electron, Holiday Eve, Gold Dragon, A Grand Time, Brenta, Honey, Zodiac, Violet Queen, Double Finesse, Perfect Day, Film Star, Able Warrior, Lancashire Lad, The Dunlin.

I think they have very good chances of winning races at the coming Meeting. We have no offspring in this batch by King Treasure, who was the sire of Able Amazon, and nothing from Jack Marsh, whose son Got That and daughter Goldsmith presented their cards several times to the judges last year. Moving Picture, the sire of Vixen Tor who was second in the Queensland Autumn Champions last year, and Sailing Home, the father of Shooting Star, have no representative this season. Cold Morning, who not only annexed the 1935 Rothy Hill Derby and St. Leger but won both the races in recent times, was sired by Carvelock and it is with much regret that there is no representative of the latter in this year's batch.

ONE SOLITARY SON

Out of the 43 Sub-Griffins, we have a solitary son of Bobinok and he has been named Able Warrior. It may interest one to know that the late Governor H. E. Sir William Peel's Nell Gwyn, Bobinok, and Snowy River, who finished the last season with two wins to her credit, is the daughter. There is no space here to reproduce the performances of Derby Day, the daughter of Double Court, and it is hoped that both Centre Court and Double Finesse will live up to the reputation of their sister, Dunnetar, the sire of Rose-An who won a couple of races last year, is represented this season by another daughter who has been named Honey. Silvius, whose progeny has never raced here, is represented this year by The Dunlin, a brown gelding drawn by Messrs. Hall and Shenton. "Early Bird" the racing correspondent of the South China Morning Post gave a detailed account of the pedigree on August 31, form which the following is an excerpt:—

"Syndicate, one of the greatest gallopers in Australia to-day, was sired by Silvius which was sired by Sir Sidney Kidman, Australia's cattle king. Winner of the Flemington St. Leger Stakes and the Australian Cup, this pony's subsequent showing against Peter Pan, the winner of two Melbourne Cups when they contested the Rawson Stakes together, was headlined in all the Australian papers as the finest performance of the season."

SOME GOOD SPRINTS

ABLE WARRIOR IS IMPRESSIVE

(By "Captain Foster")

Some good steady sprints were given during the Xmas week and the performance of Hercules and Lancashire Lad over a mile on December 25 in 24.2/5 was a creditable one. The latter finished gamely—hard held. This Bay gelding (Lancashire Lad) was sired by Toyrene and none of his progeny has ever raced here. However, I like the animal very much and he has certainly some good points in him. He is gifted with good action

SO NOW YOU KNOW WHAT TO DO!

W. Hughes, of Clacton, playing in an Essex professional Golfers' Union competition at Wansstead drove his ball safely over the notorious lake at the sixteenth. Then a crow picked up the ball, carried it back, and dropped it in the lake. What was to be done? Golfers argued, and it was agreed that the crow was "an outside agency." So Hughes was allowed to drop another ball where the first one fell without penalty.

and has powerful hind-quarters. Mr. Donald Black has put his legs over the animal and I would like to know whether he is in accord with my opinion? Able Warrior and his stable companion Film Star galloped together over 1 1/4 Miles on Xmas morning and the manner in which they finished was very impressive. There was nothing to write home about the times returned by A. Grand Time and Merry Time over a Mile, namely, 2.17 flat, but the home run of two furlongs was covered in 27.4/5 seconds and the last half-a-mile was done in 58.1/4 seconds. At this time of the year, it was grand but be careful! Last Saturday, The Dunlin and the stable lady companion Shek-O Fox cantered the Mile in "dead slow" time of 2.41 and the last quarter was 34.4/5 seconds. Apparently, Mr. Leo Frost does not believe in times.

Few Moments With Our Cricketers

Between H.K.C.C. and Craighengower, on the latter's ground, the Club cannot afford to do anything but win the match unless they are going to let the Indians get a big bulge on them in the race for the Shield. On the H.K.C.C. ground I should have little doubt of the result but Craighengower are dangerous on their own pitch and may draw. I do not yet know if Beck is still in the Colony and can play. He will make a big difference. I am unaware if Growler is able to turn out as I have an idea I was told he was only a visitor. In the non-League games the H.K.C.C. and Indians game at Kowloon should be worth watching while at the Valley the Civil Service will probably find the Army too strong for them. The other two teams are I believe resting. By the way, I should very much like a University end if this should meet their Secretary's eye or anyone else interested.

JUNIOR LEAGUE

There is more activity in the Junior League as four matches at least are down for decision. H.K.C.C., R.E., University and Navy II respectively play R.A.S.C., Craighengower, Police and R.A.M.C., the latter teams being the visitors. The Club should win and possibly the Police, who seem to be in great form, but the University second are rather an unknown quantity. As regards the other two games I confess I have no idea. Navy might pull it off as they have not to be depleted by filling up the first eleven. At Sookunpo the I.R.C. juniors will have to be more convincing than they were last Saturday to beat K.C.C. but the game is not a League fixture. It was pleasant to see what a fine recovery South Africa made and a new was a fair result. A. D. Neureo seems to have come off splendidly and seems to be even a greater cricketer than his father. I cannot for the moment think of any other similar instance.

The following will represent the Hongkong Cricket Club seconds in a friendly match against the Royal Navy juniors at 1.45 p.m. on the Club ground to-morrow:—

SERIAL STORY—

BARGAIN BRIDIE

by KATHARINE HAVLAND-TAYLOR

BEGIN HERE TO-DAY

BARRITT COLVIN, back in New York after years' roam, fell in love with 20-year-old ELINOR STAFFORD. Barritt is a wealthy, and has made a name for himself as an archaeologist. Elinor, before she was a half-sister, MARGIA, when a youthful romance ended disastrously. Barritt had a son whose Barritt adopted. She is constantly in fear that her husband will learn of the affair.

LIDA STAFFORD, Elinor's beautiful and unassuming mother, is carrying on a flirtation with VANCE GARTER, Lida's scheme constantly to keep her good son from inheriting a share of the Barritt fortune. When she learns Barritt is about to propose to Elinor she deliberately schemes to break up the romance. The girl is heartbroken when she does not hear from him. One day they meet at her mother's home, refusing, declaring she does not smoke, rebellious at her mother's hypocrisy, Elinor takes vengeance, lovingly offering Lida Barritt who once more reveals her will.

A few days later she dies, leaving Elinor to her mother's care. Elinor does not want it and yet can not turn it over to the rightful heir.

Lida to keep her promise about divorcing her husband. She refuses and Vance leaves. After drinking heavily she returns and shoots Lida. Elinor, who has only a slight chance to recover.

Barritt, hearing the news, goes to ask Elinor to marry. Elinor's sister, what he can do to help.

CHAPTER XX

Bessie said honestly, "You can do anything for Lida Stafford; nothing for Elinor."

Barritt Colvin looked up quickly. "You mean—Miss Stafford has died?"

"An immense amount. I don't know where she got it nor all the lovely qualities she has, though I always liked her when she was a boy."

She turned her head to hide the hot tears.

"I think it would kill her!"

"She heard him matter, 'God—!'"

Bessie disapproved of blasphemy but she understood his need for it.

"I've got to get around this damnable will, Barritt, and I want you to let me put your boys through college. You will, won't you?"

For the first time he saw the room and read the need that was apparent everywhere. He must manage to help them somehow!

"I don't know, Mr. Colvin. I'd have to talk with Jim, my husband. We don't take help very easily. We aren't—just that kind," she answered uncertainly.

"But this isn't help, Mrs. Thrope. It isn't my money—it belongs to you and the Staffords."

She shook her head. "Aunt Ella was in her right mind," she reminded gently. "His colourless face stiffened."

He was doomed to a fierce battle with pride, he saw. Perhaps his arguments would do no more than strengthen the pride he saw behind him in a frayed wash house dress that had cost $2. If the battle were futile he would be haunted by the shabbiness of that room; by the chair that he could not sit on because the springs were broken; worse—by three boys who must go to work before they should have stopped their schooling. "Mrs. Thrope," he confessed, "this whole thing makes me miserable."

"I've no doubt of that, Mr. Colvin," she agreed in her kind way. "But you couldn't help it and it's done and over!"

"But," he protested, "one can't right a wrong—when it's as simple as this!"

"I don't know about that, Mr. Colvin," she said slowly, uncertainly.

He rose. "You're going to think it over," he urged, "and the needs of your boys."

Bessie rose too, a little stiffly. It was a "look it out of her knees" to clean the refrigerator, a household god before which she must kneel.

"I never forget the needs of my boys," she answered. "But you see, Mr. Colvin—it's difficult to explain."

It was this way. The biggest need will be answered by their knowing that we made our own way in the world, that even if we failed we didn't beg. I've seen too much of what taking can do to people—and it isn't a pretty thing, see. It makes lying and cheating and all the things that are so much worse than not having things."

She was thinking of Lida Stafford, Barritt, looking on her, felt humbled.

"You're a fine mother," he said. She brushed his hand aside with an embarrassed, "Oh, no!"

Because she had been deeply touched by his words as well as embarrassed by them he asked quickly if there was any news about Bentwell Stafford. How had he passed the night?

The night had been a bad one, Bessie told him. There could be no encouragement for a few days, if indeed there could be then.

"If he goes," she ended, "we're going to ask Elinor to live with us."

Again he saw, and felt, the room. Again his heart ached. He could not imagine Elinor happy in that little, so shabby, dark and depressing!

"The poor child isn't fitted to do a thing except teach music," Bessie went on. He hadn't known that.

"She tries," he said, and the real, so far as he knew, she was a girl, and they weep on the shelves where she's gone with them, bless her!"

Elinor had a strong ally, he realized. He thought, "If you weren't so good yourself you'd know her better."

"Well," he said wearily, "I'll be on my way." The trip had been useless.

"If there's anything I can do you'll let me know!"

"Oh, yes, Mr. Colvin. If there's a thing we can ask of you I promise I'll let you know."

"I'd appreciate it, Mrs. Thrope. Sometimes you proud people don't know how much you hold from others with your pride!"

"I know, Mr. Colvin," she admitted, "but the one thing the poor can cling to is self-respect. If that should go we'd have nothing."

He went down the cement steps, covered for the winter with slits of wood. Bessie stood smiling at the door until Hutten had closed the motor door after Barritt. Barritt waved at her. "God bless you!" he reflected. "You're right, but it makes things worse for me!"

Hutten chose the bridge over which Barritt had once ridden with Elinor. Riding across its span again Barritt thought bitterly of his happiness that day.

The look of Bessie's parlour haunted him as he looked dully on the gray stretch of water chilled by floating patches of slush-ice. The look of that room had told Barritt too much of Bessie Thrope's needs, her husband's needs, the boys' needs. It was a clear and depressing chart.

Suddenly as they reached the other side of the bridge, his eyes became a slit. He saw the way out. The one way out! He had been leaning back in the seat. Now he was suddenly erect and tense. He lighted a cigarette with nervous fingers, staring ahead with concentrated gaze that took in nothing before him.

The thing had to be planned. He must think it through carefully, then go after it. Yes, it was the one way out.

Bessie Thrope evidently cared deeply for her niece. She was not the sort of woman who would think to decorate herself by parading a family affliction that was false. And with enough loving, taking was possible. Elinor could be surrounded.

Prize could be secured. The car could reach them all through Elinor, who had been cheated by an old lady's caprice and his unhappy place in Miss Sexton's affections.

The car had halted before his door and he stepped from it briskly.

"Wait," he instructed the chauffeur. He ran the steps and into the house, picked up the library telephone without removing his heavy coat.

He gave a number and heard the answering voice. He said, "This is Barritt Colvin speaking. I wish to talk with Miss Elinor Stafford. Please ask her to speak with me. Tell her the matter is extremely urgent."

There was a pause that seemed years. Barritt waited restlessly. Then Elinor's voice, a trifle unsteady, came over the wire.

CINEMA NEWS

NOTES SUPPLIED BY THE THEATRES

After six months of intensive preparation and five months of shooting, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer presents its most ambitious musical, "Broadway Melody of 1936," which plays this week end at the Alhambra and King's Theatres. With Roy Del Ruth directing, and Jack Benny heading the stellar cast, the first scenes were filmed on the largest stage on the M-G-M lot for the elaborate magic spectacle, heralded as one of the most ingenious settings ever devised for the screen. The whole stage was given over to a production of the latest in Manhattan penthouse design, but for the purposes of the sequence, possessing all sorts of bewildering mechanisms like disappearing divans, grand pianos rising up from nowhere, and so on. For control of the many "trick" devices, one of which enabled the ensemble to disappear and reappear at will, there were buttons. Pressure upon them worked the magic. The master key barred the floor. Then, presto, pronto—up popped—tables, chairs, lounges and even fountains. In addition to serving as locale for story action, the stage was used for the magic dances, in which June Knight, Robert Taylor and Nick Long, Jr., were the principals. The outstanding production had been preceded by more than six months of intensive preparation before the camera was turned. There had been the most thorough-going research, particularly along magic and novelty lines; planning of gowns by Adrian, colourful settings by Cedric Gibbons—all with a climax in the industry's first dress rehearsal the night before the cameras turned. This last feature followed the Broadway tradition of a night-before-the-premiere dress rehearsal with "all hands" participating, as if for a regular public performance. For the picture, there is a melodiously brilliant score by Nacio Herb Brown and Arthur Freed, famous for their numbers in the first "Broadway Melody," and in other musicals. Five of their songs are said to be of outstanding excellence. "You Got a Feeling," "You're So Lively," "On a Sunday Afternoon," "Broadway Rhythm," "You Are My Lucky Star" and "Sing Before Breakfast." Stage, radio and screen talent were merged to form the all-star cast headed by Benny and including Una Merkel, June Knight, Robert Taylor, Eleanor Powell, Frances Langford, Nick Long, Jr., Vitna and Buddy Ebsen, Harry Stockwell, Shirley Ross and Robert Wildhack. Dave Gould, creator of last year's dance sensation, "The Continental," and with his new, superseded himself as a dancer, and "Melody" dance routines and ensembles, according to those who witnessed the preview.

"Man on the Flying Trapeze"

W. C. Fields, laugh promoter of the age, reaches the top of his form as a comedian and pantomimist in his latest laugh riot, "Man on the Flying Trapeze," next to be shown at the Queen's Theatre. With his particular gift for belly laugh comedy given full play, Fields carries the picture from one uproarious situation into another, pausing occasionally in his monkey-shines to allow the audience to catch its breath, and at moments later, sending it into gales of hilarity over the kind of buffoonery which he has so definitely a flair. An amusing and quite plausible story carries Mr. Fields from one uproarious to another incident. This time he is cast as a down-trodden, misanthropic husband persistently nagged by his wife and mother-in-law, comically supported in his scrapes by his daughter, Mary Brian. At the office he is a memory expert clerk for a woollen manufacturer. The action centres principally about Fields' efforts to attend a wrestling match. Unfortunately, his petty young brother-in-law steals his ticket while the comedian, in one of his famous retiring scenes, has gone to the cellar to investigate the presence of burglars in the house. His trouble begins at once, from the moment he is jailed instead of the house-breakers. The time he gets to the fight after the boss gives him the afternoon off to attend his mother-in-law's funeral.

"Car 99"

Fred MacMurray discovered Hollywood five years ago, but Hollywood is just discovering MacMurray. First brought to prominence by his acting opposite Claudette Colbert in "The Gilded Lily," MacMurray now has the leading featured role in Paramount's "Car 99," which is now at the Opera. MacMurray first came to Hollywood five years ago to play in the orchestra of a Hollywood theatre. Before he left the film capital he played bits in several films, including "Fog" and "The Girl Gone Wild," but his brief appearance in "Car 99" has brought him to the attention of Paramount executives and back to Hollywood. In "Car 99," MacMurray is cast as a member of the famous Michi-

JAPAN ANGRY

MORE FRIENDLINESS DEMANDED

Tokyo, Dec. 31.
Mr. Y. Suma (Japanese Consul-General in Nanking and First Secretary of the Japanese Embassy) arrived here from Shanghai yesterday. Interviewed, he said that the appointment of General Chang Chun as Nanking's new Foreign Minister could not be interpreted to mean a definite friendly policy by the Chinese Government towards Japan.

The Chinese students' demonstration, said the Japanese Consul-General, was an agitation against the Japanese, directed only in a different form. Unless the Nanking Government took immediate steps to improve relations between China and Japan the future remained most uncertain.

Japanese newspapers state that General Chang Chun is calling a Sino-Japanese conference early in the spring at which one of Nanking's proposals will be the abolition of all existing unequal Sino-Japanese treaties.

The same Japanese journal says that Japanese leaders may shortly appeal to the Cabinet for the appropriation of $1,000,000 for farm rehabilitation in North China. Cotton planting will be one of the development in North China for which the Japanese Government intends to spend $5,000,000 annually, if experiments are found to be satisfactory.

gan State Police from whose true features and exploits the story of the picture was drawn. Sir Guy Standing, Ann Sheridan, William Fraxley and Dean Jagger are featured with MacMurray in the leading roles of the picture.

"A Night At The Opera"

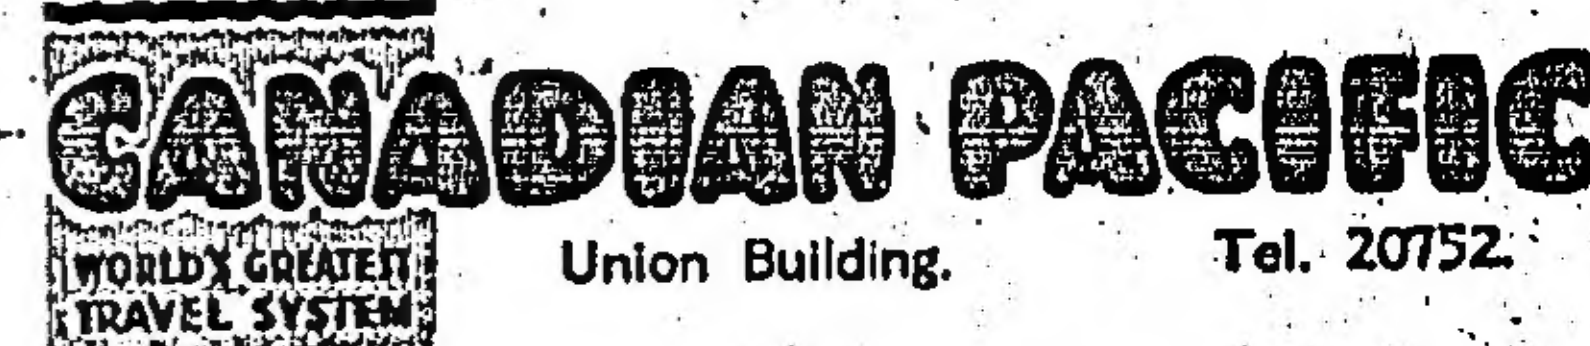

Comedy is the most teasingly intangible of screen values. So far as Hollywood goes, it just doesn't exist—it's the audience alone that can make it tangible. Such a notion of one of the most successful of all film-makers of laughs in celluloid. It is the statement of Sam Wood, who, because of past comedy successes, was chosen to direct the Marx Brothers in their Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer hit, "A Night at the Opera." "Comedy," says Wood, "is something that is non-existent—except in the minds of those to whom it is directed. The mind of the person who laughs at a joke or a gag makes that joke or gag comedy. If there's no laugh,

OBSTRUCTION OF POLICE

WANCHAI HOOLIGANS A NUISANCE

"There are a bunch of hooligans in this area, and they intimidate constables, especially Indians, with a view to getting prisoners off," remarked Sub-Inspector Langley when prosecuting Wong Yu, unemployed, before Mr. W. Schofield, at the Central Magistrate's Court this morning, on a charge of obstructing Indian police constable, P. C. B. 773, in the performance of his duty at Lockhart Road yesterday.

It was stated by Sub-Inspector Langley that the constable had arrested a hawk selling cooked food, and the defendant and others attacked the constable, kicking him in the back and tearing the front of his shirt. The defendant was arrested, but the other men escaped.

The defendant admitted the charge, and was sentenced to two months' hard labour.

PHILIPPINES' FUTURE

SENATOR GIBSON'S FEARS

(Special to "Telegraph")

Washington, Jan. 2. Senator Gibson to-day expressed the opinion that indefinite continuation of the commonwealth in the Philippines was the only solution of the political and economic problems of the islands.

He said the Philippines must rely upon the United States for security, and also announced plans to introduce a resolution authorizing Senate committees to investigate the possibilities of co-ordinating the jurisdiction of all American territories and insular possessions under one Government agency.—United Press.

THIEF BREAKS INTO KITCHEN

STEALS HAMS AND CROCKERY

Sentence of four months' hard labour was imposed by Mr. W. Schofield, at the Central Magistrate's Court this morning, on Leung Yau, unemployed, aged 31 years, who admitted having broken into No. 24 Broadwood Road and stolen 32 pieces of crockery, two hams, a tin of oil and five pieces of clothing on the night of December 31.

Detective Sergeant Fitches said defendant broke into the kitchen about 3 a.m. a constable saw a coolie carrying a basket containing some of the articles, and asked him where he had obtained them. The coolie pointed to the defendant who was just behind. The defendant then admitted the theft. The value of the articles stolen was about $80, and the complainant was a merchant, named Kan Ying-po.

GERMAN REPLY TO CHARGES

"PERSECUTION" OF GERMANY

Berlin, Jan. 2. An official German reply to the memorandum by Mr. J. G. MacDonald, resigning his post as League High Commissioner for refugees from Germany because of intensified persecution of the Jews, has been issued by a German news agency.

The reply states that because Germany is at last endeavouring to straighten out abuse and domination by foreign elements, people in many parts of the world thought they were authorized to utter derogatory criticism of Germany and give Germany advice while the same world remained mute to all persecutions of Germans, beginning with the Versailles Treaty.

MUTINEERS KILL YOUNG OFFICER

Escape From Italian Vengeance

Rome, Jan. 2. Six natives, belonging to the Camel Corps stationed on the Tripoli-Tunisia border, attacked and killed an Italian officer, Lieutenant Biondi.

Although an earlier message said the Italian command had taken prompt measures against them, it is now disclosed that the mutineers escaped across the frontier into Tunisia.

Lieut. Biondi commanded a force of about 50 camelm.—Reuter.

and extending to the recent expulsion and expatriation of the inhabitants of Eupen and Malmédy from their home country.

The opinion exists in Germany, says the reply, that the League of Nations has every reason to concern itself firstly with the treatment of minorities' concessions within the League States before it claims authority to concern itself with how Germany is carrying out the inner reconstruction of the nation following material and moral experiences of its collapse.—Reuter.

STABLE REGIME

Berlin, Jan. 2. A message from Chancellor Adolf Hitler to the people of Germany was read over the radio to-day by Dr. Goebbels, Reich Minister of Propaganda.

BIRCH AND PRISON FOR YOUTH

SERIOUS OFFENCE AGAINST GIRL

An unemployed youth, Hau Yim-Kam, aged 19, was sentenced to six months' hard labour and 12 strokes of the birch by Mr. E. I. Wynne-Jones at the Kowloon Magistracy this morning, when he pleaded guilty to a charge of having indecently assaulted a five-year-old girl named Wong Yuk-ha, at No. 84 Apiti Street, ground floor, on December 31.

Inspector K. W. Andrew, attached to the Secretariat for Chinese Affairs, stated that defendant and the little girl both lived at the same address, where the alleged offence took place. Defendant's aunt was the principal tenant of the flat, and the girl was daughter of a sub-tenant.

The girl, it was alleged, was seen on defendant's bed by a little boy, who also lived on the floor. Nothing was said, however, until about noon when the boy and defendant had a quarrel. The girl's mother overheard the boy mention the incident. Nothing was done until the following day, when the girl was sent to a doctor and examined.

The boy's mother, continued the prosecution, was in the country, and the aunt told the police that the boy was lazy.

The Magistrate: What have you got to say for yourself?

Defendant: I have nothing to say.

The Magistrate: Do you realise how serious this is? (No answer.) The Magistrate: It is a very serious matter indeed interfering with little girls like this. I've got to make it quite clear that this sort of thing is frowned upon. You will take six months' imprisonment and 12 strokes of the birch. If you were properly developed I'd give you 24.

LEOPOLD OF BELGIUM

ATTEMPT TO ACT ROLE OF MEDIATOR

Paris, Jan. 1. The United Press learns that King Leopold of Belgium will attempt the hazardous role of peacemaker in the Italo-Ethiopian dispute.

It is also learned that King Leopold visited King George prior to the Hoare-Laval conference in Paris at which the peace proposals were formulated, and carried a personal message from the House of Savoy to English Royalty, which is believed to have stated that the Italian throne is being endangered through possible Italian retaliation to sanctions.

It is believed in some quarters that King Leopold's message influenced Sir Samuel Hoare, then Foreign Secretary, and induced him to collaborate with M. Laval.—United Press.

Insurance Rates

London, Jan. 2. The committee of the company and Lloyd's Underwriters appointed in September to fix rates for insuring against war risks on cargo insured under open covers and policies announced that the rate on cargo bound to, from, or via the Mediterranean and the Red Sea which has remained steady at five shillings per cent. ever since the first schedule of rates was issued in September would be reduced to 3s. 6d. per cent.

The rate on specie on similar voyages remains unaltered at 2s. 6d. per cent.—British Wireless.

Reuters Special Service adds that the new rates includes those for cargo shipped from Australia and Eastern Ports during the next seven days.

This will not reach the Mediterranean for from three to five weeks, indicating that the underwriters are prepared to accept a lowered risk for that period.

Special rates of 2s. 6d. per cent will be quoted for shipments from the United Kingdom to Mediterranean ports, north and to the eastward of Marseilles.

Kan Ching, 20, coolie, appeared before Mr. Macfarlane at the Central Police Court this morning charged with the possession of five forged $10 notes of the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation knowing them to be forged and with intent to defraud. On the application of Detective Inspector M. Murphy, the defendant was remanded for 48 hours in police custody.

One month's hard labour was imposed on Chan Sun, 32, unemployed, when he appeared before Mr. Macfarlane at the Central Magistrate's Court this morning and admitted the theft of three cotton singlets from a shop at 170, Queen's Road Central. Lam On-tai, 32, of Swatow, pleaded guilty to the theft of a brass charcoal stove and a metal chopper from 223 Wing Lok Street. FAREWELL PARTY POST OFFICE TRAGEDY

THEOSOPHISTS' TRIBUTE TO MISS C. I. TAYLOR LIFT BOY KILLED DURING REPAIRS TO LIFT

A happy international gathering took place at the Hongkong Theosophical Society's rooms yesterday evening, when a farewell party was given by members of the Manuk Lodge to Miss C. I. Taylor, Secretary of the Lodge, who is leaving the Colony on Saturday.

Mr. J. P. Way, President of the Manuk Lodge, presided at the function which was attended by a large number of members of the Society.

Addressing the gathering, Mr. Way said:

We are gathered here this evening principally to convey our heartfelt thanks to our dear Sister, Miss Taylor, who will be leaving us this Saturday and secondly, to express to each other our good wishes for the coming year.

Our Sister as you know, is engaged to Bro. Denis Paul and we feel that their marriage will be full of happiness and bliss, and because they are both so thoroughly imbued with Theosophy, they should be a perfect example to others. Since this romance began, it will always remain one of the happiest events in the history of the Manuk Lodge.

During the short time that I have worked with Miss Taylor, she has, without exaggeration, unreservedly given to this lodge her unfailing support in any work—however dry that may have been at times—therefore her departure will be a great loss to us.

An outstanding characteristic that has been most marked in our Sister which no one could have failed to notice, was the way every person was treated by her in a most brotherly manner—thus fully living up to the first object of our Society, that of Universal Brotherhood. It is only by and through this outward expression of our unity in spirit that we ultimately bring all nations together in universal harmony and peace.

I also wish to mention the Society's gratitude for the flowers supplied by our sister, thus helping the lodge financially as well as spiritually.

Other speakers were Messrs. M. P. Talbot, J. Russell, W. C. Felsch, D. K. Paul, K. B. Valden, R. Good, Mrs. Parkinson and Rev. J. L. Reichelt.
